

Elections Board Issues Appeal To Candidates, Registrars

Cruise Begins Here

This is the Marula, at her mooring in Bermuda.

A Bermuda cruise originated Wednesday in Morehead City—the third this season. All passenger accommodations were filled: six. The craft was the 52-foot yacht Marula with four Bermudians and two North Carolinians aboard.

The Tar Heels are Dr. Edward Carr, Greensboro, and Wiley Nelson, New Bern; and the Bermudians Henry DeSilva, owner; David DeSilva, his cousin; Herbert Utley and Elvin Chapan.

If things went according to schedule, the Marula should have arrived at Bermuda Saturday morning.

She came to this country the first of May for outfitting, the second time she has made the trip

The county board of elections, in a formal statement, has made a direct appeal to the people and to candidates in the forthcoming second primary to conduct the campaign on a high and gentlemanly level.

The statement from the board of elections, released yesterday by Charles C. Willis, chairman, follows:

"The Carteret County Board of Elections wishes to use this means of appealing to the general public and especially the candidates and their workers, to cooperate with us in seeing that the campaign prior to the Second Democratic Primary is carried on in an intelligent, truthful and decent manner.

"Mud-slinging" and misrepresentation of facts is a reflection upon any community and especially upon those engaged in such practice. The ballot is a sacred instrument and should be used by free people in a sacred manner.

"The Board of Elections has addressed a strong letter (a copy of which is hereto attached) to all Registrars urging them to be more diligent in seeing that the election is carried out strictly according to the Election Laws and in a way fair and just to all. We believe they will do their best to this end."

The letter, addressed to the 27 registrars of the county, follows:

Beaufort, N. C.
June 6th, 1962

Dear Registrar:
PLEASE READ EVERY WORD IN THIS MESSAGE.

If we are to have a free country and a government by the people for the people, the Board of Elections is one of the most important agencies of our free society. Upon the Board of Elections falls the sacred responsibility to see that free, fair and honest elections are conducted. Your board is desperately trying to use all possible means to develop in the minds of our voters a greater respect for the election laws of our good State of North Carolina and the application of these laws to each individual in our county.

Our greatest efforts will be of little avail unless we have the wholehearted support and cooperation of every registrar in our county. You, as precinct registrar, are one of the most important officers of our government for you are literally and truly the first line of defense against fraud and corruption in our election machinery. Unfortunately, there have been

J. H. Burruss To Go to Kinston

J. H. Burruss, resident highway engineer in this county, has been promoted to district engineer, Kinston. Mr. Burruss will assume his new position July 1.

He will replace Heber Gray, who is retiring.

C. W. Snell, Greenville, division engineer for this area, says that the North Carolina highway commission office, maintained in Beaufort at 120 Craven St. for the past several years will be maintained until work, let to contract this month, is completed.

R. A. Pollock, New Bern, will supervise that work, which consists of seven miles of resurfacing, including the Laurel road, part of the Merrimon road and the portion on the Beaufort-Morehead causeway between the end of the Morehead City bridge and the railroad.

Increases in pay came for the police department, lifeguards hired by the town and a provision for extra office help. Other increases were in insurance, garbage and trash collection, attorney's fees, and advertising.

Revenue items showed an increase of about $60,000 in assessed valuation, totaling $1,625,398.25; and a resulting increase in expected property taxes of from $21,199.45 to $21,942.88. A small increase in business licenses was also anticipated.

The board passed a motion to authorize a one month's trial on the Atlantic Beach police department's extending its area of jurisdiction to one mile past the city limits, provided the extension can be made at no cost to the town. The plan involves the use of town

Ad Re-Run
Because of a proofreading error, a paragraph in the Gaston Smith political ad, concerning Mr. Smith's pledge to residents of eastern Carteret, was omitted Friday. The ad is being re-published on page 2, section 2 of today's paper in the form in which it was submitted to THE NEWS-TIMES.—The Publisher.

Registration begins in the Morehead Biltmore Motor hotel, Sunday, June 17. An exhibit by firms providing equipment and services to counties is also planned in conjunction with the convention.

The county commissioners and county accountants will both elect officers for the coming year. The convention will close with the annual banquet Tuesday evening, at which time the annual award will be made to the Outstanding County Official of 1962.

Republicans Discuss Precinct Organization

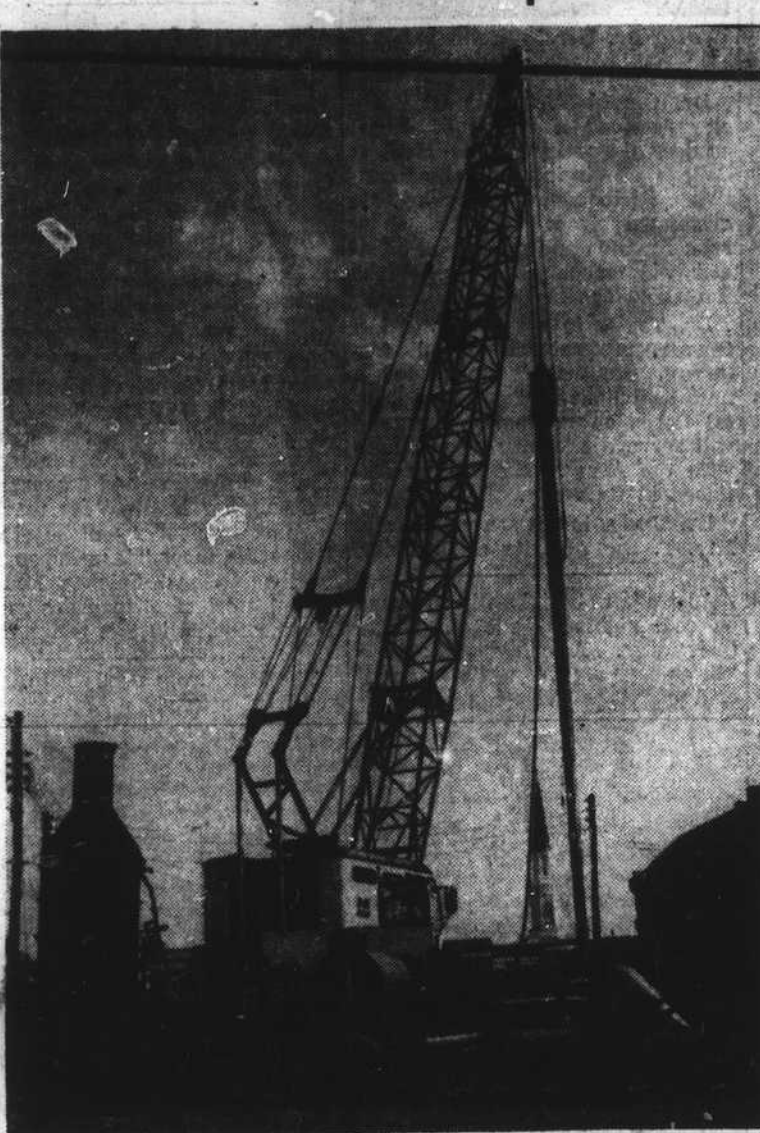

Precinct organization was discussed by county Republicans at their monthly meeting Saturday night at the courthouse.

Plans were made for organization of precincts No. 1 and No. 2, Morehead City. Precinct officers will be elected at a meeting at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Morehead City municipal building.

Speaking at the meeting Saturday night at the courthouse, were Elmer D. Willis, Republican candidate for sheriff; Thomas Bennett, candidate for the state legislature, and C. R. Wheatly.

Duke Lab Will Have $100,000 Dormitory

Construction has begun on a new $100,000 dormitory at Duke Marine laboratory, Pivers Island. The dormitory, an all-brick structure, will provide year-round housing capable for 24 persons.

The new building, being built by Duke university, will have central heating and air conditioning, a lobby and a kitchen. The building will provide some long needed facilities, according to Dr. C. G. Bookhout, chairman of the laboratory executive committee. The laboratory will soon be engaged in an oceanographic program, requiring year-around housing, Dr. Bookhout said.

Housing at the laboratory now is available for only about one-third of the persons involved in courses and research. Dr. Bookhout stated that growth of the laboratory in the future will require even more development, especially family units and the upgrading of present housing units.

The building itself will be modeled closely along the lines of a modern motel, with porches on both sides of the building and each room having a separate entrance. Construction and the furnishing of the new dormitory is expected to top the $100,000 figure.

Highway Officials Confer Friday with Town Officials

Morehead City commissioners Dom Femia and Russell Outlaw informed state highway officials Friday afternoon at the municipal building, Morehead City, of town problems which they felt the highway commission could help solve.

Present were highway commissioner D. G. Bell; C. W. Snell, division engineer; C. Y. Griffin, district engineer; J. D. Parker, sign supervisor; J. L. Humphrey, county superintendent of roads, and Ray Hall, town supervisor.

Mr. Femia suggested that Arendell street be widened from 24th street west to the intersection of 70 and 70A, to permit two lanes of moving traffic and a parking lane east-bound and west-bound.

Mr. Snell suggested that, instead, no parking be permitted on the street, thus providing two lanes for moving traffic.

Commissioner Outlaw said that people simply have no place to park and on the street is the only place most can park, although some homes do have drives or garages.

"What you're really asking," Mr. Snell observed, "is for the state to provide parking space for you."

Mr. Bell said there is a possibility of routing traffic on Bridges street. Mr. Griffin said that the highway (Arendell street) would have to be widened a total of at least 12 feet.

Mr. Snell said that the state

All Seashore Highway Secretary Speaks to Ocracoke Club Last Night

J. A. DuBois, secretary of the All Seashore Highway association, spoke last night to members of the Ocracoke Civic club at the school library, Ocracoke. Also present were state highway officials.

Mr. DuBois was invited to speak on the Ocracoke-Atlantic ferry run. Ocracokers expressed interest in two ferries immediately, to eliminate the leaving of as many as 10 cars on Ocracoke daily, and to guard against there being no ferry, should the present one break down. Some felt money should be spent on a second ferry rather than on a new landing at Cedar Island.

Mr. DuBois reviewed progress in road and water transportation on the outer banks. He cited the club's vote for a paved state road on the island in 1952 was the beginning of better transportation links with the mainland and improved tourist business at Ocracoke.

Funds for the road were appropriated in 1955. This was followed by the Taylor brothers' putting the present ferry in operation. The ferry was recently taken over by the state.

Mr. DuBois stated that moving the mainland, ferry landing from Atlantic to Cedar Island will make it possible for the present ferry to make two round trips daily because the route will be shorter.

This, he said, will mean 60,000 visitors as compared with 30,000 in 1961. He said the ferry schedule

—$1,000

Over the weekend, approximately $100 more was received in the county Red Cross fund. Unless $5,000 is raised by Friday, the Red Cross chapter in this county is to be dissolved, according to Garland Scruggs, chairman.

A drive earlier this year yielded only $200. Five hundred has been raised since last week.

Mr. Scruggs said that during Esther when first aid kits were needed at shelters, the National Red Cross bought kits locally at a cost of $60.

During the Potomac disaster, the Red Cross provided sandwiches, coffee and milk to fire-fighters and to military men at the Morehead City municipal building as they changed shifts.

It is hoped that with the meeting of the quota, a Red Cross blood bank can be established here. Mr. Scruggs said that if the county participates in the blood bank, there is no charge for the blood. He said there may be a charge by the hospital, where the blood is administered, for transportation to the hospital from the central blood bank in Norfolk, but the blood itself is free.

Blood on the commercial market usually costs about $25 a pint, he said.

Democratic Club Elect Officers

New officers were elected by the county Democratic Women's club Thursday night at the courthouse. The slate was presented by Mrs. Clayton Fulcher Jr. The officers are as follows:

Mrs. Gehrman Holland, president; Mrs. Garland Scruggs, vice-president; Miss Alida Willis, secretary; and Mrs. Moses C. Howard, treasurer. The current board of directors was re-elected.

A committee was appointed to revise the by-laws and was asked to report at the next meeting, which will be Friday night at 8 at the courthouse. Refreshments will be served after the meeting. All Democratic women are cordially invited.

Education Board Adopts Policy on Pupil Pregnancy

Appearance of several graduates in extremely pregnant conditions prompted the county board of education at its June meeting to adopt the following policy governing pregnancy of girls in Carteret schools:

- When a girl marries, she must report the fact to the counselor and is given the following information:
 - Immediately upon learning that she is pregnant, she must reveal the information to the counselor and drop out of school.
 - After the baby's birth the mother may re-enter school, provided the baby is being properly cared for.
 - If the girl fails to inform her counselor and her appearance would indicate pregnancy, she will be required by her counselor to produce a doctor's certificate that she is not pregnant.
 - If a, b, and c above are not complied with, the girl will be expelled and not allowed to return.
- The mother of an illegitimate child shall not be allowed to re-enter school.
- No married student, male or female shall participate in any activity, extra-curricular or otherwise, in which he or she would represent the school in public functions.

County Commissioners Association Will Convene at Biltmore Sunday

President R. B. Jordan Jr., of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners, has announced final plans for the annual convention. The meeting will be held in Morehead City, beginning on Sunday, June 17. More than 500 people are planning to attend.

Gov. Terry Sanford will address county commissioners, county accountants, county attorneys, and tax supervisors at the annual luncheon Monday, June 18. Mrs. Davetta Steed, executive director of the North Carolina League of Municipalities, will keynote the convention Monday morning with an address on city-county cooperation.

A panel discussion entitled "A Look to the Future" is scheduled for Tuesday morning. Howard E. Manning, chairman of the State Board of Public Welfare, will forecast future developments in public welfare. Dallas Herring, chairman of the State Board of Education, will forecast future developments in public education. Wallace Murchison, Wilmington attorney, will forecast the future in the courts. And George Esser, assistant director of the Institute of Government, will forecast the future of county government.

A second panel discussion is scheduled Tuesday afternoon, on the topic Some Ways to Economize in School Construction. J. Harry Weatherly, Guilford county manager, will describe the use of a school building consultant to advise the board of county commissioners on school construction. S. H. Helton, Montgomery county superintendent of schools, will discuss the selection of an architect. Dr. J. L. Pierce, director, division of school planning, State Department of Public Instruction, will summarize the major ways of achieving economy in construction.

County accountants and tax supervisors will meet Monday afternoon, June 18. The tax supervisors will hear a report from their information committee, particularly with regards to the campaign in favor of the constitutional amendment to outlaw special act tax concessions. The accountants will discuss temporary investment of funds.

Registration begins in the Morehead Biltmore Motor hotel, Sunday, June 17. An exhibit by firms providing equipment and services to counties is also planned in conjunction with the convention.

The county commissioners and county accountants will both elect officers for the coming year. The convention will close with the annual banquet Tuesday evening, at which time the annual award will be made to the Outstanding County Official of 1962.
