Smyrna Places 11 Pupils On Two All-County Teams

By FRANCES PINER

Hi, folks! Now that basketball season is over students are settling down. We are very proud of our teams. Although they didn't win the county tournament, they still placed second. This is really an improvement for our boys, for last year they were in last place.

A number of our boys and girls made the All-County basketball team. Representing the boys' team are Curt Nelson, Dale Lewis, Braxton Piner, Carroll Hill, and Horace Lawrence. Representing the girls' team are Carolyn Phelps, Brenda Golden, Jean Willis, Sally Hooper, Claudia Brown, and Rose Arthur.

Well, it finally came, Julius Caesar, that is. The high school was privileged to view this excellent movie. Most of the feminine audience especially admired Mark Anthony, played by Marlon Brando. The movie made the play, by Shakespeare, clearer to us Shakespeare students.

Thanks to Mrs. Willis and her sophomore classes for bringing us this treat!

A number of juniors are eligible to take the National Merit exam. The test will be given in March.

The students eligible are Linda Willis, Rose Arthur, Patsy Lewis, Mike Harris, James Meares, Eloise Marshburn, Ken Harris, Wayne Willis, Genus Jones, and Braxton Piner.

Good luck, students. Maybe you will be brilliant enough to win one of those scholarships offered by the National Merit Foundation.

The National Merit scholarship program is a nationwide search for students who demonstrate extraordinary ability to benefit from a college education.

Recently the third-year home economics girls visited the Gold Medallion home in Mitchellville. Mrs. Coretta Cherry, home economist for Carolina Power and Light Co., guided the girls through the home and pointed out all the convenient and attractive features in it.

The home economics classes have been very active for the past few weeks. About two weeks ago the second year girls were studying refinishing furniture in their housing unit.

In connection with this study the girls decided to refinish the table tops in the home economics lab. The past week they have been busy at work removing the old varnish, sandpapering, and applying shellac and wax to the tables.

Although the smell of shellac was not very pleasing, the results are surely worth the work, for the tables have a very pleasing and shiny appearance.

The aroma of Swiss steak, brownies, and freshly-baked pies is very mouth-watering. The third-year

The United States is in a very serious condition that needs a radical cure—else it will continue to decline in power and influence.

Its real strength is in its people, and their strength comes from God. The people must look to God for their salvation and not to the federal government. Once we put our trust in government to solve our problems, we are lost.

Our founding fathers realized the dangers of a strong central government and sought to prevent a concentration of central power that would overwhelm the individual. Our leaders in the past have sold our birthright for a mess of pottage.

I am a Democrat, but not the variety who thinks the sun rises and sets in the federal government. My position is that states' rights come first, tariffs should be low, agriculture should be developed soundly and to the greatest possible extent, and the budget balanced.

All my adult life I have studied economics as a hobby. I hate false economic policies like the cotton farmer hates the boll weevil, or the tobacco farmer hates black shank. The idea that the federal government can run farming better than the farmer is a Communist idea.

The whole program of raising wheat you can't sell, consume, or give away is irrational. The growing of cotton for sale to foreign manufacturers at 5 cents a pound less than the federal government will sell to domestic manufacturers is nonsense.

The government tells the little man this program is for his benefit. It gives false hope to the small farmer. He is encouraged to hang on to an uneconomic arrangement that impoverishes him economically.

He is 5'4", and weighs 130 pounds. She now lives at Harkers Island.

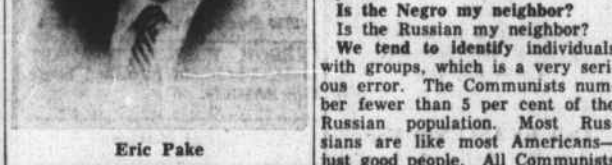

Her favorite subject is English. She spends her spare time playing the piano. Ann's favorite song is "What in the World's Come Over You," by Jack Scott. Her favorite actor and actress are John Saxon and Susan Hayward. Her pet peeve is people who block the traffic in the hall.

While in school she has been a member of the Dramatics Club.

Mr. Senior is Eric Pake, who was born April 10, 1940, in Beaufort. He now lives in Bettie. Eric has brown eyes and brown hair, is 5'5", Preparations are being made for a stunt night program, which is to be given March 4. Each class in the school has been busily at work on its stunt. The program is being sponsored by the grade mothers.

Miss Senior this week is Ann Lewis, a Yankee turned Southerner, for she was born at Staten Island, N. Y. December 20, 1942. Ann has blue eyes and brown hair, and weighs 170 pounds. His favorite subject is agriculture; his pet peeve is world history.

Eric's favorite song is Teen Angel. His favorite actor and actress are James Stewart and Rita Hayworth. Eric's favorite pastime is working with any type of automotive machinery.

While in school he has been a member of Future Farmers and is now president.

Troop Scoop Girl Scouts, Brownies Report Recent Activities

The Morehead City neighborhood meeting was held Wednesday, Feb. 24, at the home of Mrs. Sam B. Kale. Final plans were made for the play day to be held March 12 at the recreation center.

Other Intermediate troops from Newport, Beaufort and Atlantic will be Morehead City's guests on this day. All Girl Scouts and Brownies were asked to celebrate March 13 instead of March 6 as Girl Scout Sunday so there would be no conflicts with church services.

The Spinning Wheel and Belk's department store will feature Girl Scout displays for a week beginning March 7. Mrs. Hugh Porter gave out the new booklet, Safety Wise, to all leaders present.

Projects that can be used for troop meetings were demonstrated. These were potato printing, string painting, paper sculpture masks, name designs, origami, paper bag puppets, collage, batik, egg shell mosaic, and paper mache.

Present, in addition to Mrs. Kale and Mrs. Porter, from Morehead City were Mrs. Robert Freeman, Mrs. Georgia Beaver, Mrs. Valarie Stanley, Mrs. Amanda Gillikin, Mrs. Marion Davis, Mrs. Robert Davenport and Mrs. Robert Conway. From Newport were Mrs. Jane Tomlinson, Mrs. Alice Spencer and Mrs. Alice Skinner.

Beaufort neighborhood meeting was at 2 p.m. Feb. 24 at the home of Mrs. John Mease, neighborhood chairman. Plans for the mother and daughter banquet were discussed. It will be held March 18 at 7 p.m. at the Methodist educational building. Fourth graders who will fly up this year will do so this night and receive their badges.

Window displays were discussed for Girl Scout week. Beaufort will celebrate March 13 instead of March 6 due to conflict with church communion services.

A booth was decided to be put up so all Beaufort's surplus cookies might be sold.
