

'63 Program, New Directors Will be Determined Thursday

Greater Morehead City chamber of commerce members will select three directors Thursday night and determine the course of the chamber for 1963. They will meet at 8 p.m. in the municipal building, Morehead City.

Fifty-nine members had been nominated for director by noon Saturday, and additional nominations will be tabulated until Thursday morning, according to P. W. Bullock, manager of the chamber.

At the meeting, the names of the nominees mentioned most as director possibilities will be presented. Voting will be by written ballot. Original plans called for presenting six names, but because of a three-way tie for the sixth position, eight went in top spot Saturday morning.

They were the following: Kenneth Wagner, Tony Seamon Jr., J. R. Sanders, A. B. Cooper, William B. Chalk, Shelby Freeman, G. E. Sanderson, and Bud Dixon.

Mr. Bullock intends to contact them prior to Thursday to determine whether they will be willing to serve as director.

Retiring directors are Dr. Hatcher, Dr. Russell Outlaw and Garland Scruggs.

Nominations for director will be accepted from the floor and persons eligible to vote are those who have paid their dues for 1962.

A review of the 1962-63 program will be presented by A. B. Cooper, William Davies, Ben Alford and Mr. Bullock.

The meeting will be open to chamber members and the general public. Mr. Bullock said Saturday, "A discussion of the chamber program will be invited and the board will welcome all comments from the floor. President Hatcher and the board of directors ask for a large attendance by members and the public at this important annual meeting."

Following is a summary of the proposed 1963 program which will be discussed:

1. Reduce chamber staff to one capable female employee on full time basis as chamber office secretary at a salary above that now paid the secretary but less than the manager's salary.
2. Place full responsibility for office routine, correspondence, and interview time with the secretary.
3. Place responsibility for supervision of the secretary with the chairman of the board of directors or with the chairman of tourist and convention activity.
4. Close the Fort Macon hotel office and for the winter months (December through March), let the secretary work from a desk and phone in a public building and with a chamber of commerce telephone extension in her home in addition to her private phone.
5. Begin now to establish a vacation season office on Highway 70 west of town for the 1963 season. It is to be hoped that the Morehead City commissioners would permit the use of the city park for a chamber of commerce office. A location on the adjoining state property at Camp Glenn would also be ideal and might be obtained.
6. A chamber of commerce office could be developed from a rebuilt and redecorated house trailer or an inexpensive small frame house might be obtained and moved to the location.
7. For the summer season (May through November) Chamber hours should be from 9 to 5 daily except Sundays. Extra evening hours for July 1 through Labor Day may be desirable. To do this will require a relief girl under the supervision of the secretary at a salary based on relief hours required.

The program here suggested is expected to establish a fixed operating cost of about $500 per month as against the present $900 per month. The annual operating cost budget would be reduced from $10,000 to about $6,000 which is a realistic figure in relation to annual revenue of $12,000.

State Republicans Lose Out in County

All Democrats on the state ballot in Tuesday's election were re-elected. None of the four Republicans on the state ticket rode to victory on the swell that carried three Republicans into county office.

Defeated were Republican Claude L. Greene Jr., who was opposing U. S. Sen. Sam J. Ervin; Claude E. Billings Jr., who was running against Edwin S. Lanier for insurance commissioner; Lewis P. Hamlin Sr., who was running for chief justice of the state supreme court; and Irvin B. Tucker Jr., opposing Judge Susie Sharp for associate supreme court justice.

Democratic congressman David Henderson, unopposed, polled 5,842 votes.

Try-Outs Announced; Theatre Welcomes All

The Carteret Community theatre will conduct try-outs for the play, You the Jury, at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Webb Memorial civic center, 9th and Evans streets, Morehead City.

Anyone interested in being in the play or working backstage is welcome, says Thomas Respass, president.

Smyrna

Nov. 6 — Mrs. Harry Chadwick returned to St. Petersburg, Fla., Monday after attending the funeral of her aunt, Miss Jane Hancock, in Greenville Friday and spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Chadwick and Mrs. Herbert Hancock at Smyrna.

Mr. Vaughn Yeomans, East Carolina college, spent the weekend at home from Greenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Martin of Beaufort were visitors with the Vivian Chadwick family Saturday.

Mr. Truman Davis of Yorktown, Va., spent the weekend with Mrs. Davis and daughter, Ann.

Mrs. George Adams and daughter, Cheryl, and Mrs. Bessie Webb of Morehead City were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Chadwick and family Sunday.

Two Enroll — James Lawrence and Russell Struyk, Beaufort, have enrolled as students at Wilson Industrial Education center, at Wilson. They are studying transportation maintenance.

Holiday Observed — Because veterans' day fell on Sunday, banks and the courthouse were closed yesterday in observance of the holiday.

Marine Corps Observes Birthday

Cherry Point Marines observed the 187th birthday of the Marine Corps Saturday.

Marines dined on steak and birthday cake at the annual birthday dinner. Woody Herman played for the officers' ball in the station gymnasium, Tony Pastor for the ball at the staff NCO club and two bands played for the enlisted men's birthday ball.

The station newspaper, The Windsock, carried special features Thursday in observance of the celebration, including messages from Maj. Gen. R. C. Mangrum, commanding general of the station and Marine bases of the eastern area.

A native of Robersonville, Mr. Little attended high school there, went to North Carolina State college where he received his bachelor's degree and spent four years in the Navy. He received his divinity degree at Virginia Theological seminary, Alexandria, Va., in 1960.

Prior to coming to Morehead City he was assistant rector of St. James church, Wilmington.

Chiefs Named For GS Drive

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Walton, Jr., 2206 Arendell St., are fund chairmen for the Girl Scout finance drive which begins today in Morehead City. The drive will continue through Nov. 30.

The Waltons have lived in Morehead City for five years and are members of St. Andrew's Episcopal church. This is their first position with the Girl Scouts although Mrs. Walton, Mrs. Bobby Matthews and Mrs. T. A. Guiton are forming a new troop and will be its leaders.

Anyone interested in working in the drive is invited to a meeting tonight at 8 at the civic center. The district advisor, Mrs. Charles Lindley, will be present. Refreshments will be served.

Morehead City had a poor showing in its drive last year, according to Mrs. Sam Kale, former Girl Scout official. Mrs. Kale stresses the need of Morehead City's having a contribution to turn in this year so that it will continue to receive help from the Girl Scout council.

Nov. 6 — Mr. William Tickle and Mr. Al Biermann, who were employed at Cameron, La., through the fishing season, returned home Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Josh Hardy of Merrimon visited Mr. and Mrs. James Willis Sunday.

Teacher Speaks To Rotary Club

Morehead City Rotarians had a return visit from a previous guest speaker Thursday night at the Jefferson restaurant.

David Newberry, teacher at the Morehead City school, returned to give a sequel to his talk of one year ago. Mr. Newberry, then about to begin his first year of teaching, spoke on his plans and preparations for the teaching profession.

In Thursday's speech, Mr. Newberry reported that his first year of teaching had discouraged him in making teaching a career and that he planned to seek other work.

The amount of work outside classrooms such as grading papers, supervising extracurricular activities and sports and other duties left him with no time for his own reading and improvement, Mr. Newberry said.

Mr. Newberry also said that no real relationship existed between teachers and parents in the PTA, largely through lack of interest and activity by parents. The PTA functioned largely to raise funds, he stated.

family and will return to Cuba Tuesday.

Mrs. Ida Willis visited Mr. and Mrs. James Willis Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Goodwin of Atlantic visited his uncle, James Willis, Saturday. Mr. Willis continues quite ill at his home.

Mr. Jack Pilcher visited his family the past four days, returning to Norfolk, Va., Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. William Tickle and two children, who have been staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Simpson, moved to their home at West Beaufort Saturday.

Mrs. Gladys Lupton of Atlantic and her uncle, Walter Goodwin of Cedar Island, visited relatives here the past week.

Mrs. Carrie Dickinson, who spent some time with Mrs. Sophia Lupton, returned home Thursday.

Mr. Lonnie Dill of Garner was the guest of Miss Regina Pake Sunday.

Mr. Charlie Pake arrived home from Norfolk Saturday, returning Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Smith, Cedar Island, visited Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ferrier last Wednesday. Mr. Ferrier continues ill.

Mrs. Berkley Simpson visited Mrs. Monroe Simpson and family one day last week.

Car Wrecks Two Beaufort Homes

This is one of the two homes badly damaged when a runaway car plowed into them at Beaufort Friday. The car took off both the front porch and a corner of a front room. The home is that of Henry Styron, 506 Broad St. Mr. Styron is on the front porch.

A runaway car wrecked two Broad street homes in Beaufort shortly before noon Friday.

The car, in the hands of a non-driver, took off from a parking position and plowed full force into the Henry Styron and Sam Darling homes.

Alice O'Neal, a colored woman of Beaufort, was in the car, a 1957 Buick owned by William Bryan. Neighbors reported that the car was idling while she was waiting for its driver to come. Somehow, she got the car in gear and it started off.

People yelled at her to put on the brake, but never having driven a car, she hit the gas pedal. The car traveled about 110 feet, police said, before it hit the Styron house, 506 Broad St., and stopped only after it had torn up the Darling house.

The car demolished the front porch of the Styron house and tore off a corner. The Styrons were eating lunch at the time. They said they didn't know what hit them.

The Buick hit the side of the Darling house, moving the front of the frame dwelling four feet off its masonry foundation.

Damage to both homes and the car was extensive. Police chief Guy Springle said the O'Neal woman had cuts on the head, bruised arms and chest. She was taken to Morehead City hospital for treatment.

Charges are pending, chief Springle said.
