State College Professor To Give Lecture

Dr. Reinard Harkema, professor of zoology at North Carolina State college, will deliver the fifth Arthur Sperry Pearse Memorial lecture Wednesday night at the Duke University Marine laboratory, Beaufort.

The lecture is given annually in memory of the late Dr. Pearse under whose stimulation, leadership and guidance the Duke Marine laboratory got its start in 1938. Dr. Pearse was the first director of the station.

Previous Pearse lecturers have been professors Hugo Blomquist, I. E. Gray, F. G. Hall and F. A. Wolf, all close associates of Dr. Pearse at Duke university.

Professor Harkema, except for the war years, has been on the faculty of North Carolina State college since 1938. He belongs to many scientific societies and has served as president of the North Carolina Academy of Science. He served as an officer in the Sanitary Corps in World War II and now holds the rank of colonel in the Reserve.

Dr. Harkema is a graduate of Albion college in Michigan and received the doctorate in the field of parasitology at Duke university where he studied under the direction of Dr. Pearse. The title of Dr. Harkema's lecture is Schistosome dermatitis in Alaska.

To the layman this is better known as "swimmer's itch." Having spent five summers in Alaska working on the life cycle and morphology of a duck blood fluke, the infective stages of which cause swimmer's itch in man, Dr. Harkema is a recognized authority on this troublesome parasite.

The lecture will be illustrated with color slides and is open to the public.

Substitute Trooper

State trooper Nathan Robinson, Craven county, is working in Carteret while trooper W. J. Smith recovers from an operation.

Musician Mounts Bicycle, Pedals Off to Outer Banks

By ELLEN MASON
A bicycle trip along North Carolina's outer banks with plenty of time to think and look — that's Ralph Wade's idea of a pleasant vacation. Mr. Wade, Morehead City, left yesterday morning on his bicycle, en route to Manteo and Nags Head.

Mr. Wade, director of the Morehead City high school band, says he enjoys bicycle riding and camping out. He will combine the two on his trip, which he expects will take about a week. He stowed a bedroll, air mattress and pillow and a trapaulin on the luggage carrier of his bicycle, put his clothing in the basket on the front, and took reading matter and personal items in saddlebags slung across the back.

Mr. Wade planned to ride to Atlantic yesterday and spend the night there. This morning he will go to Ocracoke by way of the ferry. This will put him at Ocracoke about noon and by afternoon he hopes to have crossed over to Hatteras by ferry and traveled perhaps as far as Avon.

Wednesday he plans to cross the Oregon inlet ferry and go to Manteo. Tomorrow night he hopes to attend the play, The Lost Colony.

Thursday Mr. Wade will visit Nags Head, Kitty Hawk and the Wright Memorial. Friday will probably find him pedaling around the Seashore National Park area.

Mr. Wade plans a leisurely return trip Friday and Saturday and on Sunday will meet Mrs. Wade and their son, Ralph, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Willis and Mr. Jimmy Alvin Willis at Ocracoke. They will all spend a few days camping at Ocracoke before returning home.

Mr. Wade said he doesn't know what kind of conditions he will encounter, so he isn't going to plan a set schedule. If he is a day late reaching Manteo or a day late getting back to Ocracoke, it doesn't matter too much. He is making the trip strictly for pleasure.

Driver Cited After Hit-Run Crash, Newport

A Cherry Point Marine, Erskine J. Barnette, is in the county jail under $1,000 bond, charged with hit and run, drunken driving, no brakes and no insurance. The charges were filed by Newport police chief Dan Bell after Barnette was involved in an accident in Newport at 12:30 a.m. Sunday.

Chief Bell said Mrs. Opal Garner, driving a 1957 Chevrolet, was headed west on highway 70 and was preparing to make a left turn at the dry cleaners. Barnette, driving a 1954 Buick, came up behind her, sideswiped the Chevrolet as he passed, and continued on.

Barnette was overtaken at Cherry Point by the Craven county sheriff and was arrested there by chief Bell. The Buick was taken back to Howard's garage, Newport.

Three other Marines were riding with Barnette. Mrs. Garner had her daughter, Mrs. Harry Sutton, in her auto. Damage to the Buick was estimated at $400 and to the Chevrolet at $600.

Chief Bell said Barnette will be tried in county court July 31.

Highway Men, Mayor Confer at Beaufort

Mayor W. H. Potter, Beaufort, and state highway officials conferred at Beaufort Friday morning on drainage problems around town on state-maintained roads.

Meeting with the mayor were highway commissioner D. G. Bell, Morehead City; C. W. Snell, division engineer; and C. Y. Griffin, district engineer.

Mayor Potter said that the state has proposals for correcting drainage problems and if recommendations suggested are carried out, the town will be relieved of conditions caused in heavy rains.

Gunsmith Posts $5,000 Bond

- Federal Agents Arrest K. P. B. Bonner Jr.
- Charge Him With Firearm Violations

K. P. B. Bonner Jr., 34, route 1 Morehead City, has been released under $5,000 bond, after being charged with manufacture and illegal possession of automatic firearms.

Bonner, a custom gunsmith, was arrested Thursday by treasury department agents, according to Carteret sheriff Robert L. Bell.

The sheriff said he and federal agents went to Bonner's workshop Wednesday. The shop is located on highway 70. Bonner told officers then that the machine guns were for decorative purposes. The sheriff said Bonner claimed that they were fixed so they couldn't fire.

The federal officers took the guns for testing and found that they operated perfectly when test-fired at Camp Lejeune Thursday.

Bonner, according to authorities, bought machine guns which had been scrapped by the Marine Corps and reworked them, putting them in shooting condition. Authorities said two .30 caliber machine guns, one .50 caliber machine gun and parts of other weapons were found in Bonner's workshop.

Bonner waived preliminary hearing before US commissioner Eleanor G. Howard at New Bern Thursday.

Speaker Tells Of Oyster Crabs

The oyster crab is considered a great delicacy in northern markets. Dr. Neal Beach, Gettysburg, Pa., told Beaufort Rotarians Tuesday.

Dr. Beach, a professor at Gettysburg college, was the guest speaker at the club meeting, and is at the Duke Marine laboratory doing research on the oyster crab.

Chance for local development of an oyster crab market is very slim, Dr. Beach stated. Only about two to three per cent of oysters available here contain the crabs, in comparison with an average 50 per cent infestation in other areas. The crabs bring a very high price, he added.

The crab is not a parasite, Dr. Beach said. It enters the oyster during the spat stage of the oyster as an egg or larva, and intercepts food brought into the oyster by currents.

Visitors were Jack Roberts, Pat Dill, Bob Nader and Fred Lewis, all of the Morehead City Rotary club.

Son of Gloucester Folks Named to Club Office

William A. Reiman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Henderson, Gloucester, has been elected secretary of the Flying Thunderbirds, organization of student pilots at Tri-State college, Angola, Ind.

Mr. Reiman is a student in the School of Business Administration at Tri-State college.

County Army Reservists Will Return Home Aug. 1

Unit Completes 10 Months Of Active Duty

Fifty-eight men of the Carteret-Havelock area, members of the 824th Transportation Company (Heavy Boat), will return from active duty Wednesday, Aug. 1.

The unit was called up last summer during the Berlin crisis, along with other Reserve units throughout the country. It left Morehead City Oct. 6, 1961 and has

24th-Evans Crash Sends Two to Hospital

A four-car collision Sunday sent two women passengers to the Morehead City hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

The accident happened at 5:09 p.m. Sunday at the intersection of 24th (the beach road) and Evans streets, Morehead City. Treated at the hospital were Mrs. Marie Oglesby, Morehead City, and Mrs. Myron O. Williams, Goldsboro, who were taken to the hospital by a Dill ambulance.

According to investigating officer Buck Newsome, Myron O. Williams, Goldsboro, had stopped at the intersection headed east on Evans street, then proceeded across the intersection.

His car, a 1956 Olds, was struck by a Pontiac driven by Thomas C. Oglesby, route 1, Morehead City, who was going north on 24th street. Mr. Oglesby's car was hidden from Mr. Williams' view by a car and boat trailer in another lane, the officer said.

After being struck, the Williams car was thrown across the intersection, striking a 1949 Chevrolet driven by Earl Lee Daniels, Florence, N. C., and throwing the Daniels car into a 1953 Dodge driven by William Maul Jr., route 1 Morehead City.

The Maul and Daniels cars were stopped behind each other at the intersection, headed west on Evans. The Maul and Daniels cars had minor damage, while the Williams' car had about $500 damage to both sides. The Oglesby car had about $250 damage to its front end. No charges were filed.

Girls Seek 'Miss Pirate' Title

'Old Salty' Tomatoes!

Salt, storm and water didn't stop these tomato vines from bearing a good crop of fruit. The vines are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Selover at Atlantic Beach. Mrs. Selover is shown in the inset.

Two Suppers Will be Served In Beaufort Saturday, Aug. 4

Persons attending the staging of the pirates' invasion of Beaufort Saturday, Aug. 4, won't have to search far to find a good supper.

The VFW auxiliary will be serving barbecued chicken at the school cafeteria to raise money for the county's 4-H camp, and the Beaufort rescue squad will be serving pork barbecue suppers in downtown Beaufort.

Mrs. Frank Nance, president of the VFW auxiliary, announces that meals will be available from 5 to 7 p.m. at the school, where home-baked goods for dessert will be on sale.

Suppers may be eaten at the cafeteria or taken home. Price will be $1.25 for an adult plate and 75 cents for children. Tickets are being sold by Home Demonstration club members and by auxiliary members. Persons are urged to buy them in advance so that they will be assured of a supper.

On the menu will be barbecued chicken, potato salad, green slaw, local tomatoes, sliced cucumbers, onions, tea and hot bread.

The following businesses have donated food or services for the 4-H supper, Mrs. Nance announces: Carolina Poultry Co., Watson Poultry, Red & White, Potter's Grocery.

Peterson's Grocery, Moore's grocery, Ricks Causeway lunch, Math Owens' grocery, Beaufort Colonial and A.P. E. A. Mason & Co., Jones Barbecue.

Freeman Wholesale, Ramsey Wholesale, Carteret Maintenance, Beaufort Ice and Coal, Mades Print shop and Merita Bread.

Home Demonstration club women who attended a recent VFW meeting to plan the supper were Mrs. Selma Caraway, Mrs. B. Pittman, Mrs. Styron, of the Wire Grass club; Mrs. Louise Spivey and Mrs. Helen Garner, Russells Creek club.

29 Attend Science School

Twenty-nine children attended the Children's Summer Science school which started in June at Beaufort, reports Mrs. Jack Barnes, director.

The instructors were Mrs. Harriet Beach, Miss Bera Ann, and Mrs. Mary Pineschmidt.

Mrs. Barnes said that sponsors were pleased with the school but the session ended with no funds on hand. Funds left from last year were used to provide scholarships for several children this year.

Some of the pupils who enrolled dropped out at the last minute, Mrs. Barnes said, which means that a few more children could have been accommodated.

She said that the school next summer probably will not start until after June. They hope to schedule more sessions and keep the classes small.

CD Officials Meet With Carteret CD Chairmen

Col. W. H. Dawson Jr., Raleigh, and Col. David Spivey, state civil defense officials, spent Thursday and Friday in Morehead City conferring with heads of the different departments in the county civil defense organization.

After obtaining all information needed, colonel Dawson said the plan would be approved and Carteret would have an "operational survival plan." This would make the county eligible to participate in state and federal-sponsored civil defense programs, including the privilege of purchasing surplus government property.

Colonel Dawson said Carteret is the 77th county in the state to comply with the requirement for a survival plan.

Club Samples Bagged Seafood

Pre-packaged seafood products were sampled by Morehead City Rotary club members Thursday night, during a talk by Theodore M. Miller, president and chief chemist of Marine Chemurgies Inc.

Mr. Miller told the members that the work of the firm involved the testing of menhaden and other products for protein content, and research into new processing and marketing for sea products.

Sampled by members were a shrimp cocktail, clam chowder and fish croquette that came packaged in a plastic bag. The latter were heated by submersion into hot water.

Guests at the meeting were visiting Rotarians Henry Edwards and Dick Locke, Newport; C. C. Abernathy, Greenville; Bill Stroud, Goldsboro; other visitors, Harry Brown, Erie, Pa.; Kenneth W. Piest, Tampa, Fla.; and Frank Morris, Winston-Salem.

Club to Furnish Eye Containers

The Morehead City Lions club will present the Morehead City hospital and the Sea Level hospital with eye bank containers in the near future, club members were told Thursday night.

The containers have been purchased by the club and are to be used to ship donations of eyes to the state Eye Bank in Winston-Salem. Presentation of the container to the Sea Level hospital will be made by club president C. W. Williams, and presentation to the Morehead City hospital will be made by George Mizesko, past president and originator of the project.

The club also made committee appointments, with James E. Crowe to head the finance committee, L. J. Hill, program chairman; O. J. Morrow, publicity; J. G. Womble, White Cane drive; A. N. Willis, "Be Thankful You Can See" seal campaign and sight conservation; John B. Willis, greeting committee.

Among projects approved and adopted for the coming year were support for midget football, Morehead City Fire department Christmas baskets, Boys' Home, Boy and Girl Scouts, Future Business Leaders of America, Boys' State and countywide work with the blind.
