Sink or Sail?

When the pennant reaches the top of the mast and $30,000, the greater Morehead City area will set sail for prosperous days ahead. Right now it's tied at dockside, ready to go, but not getting anywhere. That's the situation described by A. B. Cooper, chairman of the greater Morehead City chamber of commerce finance drive.

bringing millions of dollars of business to all the towns. He said the same could be done here in a united program.

George Phillips, Morehead City, told how a cooperative program with Beaufort in promoting a Lions club horse show is going to save money for both show sponsors.

George Ball, Harlowe, commented that he appreciated the attitude and initiative of the Morehead City chamber of commerce. "Let's use other communities throughout the county, he said, to bring the spokes and the rim together." He was referring to Mr. Cooper's allusion to the chamber as a wheel hub, spokes and rim.

Moses Howard, Newport, said the county is proud of the chamber and he expressed thanks to the "Yankees" for their interest in Carteret County.

Shelby Freeman, Atlantic Beach, said he felt that the chamber name should remain the greater Morehead City chamber of commerce, because most people know where Morehead City is. A great deal of description would have to be used to tell how to find Bettie, Marshallberg or Wildwood, he remarked, and in advertising that costs money.

"If we can just get the people to this area, each individual business can do the rest," he remarked.

Others who made comments were A. T. Leary Jr., Jim McLean, and Roy Wooten.

Mr. Cooper read the names of firms and the amount of money that had been assigned each as a membership fee.

S. A. Chalk, a member of the finance committee, said that his assessment was $125. "I think that's a little high for me," he remarked. "They only put the Morehead City Garment Co. and Co-operative Savings and Loan down for $100, but I'm going to pay it. I appreciate the compliment."

Mr. Cooper said that his assessment is $750. "I'm happy to pay it," he said, "but Mr. Pittman's going to make some money on me. I have to go to the bank to borrow it." (Mr. Pittman is cashier at a Morehead City bank).

The meeting opened with prayer by the Rev. E. Guthrie Brown, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church. The group sang Onward Christian Soldiers, led by Ralph Wade, with Edgar Swann at the piano.

Rufus Butler, president of the chamber, made a brief talk and asked everyone to read the editorial on the chamber of commerce in Friday morning's NEWS-TIMES. He expressed appreciation to the newspaper and the radio stations for their publicity.

Chamber directors were introduced: Jimmy Wallace, Skinner Chalk, Gariand Scruggs, Edgar Swann, George McNeill, Dr. S. W. Hatcher, J. R. Sanders, Bob Simpson, and Shelby Freeman.

Members of the finance committee who will contact prospective members this week are E. T. Credle, Jimmy Wallace, Ken Newsome, Otis Purifoy, Walter Morris.

Earl Lewis, W. B. Chalk, Rufus Butler, O. J. Morrow, Jerry Willis, Shelby Freeman, Frank Cassiano, Tom Potter.

George McNeill, S. A. Chalk, W. L. Derrickson, Dom Femia, Dr. Russell Outlaw, Grover Munden, Bob Simpson, and Warren Beck.

Raymond Ellison Jr. Serves at NAS, Norfolk

Norfolk, Va.—Raymond R. Ellison Jr., aviation storekeeper; third class, USN, son of Raymond Ellison, 605 Craven St., Beaufort, reported to the Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Va., Jan. 22, and has been assigned to the staff of Vice Admiral William L. Rees, USN, Commander Naval Air Force, US Atlantic Fleet.

Ellison previously served at the Naval Receiving Station in Norfolk.

Before entering the Navy in October 1955, he graduated from Queen Street high school.

US Forces, Germany—Army Sgt. Roy D. Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan W. Russell, Newport, participated with other personnel from the 24th Infantry Division in Exercise Winter Shield at the Grafenwohr-Hohenfels training area in southern Germany Feb. 1-7.

Winter Shield, an annual Seventh Army winter maneuver, involved 60,000 troops.

Sergeant Russell is assigned to Battery D of the division's 13th

Larry E. Rose, above, has completed his basic Army training at Fort Jackson, S. C., and is now stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rose of 1541 Front St., Beaufort, and graduated from Beaufort high school.

Vieques, P. R.—Donnie Eubanks, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Eubanks of 707 Bay Street, Morehead City, serving with the dock landing ship USS Spiegel Grove, is participating in Operation Brigadex 1-60, a six-week helicopter amphibious exercise at Vieques, P. R.

Scheduled to end in early March, the 4,000 man operation is being conducted from the assault ship USS Boxer, serving as flagship and nucleus of the helicopter squadron.

Marines participating in the exercise are employing the "vertical envelopment" idea of warfare; landing troops by helicopters at the rear of the "enemy's" defenses.

Fort Campbell, Ky.—Army Pfc. Harry C. Conway, 20, son of Mrs. Lela Conway, 309 Macon St., Morehead City, is shown above with the Army's new rifle—the M-14—which is being introduced to paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky.

The 101st Airborne Division, spearhead unit of STRAC (Strategic Army Command), is the first to receive the new rifle as limited quantities began arriving here.

A welcome sight to Conway, the M-14 will give him increased firepower, lighter weight and easier maintenance without sacrificing the wallop of the present M-1. Designed to replace the M-1, the carbine, the .45 caliber submachine gun and the automatic rifle, the M-14 fires 7.62 millimeter ammunition which is now the standard cartridge for all NATO troops.

Conway, a rifleman in Company A of the division's 502d Infantry, entered the Army in January 1959 and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Artillery. He entered the Army in July 1953 and arrived overseas on this tour of duty, in May 1958.

The 24-year-old soldier attended Swansboro high school. His wife, Mary, is with him in Germany.

cover for the winter. Shrubbery has been added around the building.

This shrubbery consists mostly of native stock including yaupon and camellias. Thrift has been transplanted along the walk and alongside the building. In the early spring we are planning to seed the ground with carpet grass seed.

The school annual, Whispering Pines, is so named because of the pines that grew in front of the buildings. Many of these have died. The students have planted about fifty pines for replacements.

As a result of the planting "bug" which the students acquired by these undertakings, some of the boys decided to order strawberry plants for their supervised farming programs. These plants were ordered co-operatively by the Chapter in order to obtain more favorable prices.

During the basketball season, it became evident that our seating capacity was insufficient. In addition to the bleachers erected three years ago, new bleachers were erected by the boys. This project employed skills associated with carpentry work.

The above paragraphs would indicate that our chapter is devoted to all work and no play, but this is not the case. Early in the school year we erected two ping-pong tables which were placed in the shop.

Each day at activity and lunch periods, the boys rush over to play. We are now conducting a tournament to determine the school champion. We hope to be able to challenge other outstanding county players in the future.

Improvements have been made in the agriculture building to create a better teaching and learning atmosphere. A gasoline engine manufacturer provided us free of charge a gasoline engine, teaching and student manuals, and teaching charts. This engine course was studied with great interest.

Visual aids are used a great deal in our classroom instruction. It became necessary to provide facilities for blacking out the classroom. We obtained canvas from the federal surplus property agency and made our own black-out curtains.

In the shop we also used federal surplus material to construct rollers or conveyors to roll lumber in order to ease the handling problems.

Our FFA group has always loved socials. We are in the process of building an outdoor fireplace on school property in order to have adequate facilities for these parties. We hope to have lights and running water installed soon. We are now planning for the el-

Anybody Have It?

For its forthcoming play, A Man Called Peter, the cast needs the music of 'Roamin' in the Gloamin' and can't locate it anywhere.

If anyone has it, would they please loan it for one week, asks Miss Hortense Boomer, director of the play.

The play will be given at 8 p.m. next Tuesday night in the recreation building, Morehead City.

Miss Boomer says several folks have the music to In the Gloamin', but the music the cast needs is Roamin' in the Gloamin'.

If anyone has it and is willing to lend it, please phone THE NEWS-TIMES, PAGE-4175.

his 40-foot mast and even though the Iscojem was close by they couldn't see it from time to time because of the deep troughs of water in which the ships were wallowing.

Meantime, the captain and his mate got their engine started and one of the pumps working. They advised the Iscojem that they were heading for Oregon Inlet. They sailed for 23 hours.

Captain Smith said that they didn't see any of the Coast Guard rescue craft searching for them Friday. The Chilula, out of Morehead City, was one of the Coast Guard vessels on the hunt.

At 7 o'clock Saturday morning the lookout on duty at Oregon Inlet Coast Guard station sighted the Dolphin off the bar. The men had used a white bunk sheet as a distress flag.

A lifeboat crew from the station went to the Dolphin and escorted her to a safe mooring at the south side landing of Oregon Inlet ferry.

Captain Smith and Rose left the Dolphin there and were flown to Atlantic by Bill Corcoran of Ocracoke. Smith doubts that there is much damage to the Dolphin other than the lost antenna and the repair needed on the pumps.

He plans to go to Oregon Inlet today to bring the trawler back to Atlantic.

Asked for a probable explanation as to why the Coast Guard couldn't locate them, Smith excused it with the comment that the boat is small (45 feet) and the seas were rough.

Some of the catch aboard the Dolphin was saved, but the storm washed out much of the ice used on the fish.

Captain Smith went yesterday to Sea Level hospital to bring home his wife, the former Ann Pittman of Atlantic, and their new daughter, Windy Gale has a brother, Mark Edmond, 14 months old.

Chamber Seeks Pamphlets, Volunteers for Big Show

The Morehead City chamber of commerce invites all businessmen who have literature on their places of business to get it to the chamber office by Friday so that it may be distributed during the vacation show at Charlotte March 1-6.

J. A. DuBois, manager of the chamber, asks that this literature be in his hands by Friday. The chamber office is in the Hotel Fort Macon.

Also needed are volunteers to man the Morehead City exhibit booth. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Duke, Atlantic Beach, will be at the show throughout the week, but they need assistants. Mr. DuBois said that the chamber will pay part of the expenses of volunteers.

Businessmen of this area will offer prizes to those who attend the show and fill out cards at the Morehead City booth. The prizes will consist of weekends at motels or hotels in this area, free dinners at restaurants and similar prizes that would make it interesting for people in the western part of the state to come to the Morehead City area.

Grayden Paul, director of the Beaufort 251st anniversary celebration, has been invited to provide literature on the celebration so that the people at the vacation show can get first-hand information on it.

The hearing before Judge Bundy took place Saturday morning in the courthouse at Greenville.

Judge Defers Annex Decision

Judge W. J. Bundy decided Saturday to take some time to consider the restraining order requested by persons near Beaufort who don't want to become part of the town.

The judge heard arguments for the restraining order, presented by attorney Gene Smith, and arguments against it by C. E. Wheatly, attorney for Beaufort. The town plans to annex, by ordinance, areas north of it on March 1.

The judge inferred that he may be able to make his decision this week.

Either party in the case which may be displeased with the action the judge takes, could appeal to the state supreme court. If the appeal is made by the petitioners who requested a restraining order, the appeal would serve to block the annexation.

The hearing before Judge Bundy took place Saturday morning in the courthouse at Greenville.
