

Patrol's Work Hours to be 40

Governor Hodges announced today that he and commissioner of motor vehicles Edward Scheidt and the personnel council agreed that members of the State Highway Patrol should be placed on a five-day work week effective as soon as possible, but not later than Oct. 1, 1960.

At the present time the patrol operates on a six-day week. This change in hours will result in reducing its official work week from 48 hours to 40 hours and will place the official working hours of the State Highway Patrolmen in line with the great majority of other state employees.

In announcing the change, Governor Hodges stated that this reduction in hours is in line with the national trend among law enforcement agencies and is in keeping with the present state administration's policy of reducing working hours wherever feasible.

Governor Hodges paid high tribute to the administration of the Highway Patrol and the dedicated, courageous service of its officers and men.

Glen Burnie, Md. (AP)—Bandits who robbed the Glen Burnie bank of $1,340 first stole an automobile from the parking lot of the sanitary commission nearby.

At that moment, in the commission office, about $30,000 was on hand from the sale of licenses.

Select Canned Food Fair Entries with 'Judge's Eye'

By FLOY G. GARNER
Home Economics Agent

It is Fair time again! Miss Pritchard, extension economist in Food Conservation and Marketing, reminds us of this opportunity to participate in county and state fairs. She is hoping to have you enter your best jars of canned food in the local County Fair, and then the State Fair in Raleigh, Oct. 11-15. Miss Pritchard conducted a pickling workshop in the county this spring. We certainly hope to see many good pickles at the Fair this year.

I would like to urge each of you to hear and see Miss Pritchard on Sept. 14 on the regular Agri-News feature on local tv channels. She will use "Canned Foods at the Fair" as her subject for discussion.

When you are selecting items from your pantry shelves to enter in the county or state fair, remember to pick the best that you have. Canned fruits and vegetables will be judged according to color, clearness of liquid or syrup, texture, flavor, ripeness; appropriate size; the pack and the container. Appearance and flavor are highest in point value on this score card. Remember too that the product must be canned in a standard Mason jar. Preserves are judged according to shape, clearness and color of the fruit, flavor, texture, and pack, and the syrup is judged, also, according to clearness and color, flavor, consistency, and proportion of juice.

These are just a few pointers for you to remember when you are collecting items for entry in either fair.

What was once considered impossible has now become reality in the food we eat. Recently a large packing company announced the development of a process whereby beef is tenderized on the hoof rather than during cooking time.

This firm has developed a technique using an enzyme injected into cattle prior to their slaughter. This tenderizing of the meat calls for injection of about a cupful of the liquid enzyme tenderizer into

Nickels-for-Know-How Vote to be Cast Sept. 30

By R. M. WILLIAMS
County Agricultural Agent

People will vote Sept. 30 on whether to continue a program of research vital to citizens of North Carolina.

In the hands of the voters will be the fate of the Nickels for Know-How program for the next three years. If a two-thirds favorable vote results, this research and education program at State College will continue.

Many leaders in Carteret have a hand in guiding this program as members of the Agricultural Foundation at the college. Any person who buys feed or fertilizer is considered a member.

Carteret's director on the foundation board of 100 members is C. N. Stroud.

What has this program, started by Tar Heel farmers in 1951, meant to the economy of the state? Hundreds of millions of dollars.

To tobacco production and harvesting alone, the know-how furnished by nickels has meant many millions more in profits. Nickels are battling black shank, nematodes, wireworm and other diseases. Support has been given to the development of irrigation of tobacco, which can increase per acre yield more than $300. Progress has been made on bulk curing, which will bring tremendous changes in tobacco harvesting and curing.

Nickels funds—$1,164,325 collected through 1959—are divided four ways:

Extension and education, production research, marketing research and basic research.

Nickels have supported 48 projects. The sum total effect of them all could well mean the difference between success or failure for thousands of Tar Heel farmers.

Current and future research is keyed to farm, home, community and market problems both great and small. There are projects that affect people as consumers or family members or citizens. There are others vital to the improvement of major crops and livestock. And there are many dedicated to solving complex problems of major import to minor crops.

Nickels are supporting progress in the fields of genetics, dairy cattle breeding, animal nutrition, vegetables, tobacco insects, blueberries, poultry physiology, witchweed, alfalfa weevils, soil fertility, corn breeding, cotton marketing, milk production, soybeans and forage crops.

Nickels have made possible specialist work full-time in control of peanut and small grain diseases, poultry technology to aid the farmer, and development of new machines for use on the farm.

In a great many ways, nickels have returned to Carteret county, multiplied many times. And they'll keep buying better agriculture for the county and the state. Cast your vote in this referendum Sept. 30.

FHA Makes Loans To Help Farmers Hurt by Storms

Marion Holland, Farmers Home administration district supervisor, reminds farmers that FHA makes loans to farmers who have to replace buildings destroyed or damaged by storms.

FHA also makes loans to buy grain storage bins and equipment to dry corn.

The loans are at 4 per cent interest with repayment periods of up to 33 years. FHA does not require a first mortgage, Mr. Holland said.

Anyone interested should call at the FHA office in the courthouse annex, Beaufort, Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
