

Book Week Invites Children To Go Exploring with Books

To the children of the nation, this week of Nov. 1 to 7 has been designated, as National Children's Book Week, with the slogan, "Go Exploring With Books."

One of the departments of the Earle W. Webb Jr. Memorial Library, Morehead City, is that of the children and juniors' library, which offers a wide field in which to "go exploring." There are books to interest the small child who listens to stories from his parents, to the junior seeking lively stories of adventure or fantasy, history or science, reports Mrs. E. A. Council, librarian.

There are gay picture books with stories about animals and birds, from pets to jets for the young reader. For the older boys there are lively stories of adventure, deeds of daring and enterprise. For the girls there is the joy of poetry, legend and romance.

As an aid to securing subject matter covering school assignments, there are Compton's Encyclopedias, books on space and satellites, science and health, biography and history.

Library hours are carried regularly in the calendar of events which appears each Tuesday and Friday in THE NEWS-TIMES.

Girl Scouts, Brownies Report Recent Activities

The second grade Brownies met Monday afternoon under the leadership of Mrs. Ed Weeks at Camp Glenn School. We were all driven over to Atlantic Beach.

After we had refreshments served to us on the beach, we searched for shells for our shell collection. —Christine Reintjes, Scribe

Girl Scout troop 222 met Thursday with our leaders, Mrs. George Ross and Mrs. R. B. Davis. We opened with a flag ceremony with Joyce Clegg as flag bearer. Denise Willis and Denise Collins were the color guards.

We made designs on our metal, using a hammer and nails. The metal then was turned into a tray. We learned a new song. We formed our friendship circle, sang taps, and were dismissed. —Carole Willis, Secretary

Our Brownie troop, 153 in Beaufort, met at Deborah Rose's house. Our president, Betty Lou Willis, opened the meeting. We made pictures and pasted them in a book. We played a game—grabbing for apples with our mouths. The apples were attached to strings.

Only Deborah Rose and Betty Lou Willis were the ones that succeeded in doing so.

Our leader, Mrs. G. B. Talbot, read us a story. Refreshments were served by Marcie Vernberg. We closed with the friendship circle. —Vickie Adams, Scribe

Brownie Troop No. 100, Beaufort, with Mrs. William I. Loftin, leader, and Miss Nancy Atkinson, assistant leader, meet every Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Scout Building, Pollock Street.

Past month events: Mothers and the leader met at Scout building Monday afternoon, Sept. 23, 1959 to plan the program for the year. Each mother selected a month for the year. This plan worked so well last year they wanted to continue the same plan again this year.

The mother of her month will be responsible for helping with entertainment, transportation, telephone calls and projects if she is called upon. October, Mrs. Edward Arrington; November, Mrs. Elizabeth Vick; December, Mrs. T. R. Iversen and Mrs. Lonnie Dill.

January, Mrs. Ralph W. Leister; February, Mrs. Ray Hassell; March, Mrs. Richard T. Smith; April, Mrs. Alec Thompson; and May, Mrs. Kenneth E. Johnson.

Each mother donated toward having someone clean up the Girl Scout Room. Thereafter, the girls and their leaders will keep the room clean.

Sept. 26, the first meeting of Brownie Troop 100, the girls elected the following officers: president, Carol Leister; vice-president, Kathy Johnson; treasurer, Susan Arrington; Scribe of Patrol Smoke-tree, Ann Vick.

Scribe of Patrol Crabtree, Joyce Smith; librarian, Mary Thompson; scrapbook, Dawn Hassell and Sandra Iversen, and hostess, Polly Dill.

The last half of their meeting was devoted to selecting projects and learning the Girl Scout Promise. The girls voted to continue working on their scrapbooks and making booklets for hospitals. Also to continue the project started by a former Girl Scout troop, Grandma's Pantry, to be used in case of hurricane or disaster. Several cans of food were brought by the girls.

New projects are planting bulbs in front of the Scout Building, having a loan library in the Girl Scout room, selecting Pen Pals and building a doll play house in the Scout Room.

At the Oct. 3 meeting Mrs. Arrington served the girls drinks. Books and magazines were brought for the library. Mary Thompson, librarian, will prepare a file on the books and have them ready to loan. Bulbs were brought by the girls and as soon as the temperature is 40 degrees below the ground, the planting will begin. The girls visited the Beaufort Library and borrowed books while there.

At the Oct. 10 meeting, 'Pen Pals' were selected, they are former Brownie members of the troop who have moved away, Miriam Brister and Donna Hunnings, living in New Orleans, La.; Connie King, Rich Square, and Billie Mace of Southport.

On Oct. 17 members made plans for a Halloween party for Saturday evening, Oct. 31. We also celebrated the birthday of Juliette Low who started the first Girl Scout Troop in Savannah, Ga.

On Oct. 31 we had our business meeting, then decorated the Scout Room with lanterns, pumpkins, witches and black cats, all made by the troop members for the Halloween party for that night. Smoke-tree Patrol planned the games and Crabtree Patrol helped Mrs. Arrington plan the refreshments.

Eighteen girls and boys, four mothers and the leader attended the Halloween party. Everyone had a very good time and troop 100 wants to thank Mrs. Arrington and the mothers who helped her with the treats of homemade cup cakes, drinks, candy and chewing gum.

Next month our mother on call will be Mrs. Elizabeth Vick.

Brownie troop 180, Morehead City, met Monday afternoon at the Episcopal Church. Our Brownie song was sung at the beginning. We collected our dues and had our business meeting. We then made our Thanksgiving menu and learned to set the table, serve and clear the table.

—Patti Lou Dolan, Secretary

Troop 161 met Friday at Camp Glenn School. We opened with a flag ceremony. President Patti McKinley called us to order. The dues were collected and the scribe gave her report. The meeting was turned over to the program committee.

We had a program about Halloween. We discussed uniforms and some things in our handbook. Refreshments were served and we closed with our friendship circle.

—Betty Jo Wood, secretary

Brownie troop 267 met Monday afternoon under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Freeman and Mrs. W. M. Brady. They went out to Mrs. Brady's home. Games were played. Then each of the eleven Brownies present prepared her food for their first cook-out. Menu was pocket-book stew wrapped in aluminum foil, cherry cobbler and biscuit twists. Each Brownie enjoyed this outing and is looking forward to another in the spring.

—Jody Leigh Freeman, Vice-President

Tracking Him Down

Columbus, Ohio (AP)—The State Library has one request for the 1960 census already. A lady who said she has five children phoned the request. Her husband is missing, she explained, and she wants the report "so I can look up the towns and locate him."
