Mr. Salisbury was notified of the appointment by letter from governor Sanford. He was recommended for the appointment by Col. Hugh Dortch, Goldsboro, who is chairman of the commission.

Mr. Salisbury is chairman of the county centennial committee and president of the county historical society. He is a staff member of THE NEWS-TIMES, and has repeatedly won statewide recognition for his articles on the history of this area.

His wife is chairman-elect of the Garden and Civics department of the Morehead City Woman's club.

4-H to Promote County-Wide Safety Program

A county-wide farm and home safety program was planned at the recent meeting of the County 4-H council. Because tags ordered by Allen Kelly, president, had not arrived, the council decided to make "skull and cross-bone" tags. The stencil will be cut by Holland Mills and the 4-H'ers will make the tags at their May meeting.

The council decided to put proceeds from sale of first aid kits in the council treasury and decide later what portion shall go into the 4-H development fund.

It is hoped that 4-H campers can be transported in private automobiles this year. The council estimates that this would mean a saving of about $10 to each camper in transportation cost. The 4-H'ers plan to attend Camp Schaub near Waynesville, about 400 miles from Carteret.

Mrs. Jim Stallings, new sponsoring committee chairman, and Mrs. Tom Carraway, adult 4-H leader, both of Merrimon, were welcomed.

Mrs. Carraway announced that her Community 4-H Club was selling pen sets to raise money for the 4-H Development Fund. She stated that they had some sets left over that other clubs may get and sell.

Allen Kelly and Emma Jean Lawrence, running for district offices, announced that they would write letters to the other 15 counties in the district asking for their support in the election, June 15.

Newport Sets Wheels in Motion To Update Sewage Plant Program

Partyboats to Sail from Beaufort

Two partyboats, the Linda and the Crosswinds, will make Beaufort their home base this season. Getting ready for fishing parties are the boats' captains and two decorative young ladies from Beaufort. Left to right are Miss Virginia Potter, Miss Norma Merrell, Capt. Orien Beals of the Linda, and Capt. Don Coats of the Crosswinds.

Newport town commissioners passed two resolutions at their meeting Tuesday night, which may lead to the town's getting a sewage treatment and disposal plant. The resolutions authorized Mayor Leon Mann Jr. to sign an application for planning funds and to sign a contract with an engineering firm to prepare plans for the plant.

C. C. Tilley, a representative of William F. Freeman Inc. of High Point, an engineering firm, attended the meeting. He displayed a map drawn in 1952, when the town discussed such a plant.

Mr. Tilley was told that the town area has been enlarged since 1952 and many new homes have been erected. He said his company would have to send a man to Newport to bring the map up to date and perhaps modify the system suggested ten years ago.

Mayor Mann commented to the board that he is not proposing another bonded debt for the town, but he felt the town should be prepared in case the opportunity to obtain funds presented itself. Commissioner Dick Locke expressed the opinion that there would be 100 per cent cooperation on the project.

Mr. Tilley said the estimated cost of the entire project in 1952 was $256,000. The board agreed that it would probably take an additional $100,000 now.

Mr. Tilley advised the board that there is a federal agency which lends up to 30 per cent of funds for planning sewage treatment and disposal plants. He said that the loan does not have to be repaid until construction of the plant begins.

Mr. Tilley said it is necessary to sign a contract with a planning engineer before making application for funds and to give reasonable proof that the project can be paid for. He distributed copies of a contract for the board to read.

Town attorney George W. Ball questioned Mr. Tilley about several items in the contract, then gave his approval of it. The board discussed the different ways to finance the project, but made no decision. They agreed to await the outcome of the application for planning funds.

Raymond Edwards, police commissioner, reported that he had received several complaints about stray dogs. He asked the attorney if he could go on to private property and shoot the dogs, if the property owner requested him to do so. Attorney Ball told him that he could not shoot a dog outright, but if the dog was destroying livestock, chickens, etc. he would be justified.

Commissioner Edwards reported that seven warrants were issued in March. One man was found guilty in court and fined $22, he said. The board agreed to purchase BOARD, Page 2
