> The inspecting officer, Maj. Richard B. Bridges of Fort Benning, Ga., was accompanied by Brig. Gen. Weston H. Willis of Jacksonville, division artillery command-er, and Lt. Col. Edward Paul of New Bern, batallion commander.

All three officers were high in their praise of what they found Wednesday night. "The unit is a compliment to both Morehead City and Carteret County," reported General Willis, a native of this county, following the inspection. The battery's training was unique, according to both General Willis and Major Bridges.

"In my 33 years in the North arolina National Guard," the Carteret-native general reported,
"this was the first time I've seen a field artillery battery laid at night in the field for a federal inspection. I was very pleased with the results." Lt. Merrit Bridgman, battery commander, said no rating was given the unit following the inspection. "It will be two or three weeks before we receive our written re-port of what the unit presented," said the lieutenant.

The battery, a 105 howitzer artillery organization, is composed of three officers and 54 enlisted men. Drills are held each Thursday night at the armory located at Camp

Classroom Teachers Go To Open House Tuesday

Fifty classroom teachers from county schools attended a business meeting and open-house of the Classroom Teachers Association Tuesday night at the recreation building in Morehead City.

After the business meeting, which included devotionals by Mrs. Ellen Morgan and a talk by CTA president George Jackson, a pro-gram was presented by students of Morehead City high school. Refreshments of cookies and cold drinks were served and dancing followed in the auditorium.

followed in the auditorium.

Mr. Jackson, in his speech, told the teachers, "It is the responsibility of the schools, their administrators, and teachers to teach the value of the American way of life, which was founded on the worth and dignity of the individual." He added, "The safeguarding of the integirty and the democratic character of the educational process rests here."
