

Richlands, Pamlico Will Provide Tough Openers for Eagles, Seadogs

Both Have Experienced Players Back from '59

Although both Beaufort and Morehead City high schools should rule as definite favorites in their respective grid openers over Pamlico and Richlands next Friday night, neither will be in for an easy night.

At Pamlico, coach Henry Carson has a veteran squad that features nine returning lettermen and eight starters from last year's squad.

Heading the list of experienced gridgers are quarterback Frankie Mills, tailback Muff Potter and tackle Jack Broughton. Mills does practically all of the team's passing with his favorite target being his 165-pound right end Durwood Truitt.

"We probably won't rely too heavily on passing this year, though," said head coach Carson "as we have three good running backs returning from last year." In addition to Mills and Potter, Carson has his starting fullback from last year, Bill Barker, and his starting wingback, Danny Watson. Carson terms Barker a "real hard runner" and added that the 165-pounder is a big threat from the team's short punt formation.

Carson also looks for his line to be stronger this year than it was last season because of four returning forward wall stalwarts and some promising prospects up from the junior varsity.

Jack Broughton, 190, and Phillip Burt, 170, will be the big boys in the Hurricane line. Guard Harvey Hardison, 165, will also strengthen Pamlico's offensive attack.

Last year, under Carson, the Hurricanes finished the season with a record of only one win and nine losses. This year they have hopes of improving on that mark and have been holding twice-a-day workouts in preparation for the opener with Beaufort.

At Richlands, coach Bobby Johnson doesn't have the number of returning veterans Pamlico has, but nonetheless thinks his prospects for a good season are bright.

Johnson starts his first year at the Richlands helm after spending two years as assistant coach. Johnson is basically a single wing man but his team will also run a variation in the form of a double wing.

Forty-five players, including five lettermen and three starters, have turned out for football at Richlands. "Forty-five boys sounds like a lot of players but we have quite a few freshmen out this year," said Johnson.

Heading the list of starters back is 165-pound All-Conference guard Leroy Williford. Williford played every game last year and was one of the most rugged guards in the conference.

In the backfield Johnson has back 190-pound Buster Brown and 150-pound Kenneth Brown. Buster runs the tailback slot on the single wing while Kenneth is the blocking back. All three of the returning starters are seniors this year.

Last season Richlands compiled a respectable 4-4-1 record. Their lone tie was an upset 6-6 tie with powerful James Kenan.

Johnson stated that he would bring a 30-man travelling squad to Morehead City for their opener next Friday night.

Injuries Have Been Absent

So far Beaufort and Morehead City high school football teams have been able to stay away from the age old nemesis to football squads — serious injury.

Both camps have had their share of minor hurts and bruises but no key players have been lost. Last year at this time the Seadogs had already lost two players for the remainder of the season. Guion Dudley was put out with a neck injury and Floyd Temple was lost with a broken collar bone.

The Eagles last fall were a little more fortunate in that no players were lost for the season although a leg injury to Jackie McQueen plagued the team for part of the season.

The most serious injury to come out of the Eagle practice session this year has been the shoulder injury to Leslie Nelson. Nelson who starts his third year as a starter in the Eagle line, has been working out in shorts since the injury and is expected back in uniform shortly.

At Beaufort, head coach Curt Lancaster has seen several of his gridgers sidelined with minor injuries. George Cole suffered a cut toe when his foot was stepped on last week. Stitches were required, but Cole reported back to practice Tuesday night after a three-day layoff.

A sprained ankle slowed down halfback Eddie Taylor for a day or so but Eddie too is back in uniform and going full speed.

The Seadogs' 190-pound tackle, Luke Salter, was also forced to miss a couple of days of contact work but his injury happened at home rather than on the football field. The rugged lineman suffered a burn on his hand Tuesday.

Lancaster and his aides have been watching the right knee of quarterback Pud Hassell extra close since the start of contact work but so far the knee has seemed strong. Pud blocks, runs and tackles with no apparent ill-effects on the knee that was operated on last summer.

Both teams will have to be at full strength for their openers next Friday. Neither Richlands, the Eagles' opponents, nor Pamlico, Beaufort's foe, will be push-overs. Richlands is the team that tied powerful James-Kenan last year and they can be expected to field a solid team this year. Pamlico is a 2-A school and always turns out a wealth of material. The Hurricanes are one of two AA opponents on the Seadog schedule for this year. The other one is, of course, Morehead City that meets Beaufort Nov. 4 in the traditional Mullet Bucket classic.

If the injury plague can stay away from the Eagles and the Seadogs throughout the season, fans have in store some real good football.

That's 30 for now.

Country Club Will Host Pro-Am Tourney Oct. 25-26

Golf professionals from all parts of North Carolina and some from South Carolina and Virginia will converge on Morehead City Country club Oct. 25 and 26 to participate in a Pro-Am golf tournament.

The professionals will be teamed with women golfers on Oct. 25 and with men golfers the following day. The Morehead club is offering cash prizes for the professionals of $100 for the pro-ladies event and $400 for the pro-men event.

Each amateur playing will pay a $5 entry fee. Most of the money raised from this source will be added to the prize money, with some of it reserved for merchandise prizes for winning amateurs.

One professional will be assigned to three amateurs in both events, the amateurs playing to their established handicaps.

Robert G. Carr, chairman of the club's golf committee, is in charge of arrangements for the tournament.

Chief Comments On Tuesday Letter

Chief of police Bill Moore, Atlantic Beach, commenting Wednesday on a letter to the editor in Tuesday's paper, said that the Atlantic Beach rescue squad was not present at the drowning referred to in the letter.

The writer commended the Morehead City rescue squad, which was at the scene. Chief Moore said that he took the rescue squad pickup truck, which was slower than his own car. The truck has "Rescue Squad" lettered on the side.

The chief took the Atlantic Beach rescuator, an Atlantic Beach lifeguard and another policeman to the scene. Jack Barrett, a Greenville man, drowned Sunday, Aug. 14, after helping several others to safety near Sportsman's pier, Morehead Island.

Booster Club Adds Bleacher Section to Field

George Jackson, vice-commissioner of the Morehead City Football Boosters club, announces that the club has completed its project of building a new section of bleachers at the Camp Glenn football field.

The new bleachers, of the same permanent type that were added last year, replace a section of the old knockdown bleachers that had become unsafe for use. Jerry Willis, Morehead City insurance agent, has donated two gallons of paint to the club to paint the new seats.

With the help of the Moose lodge, the single strand wire fence around the playing field has also been replaced this year. The Boosters club furnished the poles for the fence. The Moose donated the wire and put the fence up.

Speaking for the Boosters club, Jackson said, "We would certainly like to thank everyone who has helped us ready the field for this year. With the addition of the new bleachers and the work that has been done on the turf throughout the summer we think the field is in as fine a shape now as it ever has been."

Gloucester Club Asks That Tickets Be Bought Early

Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. This is the second supper of its kind sponsored by the club this summer. Everyone is invited.

Ball Game Sunday

60 Grid Candidates Register for Midgets

Dr. Robert Barnum, secretary of the Morehead City Football Boosters club, announces that 60 boys have registered for the midget football program and added that more are expected to sign after school starts.

The Boosters club has purchased enough additional uniforms this year for each player to have a complete uniform. Last year the league had enough uniforms for only 30 players. The Fry Roofing Co., sponsors of the Fry Eagles, have purchased uniforms for one team.

On hand to help with the registration both last week and Wednesday were vice-commissioner George Jackson and the league's four coaches, John Davis and A. N. Willis of the Lions, Danny O'Neal of the Fry Eagles, Bobby Bass of the Jaycee Blue Devils, and Thomas Oglesby of the Elks.

Picnic Sunday
The Carteret Outboard Run-about association will have a picnic at 1 p.m. Sunday on the inland waterway a mile north of Core Creek bridge. The picnic will be financed by the association. Members planning to attend should inform Robert Butler, commodore, by 5 p.m. today.

The harbor in Naples has a depth of 30 to 35 feet.
