Two More Floats Entered in Town Yule Parade

Newport Fire Department and Morehead City Rotary club have entered floats in the Morehead City Christmas parade, announced parade chairman Charles Willis at the Merchants' Association meeting Tuesday. It was suggested that a miniature Model T car be in the parade.

The merchants meeting was held at the Hotel Fort Macon. Bill Willis, Earl Lewis and O. J. Morrow were appointed as a committee to arrange for advertisements listing names of firms and individuals contributing toward Christmas lighting.

Mr. Morrow, lighting chairman, reported that the Christmas lighting fund is still far from its goal.

Wayne Beasley, Oscar Allred and Clyde Blanchard were named to nominate officers for 1960. The association tabled until next month the question of special Christmas shopping hours and the decision on hiring a full-time Santa for the holidays.

Otis Jones, president, presided. Others attending were Mr. Allred, Bernard Leary, Bill Willis, Charles Willis, Mr. Blanchard, Billy Willis, Wayne Beasley, V. D. Beasley, Mr. Lewis, George Stovall, Garland Scruggs, Mr. Morrow, Mrs. W. L. McDonald and Joe DuBois.

Jaycees Discuss Automobile Show

At the Beaufort Jaycee meeting Monday night co-chairmen Bob Saffit and Dick Dickinson reported that the car show to be sponsored by the club in cooperation with auto dealers of the county will be held tonight at the Beaufort high school football field.

1960 models will be on display at the field from 6 until 10:30 p.m.

Jaycee president George Murray Thomas requests that dealers have their cars at the football field by 5 p.m.

The Jaycees decided to help with canvassing for the annual Red Cross drive in Beaufort. Following the meeting, four Jaycees attended a meeting at the courthouse in connection with this year's drive.

The club also voted to help in any way they could with the town Christmas parade.

It was announced that five members are planning to attend the second quarterly board meeting this weekend at Rocky Mount.

Welfare Staff Members Attend Raleigh Meeting

Mrs. Gertrude Williamson and Mrs. Pauline Spence of the county welfare staff will return today from Raleigh where they attended the fourth annual Public Welfare Institute.

Planning for More Effective Welfare Services was the theme of the meeting which opened Wednesday at the Sir Walter Hotel.

Morehead City commissioners recessed Tuesday night at the municipal building their October session accepting the town audit for 1958-59. Board members felt that there are phases of the audit report which bear further investigation.

Two items on the audit were briefly discussed.

Clerk John Lashley informed the commissioners that Luther Aushon, auditor, stated that the "Investment—Real Estate Purchased" figure of $1,358.79 is for the four town lots on which the Morehead City Garment Co. stands.

He further said that Mr. Aushon can place the figure in the audit under "fixed property" or anywhere the commissioners want it.

Relative to a cash advancement of $400 in 1958-59 to Walter M. Lewis, a town employee, mayor George Dill and commissioners in office during 1958-59, said they were unaware that the advancement had been made. Mr. Lashley said that the money is being paid back.

The board passed a resolution that any cash advanced to a town employee in the future shall be first approved by the full board.

The mayor and commissioners reported they had been receiving inquiries about the garbage can ordinance. They stated that 30-gallon drums may NOT be used for anything—wet garbage, leaves, trash or any other refuse.

A 30-gallon container is the largest that may be used. If people want to put leaves or grass in bushel baskets or anything smaller than 30-gallon capacity, that is all right.

The commissioners further said that the town will, if requested, carry away the 50-gallon drums people may have now. This is to help solve the problem of those who complain, "What am I going to do with my 30-gallon drum?"

Commissioner Russell O. Ullaw presented a proposal on increasing the grave opening fee at the town cemetery, but when complications arose as to costs for different-size graves and how the increased fee should go to the grave diggers, the matter was tabled until the next meeting.

Two questions on enforcement of town ordinances were raised. Commissioner Bud Dixon said that he was not in favor of blocking parking meter space to allow large trailers to park several days in front of stores—for sales promotion or other projects.

Commissioner Dixon said a TB x-ray trailer should be permitted, because it would be in town for the health protection and convenience of the public.

No action was taken on Mr. Dixon's protest.

Also discussed was the ordinance prohibiting business people from putting merchandise or other obstacles on sidewalk and curb, which is town property.

After discussion of who has complied with the ordinance and who hasn't, it was decided to send a police officer to those who had not complied and tell them compliance was mandatory or they would be summoned to court.

Referred to commissioner Dixon was a request for a street light in the alley just west of the Piggy-Wiggly store. The request was made by eight persons in the area.

Attending the meeting, in addition to those mentioned, were commissioners Ted Garner, S. C. Holloway, and town attorney George McNeill.

Island School Stresses Books

By MRS. JULIAN GUTHRIE, Harkers Island PTA President

The Harkers Island elementary school has gone all out this week in the observance of Book Week. Much work has been done by both the students and the teachers to help put the importance of books and education before the public.

The library of the school has been used to depict many scenes from well known books, fictional and otherwise. This has been done by the students of the various grades and shows much talent and ingenuity.

The bulletin board carries a very beautiful water painting showing the various phases of life in which books are both helpful and essential.

How true the theme that they have so ingeniously carried out, "Books are steps that upward lead."

To Teach Course

A Woman's Missionary Union study course, By All Means, by Baker J. Cauthen will be taught at the Newport Missionary Baptist Church tonight at 7:30.

Probable cause was found Tuesday in county recorder's court in the assault and robbery case against Leslie Morton, Morehead City. Morton was bound over to superior court under bond of $1,000. Charged with Morton on the warrant was Ann Manning but the court decided not to prosecute her.

J. T. Johnson, Atlantic Beach, alleges that Morton assaulted and took $500 from him on a pulpwood road at Merrimon Friday, Oct. 23.

According to sheriff Hugh Salter, Johnson, Morton and the Manning woman went in Johnson's truck to Merrimon. On the witness stand, Mrs. Manning said that she left when Morton picked Johnson up and slammed him on the ground. She said they had been arguing.

She hitched a ride back to town, as did Morton and Johnson, each with different motorists. Johnson still had his wallet but he said the $500 in it was gone and that Morton took it.

Defendant to Serve Time For Cutting Woman with Saw

William Gray of Morehead City was sentenced to six months in jail Monday in Morehead City recorder's court after he was found guilty of assaulting Elizabeth Gray. Gray was charged with cutting Elizabeth with a hand saw.

In other court action, 17-year-old Robert Andrew McCabe was sentenced to thirty days in jail for fighting in a public place and destroying personal property.

According to evidence presented, McCabe and James Carlisle Ellis, both of Morehead City, engaged in a fight outside of the City Theater on the night of Oct. 31. Witnesses stated that McCabe knocked Ellis through a glass door leading into the theater.

After hearing the evidence, Judge Herbert O. Phillips acquitted Ellis, but found McCabe guilty as charged.

Judgment of the court was that McCabe's 30-day jail sentence be suspended on the condition that he pay $38 damages to the theater for replacing the glass, that he pay court costs, remain on good behavior for a period of one year and that he surrender his driver's license and not operate a car for a period of six months. (There were no motor vehicle violations charged against him, however).

Bill Nelson Jr. of Morehead City appeared to answer charges of following too close, becoming involved in an accident and having improper registration. Nelson, found guilty, was sentenced to 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $25 and costs.

Robert Sickler of Camp Lejeune and George Franklin Gribb of Newport both forfeited bond when they failed to appear. Sickler had been charged with driving a car without state plates and Gribb was cited for public drunkenness.

Eugene Hesse, charged with public drunkenness for the second time within a twelve-month period, was ordered to serve 90 days in jail. The state decided not to prosecute Joe Pickney of Morehead City charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Charles T. Jones of Morehead City was given 90 days in jail for theft of a rod and reel and fishing tackle. For violating the terms of a suspended sentence of Oct. 26, Jones was ordered to serve, in addition to his 90 days, 30 days. The two sentences are to run concurrently.

A drunk driving warrant for George M. Larson of Morehead City was amended to include careless and reckless driving. The court did not prosecute on the drunk driving charge but for careless and reckless driving, Larson paid a fine of $200 and court costs.

Two New York City defendants forfeited bond when they failed to appear. Vincent E. Christenson had been charged with littering the highway and public drunkenness and Ronald H. Shur was charged with destroying personal property and public drunkenness.

Robert Savage of Morehead City was sentenced to 30 days in jail after the court found him guilty of public drunkenness and possession of non-taxpaid whiskey. The sentence was suspended on payment of $15 and court costs.

In the case of Shaw Becton, prayer for judgment was continued one week. He was charged with failing to provide adequate support for his wife and child.

There were 11 cases continued until next week's term of court.

with another 40 x 100 feet to be added in one year. In an 80 x 120 feet building, employment would be about 85 persons, Mr. Johnson said.

The commissioners told Mr. Johnson that the town has land available, near a railroad, for industrial development. They said the town can provide water and necessary streets. Interested Newport citizens are looking into the building possibilities and the commissioners voiced their willingness to cooperate.

L. W. Howard appeared before the board to inquire what had been done towards having a manhole installed near the postoffice. It was told that the state is going to do the work.

Bills amounting to $1,139.70 were ordered paid, leaving a balance of $2,500.

The commissioners discussed the amount of gas being taken from the town tank and talked about methods of keeping more accurate gasoline records. Methods discussed were having all gas put in the tank metered, having order receipts signed, keeping the gas tank locked and keeping a log of dates and amounts of gasoline put in town vehicles.

Miss Edith Lockey, town clerk, read a letter announcing that Robert K. Garner had applied to the state ABC board for a permit to sell beer at his business establishment on Water Street.

Jan. 1 was set as the deadline for collecting this year's business license taxes.

Attending the meeting, in addition to those mentioned, were mayor Leon Mann Jr., commission-
