

Register of Deeds Office Records 61 Land Transfers

(Editor's Note: In recording real estate transfers, the law does not require that the amount paid for the property be stated in the deed. A token amount, such as $10 or $100, may be stipulated.)

Attached to each deed, however, must be United States documentary stamps, the value of the stamps based on the price paid for the property.

Property which changes hands for less than $101 requires no stamp, according to Odell Merrill, register of deeds. Property which brings a price between $101 and $500 must bear a stamp valued at 55 cents. From $501 to $1,000, the stamps affixed to the deed total $1.10, and thereafter for each additional $500 paid for the property the stamp value goes up 55 cents.

From the value of the stamps placed on a deed an estimation of the price paid for the property can be determined. In the transfers listed below, the seller is listed first, the buyer second, and finally, the value of the stamp affixed to the deed.)

Tobacco Roots Should Be Plowed Out After Harvest

By R. M. WILLIAMS
County Agricultural Agent

County tobacco growers are following a highly recommended practice of cutting tobacco stalks immediately after harvesting and turning out the root stubbles. This has a drying effect on the nematodes (microscopic worms) that might be active in the roots.

Live tobacco suckers and roots that remain in the soil will furnish food for nematodes for several months.

The complete life cycle of the nematode is only 30 days. This will allow the growth of several generations of nematodes between now and late fall and will result in a tremendous increase in the nematode population in your tobacco field.

Exposing tobacco roots to the sun is only a part of a complete nematode control program on soil infested with nematodes. Tobacco growers find it necessary to fumigate to further reduce the nematode population. This has for several years been a general practice on many farms.

Another step, and a very important one, in addition to fumigation and plowing out root stubs is to follow a two or three year crop rotation plan. Where farmers use crops that have a tendency to starve out the nematode, favorable results are being obtained.

One crop in the rotation that a good many farmers have found to be effective is fescue grass. In a crop rotation demonstration for the past three years on the Y. Z. Simmons farm near Newport, Kentucky fescue grass has been in the rotation for the past two years.

Making a nematode count on the roots recently, I found very little nematode infestation. On another adjacent plot that had been in tobacco for the past three years I found considerable infestation.

Tobacco growers should begin rotation, even if it is only a two-year rotation with fescue and tobacco being planted every other year. Two and even a three-year rotation would be much better if there is a sufficient quality of tobacco soil on your farm to follow a longer rotation.

I will be glad to assist any tobacco grower in the county, make a visit to your farm and show you how to make a nematode root reading of your tobacco fields. This should be done however (if possible) before the stalks are cut and the roots are busted out.
