Bridges at Toko-Ri Will Play Return Engagement

One of the truly great war films of the Korean holocaust, the all-time aerial thrill-film, The Bridges at Toko-Ri, begins a return engagement at the Morehead theatre Sunday. Starring William Holden, Grace Kelly, Fredric March, and Mickey Rooney, the Technicolor production scored a sensational success when it was first released.

Based on James A. Michener's best-selling novel, The Bridges at Toko-Ri, it recounts the valor and heroism displayed by the Navy carrier-based jet pilots and the helicopter rescue teams who fished them out of the icy seas or scooped them up from behind enemy lines when the jets were downed.

It also tells the personal story of the lieutenant (Holden) who must fly a mission regarded as the most dangerous of the entire campaign, of the effect that mission

Policemen Find Stolen Money in Man's Mouth

East St. Louis, Ill. (AP)—George Norman was arrested in connection with a $35 robbery. En route to the police station officers noted Norman was trying to talk about it, but just couldn't.

Officers took a long look at Norman's swollen cheeks, forced his mouth open and found 12 one dollar bills. The money was seized as evidence.

Both, of course, have interspersed their screen devility with other subdued, more heroic roles, but they are primarily associated in the minds of audiences as rogues, which dimension they assume in Seven Thieves. However, there are a couple of surprises in the course of the picture which give both characters greater depth than those usually found in suspense dramas.

Science-fictioners will be hard put to hold their heads up after Lou Costello, Mr. Funny Five by Five, gets through with them in the picture, The 30 Foot Bride of Candy Rock, the hilarious screen spoof that will reduce Wednesday and Thursdays City theatre audiences to helpless laughter.

Crazier and funnier than ever, Costello makes a comic shambles out of such science-fiction cliches as a time machine, an out-sized being (in this case a blonde and beautiful giantess), and the whole school of missilemanship.
