

Town Asks Investigation Of Unauthorized Plumbers

Because town authorities have received complaints about unlicensed plumbers doing plumbing work in Morehead City, the town board Tuesday night authorized the clerk to write the State Plumbing Association and request an investigation.

W. P. Freeman and Thomas Eure appeared before the board to request that the town participate in the cost of building a $200 bulkhead at the south end of 10th street. The board agreed to consider the proposal.

John Lashley, town clerk, was requested to write the Seashore Transportation Co. Taxi operators have charged that the bus is picking up and discharging passengers within the town limits of Morehead City, in violation of its franchise.

It was also requested that the State Highway commission be asked to place 35-mile speed limit signs on 20th street north of Bridges.

The commissioners authorized expenditure of $150 for a float in the Beaufort street parade during the birthday celebration in July.

George McNeill, town attorney, presented a bill of $500 and expenses of $84.81 for services during a railroad rate hearing the latter part of April in Raleigh.

The town agreed to pay part of a bill for damage caused to a car, the damage due allegedly to negligence of the town in care of thoroughfares.

New fire department officers were approved. They are Lindsay Guthrie, chief; El Nelson, assistant chief; Doyce Rice, captain; Sam Hughes, lieutenant; and Dan Swindell, secretary-treasurer.

Planning to attend the League of Municipalities meeting at Jacksonville June 16 are commissioners Walter Morris, Bud Dixon, attorney George McNeill, mayor Pat Dill and either Mr. Lashley or Blanda McLohon, town treasurer.

All commissioners were present, except Russell Outlaw, who is on vacation.

State Hospital Association Ends Its Convention

Dr. Robert R. Cadmus of North Carolina Memorial hospital, Chapel Hill, was installed as president-elect of the North Carolina hospital association Wednesday morning. The association met in convention at Morehead City.

Joseph Barnes, director of Rex hospital, Raleigh, is the new president. Dr. Cadmus will succeed him next year. J. M. Pyne, Alamance County hospital, Burlington, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The three new members of the board of trustees are James M. Devane of Southeastern General hospital, Lumberton; Charles H. Frenzel of Duke hospital, Durham; and Edward Heid of Rowan Memorial hospital, Salisbury.

New delegates to the American Hospital association are R. Z. Thomas Jr., Charlotte Memorial hospital, and J. Lyman Melvin, Parkview hospital, Rocky Mount.

The association on Wednesday passed a resolution commending the Hospital Savings association of Chapel Hill on its 25th anniversary.

The convention's opening speaker Monday was Kenneth Williamson, director of the Washington Service bureau of the American Hospital association, who spoke on federal government participation in health care.

In 1948, the speaker said, the United States government spent $8 million in all forms of health insurance. This, by 1959, increased to $450 million.

Mr. Williamson said that there is strong likelihood that some medical aid program for the aged will be passed this year.

Speaking Tuesday was J. J. Byrne, industrial marketing representative of International Business Machines, who predicted that automation will revolutionize hospital procedures in the next five years.

Charles B. Wade Jr., a native of Morehead City, and vice-president of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., spoke on Personnel Problems in the '60's.

The Role of the Army Medical Service in Civilian Disasters was the topic of an address by Col. Byron L. Steger, commander of Womack hospital, Fort Bragg.

Maurice Norby, deputy director of the American Hospital Association, Chicago, spoke on Labor Relations in the Hospital Field.

Mr. Norby said union efforts to organize hospital employees have been vigorous and there will be a tremendous increase in the activity, but less than 3 per cent of hospital employees now belong to unions.

Unionizing will diminish, Mr. Norby said, as hospitals increase wage scales to meet the average wage in their particular community.

The new association president succeeds Edward R. Frye of Good Samaritan hospital, Charlotte. Between 125 and 150 attended the convention.

Newport Youth Wins Awards

Robert Clifton Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Reynolds of Newport, received three scholarships in the field of religion at recent commencement exercises at Newport high school.

Reynolds was awarded a $100 service scholarship and a $175 ministerial scholarship to Louisville college.

He also received the Eastern Star training award for religious leadership, awarded by the Grand Chapter of North Carolina Order of Eastern Star.

This award is restricted to persons doing undergraduate work in the religious leadership field.

He will enter Louisville college in September as a pre-ministerial student.

Winners were Alexis Jones of the Newport senior club, who presented a pantomime; Clinton Nelson of the Harkers Island intermediate club, who played the electric guitar and sang; Marie Blanchard of the Morehead City senior club, who twirled a baton; and Shirley Frederick of the Morehead City senior club, who did a hula.

Judges were Mrs. Edward Sharp, Mrs. Floy Garner and R. M. Williams. David Warrick is 4-H advisor.

Winners of the contest will compete in the district 4-H talent contest at Chocowinity June 22.

W. P. Freeman nad Thomas Eure appeared before the board to request that the town participate in the cost of building a $200 bulkhead at the south end of 10th street. The board agreed to consider the proposal.

Planning to attend the League of Municipalities meeting at Jacksonville June 16 are commissioners Walter Morris, Bud Dixon, attorney George McNeill, mayor Pat Dill and either Mr. Lashley or Blanda McLohon, town treasurer.

All commissioners were present, except Russell Outlaw, who is on vacation.

The clerk reported this week that an $18,000 deficit with which the town started the current fiscal year, has been met.

The mayor commented that the only department overdrawn on its budget, by $332.48, is the fire department.

He reminded the board that as of June 1 the parking meter ordinance is being strictly enforced.

The mayor read letters to the board stating that FHA loans can be obtained for use in the town of Beaufort, that there will be a planning conference June 16-18 sponsored by the Institute of Government, Chapel Hill, and that Federal Housing and Home Planning funds have been increased by $150,000 and are available to towns on a 50-50 matching basis.

J. O. Barbour Jr. requested the mayor to proclaim July 3-9 as National Safe Boating Week. He stated that the Coast Guard will display equipment on Front Street July 6-9 and offer inspection of boats.

Boat dealers will also have shows and display life-saving equipment that week.

Parking problems on Front Street and in the alley in the blocks just north of Front were discussed. The attorney advised the town to take possession of properties in question so that parking may be governed.

Sheriff Hugh Salter appeared before the board to ask that the town not withdraw from the county police radio network. The town has been considering setting up its own radio system.

The board agreed to reconsider, providing Atlantic Beach joins the county net and pays its proportionate share. Beaufort's share would then be reduced to $1,045, the sheriff said.

Present at the meeting, in addition to those mentioned, were commissioners Math Chaplain, Otis Mades, Bert Brooks and David Farrior.

Morehead City Stop Lights Out of Operation

Morehead City's stop lights, which have been working in fits and starts the past several months are now definitely out.

Chief of police Herbert Griffin said yesterday that a factory mechanic has been requested to come and check on them.

"I hope we can have them working in a few days," the chief said. No traffic regulation makes backing from parking places difficult in the business section and adds to pedestrian hazards.

Milwaukee was built on the site of an Indian village named Mahanawaukee-Seepe, the "meeting place of great councils."

Property Owners Agree To Paving on Craven St.

Mayor W. H. Potter reported to the town board Monday night at the Beaufort town hall that everyone concerned in the block on Craven between Broad and Cedar had agreed to pay for paving it.

Claud Wheatly, town attorney, reminded the board that the money must be in hand before the contract can be let. Property owners will be informed that if they pay more than the job costs, the excess will be returned to them on a pro rata basis.

William Roy Hamilton, town commissioner and vice-chairman of Beaufort birthday celebration activities, requested that his trade and civic affairs department be paid the remainder of the $600 budgeted for it so that celebration expenses might be met. The board agreed.

Regarding finances, the mayor said that the clerk has been instructed to pay all of the town's current debts June 16. This does not include payments due the debt service fund.

The clerk reported this week that an $18,000 deficit with which the town started the current fiscal year, has been met.

Mrs. J. W. Stackhouse, who lives on Bogue Sound, called the station at 6 p.m. Wednesday and reported that a 16-foot sailboat had capsized in the sound near her home.

The Coast Guard boat was dispatched to the scene, but was called back when Mrs. Stackhouse telephoned again to say that an outboard boat had rescued the people from the water and salvaged the sailboat.

Personnel aboard the Coast Guard boat were William Morgan, BM1; Durwood Johnson, SN; and Jackie Moore, FN.

Pavilion Robbed Wednesday Night

Approximately $33 was stolen from coin-operated machines at the Pavilion, Atlantic Beach, Wednesday night.

Deputy sheriff C. H. Davis said that $30 was taken from the juke box and $3 from the shuffleboard game. Two cigarette machines were also pried open. It was not known how much money was in them, so the total loss may be considerably more than $33.

The theft was discovered yesterday morning by Vernon Goodwin, employee at the Pavilion. He notified David Lee, manager, who called the police.

Deputy Davis said the thieves either came through a window or someone was locked inside.
