Officials Hope To Keep Draw Bridge Closed

The Atlantic Beach board of aldermen agreed on a plan of action Friday to eliminate what mayor A. B. Cooper calls a "serious, even dangerous traffic problem."

The mayor suggested to the board that some action must be taken to end Sunday afternoon traffic confusion over the Atlantic Beach bridge. The worst hours, he said, are from 4 to 7 p.m., when beachgoers and sightseers are back up from Salter Path to Fort Macon, waiting to cross over the bridge.

He cited two instances already this season of ambulances from Morehead City being held up in traffic for an hour or more while the draw bridge was in operation; and then being able to only creep through the traffic snarl.

A plan to do away with the hazard involves a joint attempt by the town of Atlantic Beach and the county chamber of commerce to convince federal authorities to halt boat traffic between the hours of 3:30 and 5:30 Sunday afternoons from June through August.

The mayor asserted that if boats requiring the use of the draw bridge could be prohibited during those hours, the problem would be "just about licked."

A request was also made to the owners of pleasure boats to try and schedule their activities so as to avoid using the bridge at all on Sunday afternoons.

It was agreed by the board that letters would be sent to the district Army engineer, Wilmington, Congressman David Henderson, Governor Sanford and W. F. Babcock, director of the state highway commission, asking for their help.

Present at the meeting were Ben Alford, president, and W. P. Bullock, manager of the county chamber of commerce. They met with the board to request that the town of Atlantic Beach join in a county-wide advertising project to publicize Carteret's tourist attractions. Mr. Bullock told the board that the chamber of commerce was especially interested in seeing to it that publicity be given the Blue Marlin Festival, the beaches and golfing facilities.

After a brief discussion, the board granted the request by appropriating $250 to the chamber of commerce from funds marked for advertising the Atlantic Beach resort area. The aldermen agreed that a joint effort by all municipalities would be more beneficial to all.

In other business, the board decided to discontinue a $500 appropriation to Morehead City for the operation of the county police radio network. Milton G. Coyle, town clerk, termed the action "necessary because of increased cost in the maintenance and operation of the Atlantic Beach police radio."

The town clerk also informed the board that the town's new all-purpose truck, for trash collection and street cleaning, would begin operation on July 1. Mr. Coyle reported that the entire project would cost in the neighborhood of $6,900 for the first year.

The truck alone cost $5,000, the balance of expenditure for the new sanitation department being a permanent employee and part time help during the summer months.

Trooper Reports Three Crashes

Three recent highway accidents have been investigated by state trooper W. J. Smith Jr.

Charged with failing to yield the right-of-way at an intersection at 4:25 p.m. Wednesday was James W. Henson, route 2 Tallapoosa, Pa. Henson was headed toward Newport on highway 70 in a 1963 Chevrolet in the vicinity of the old Morehead City airport.

The officer said he ran into the rear of Willie T. Pittman, route 1 Morehead City, who was driving a 1953 Chevrolet. Pittman was about to make a turn into a side road when the accident happened.

Damage to Henson's car was estimated at $100 and damage to the Pittman car $200.

Roy Ingram, New Bern, was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road after his 1960 Ford turned over at 1:30 a.m. Sunday on highway 101 a short distance north of the Mill Creek road.

Ingram was headed north at the time of the accident. A rear-end collision involving three cars occurred at 3:30 p.m. Sunday on the Beaufort-Morehead causeway.

According to the officer, a 1958 Oldsmobile, driven by J. W. Smith Jr., Beaufort, going west at about 15 miles an hour, collided with another Olds driven by Jonathan H. Whitehurst, Beaufort. The Whitehurst car was then pushed into the rear of a 1950 Chevrolet driven by Norman Shipp, Havelock.

Damage to each of the Oldsmobiles was $200 and to the Chevrolet $50.

Thrown Bottle Crashes Into Car Windshield

Fletcher Price, route 2, Kenly, repeated to Morehead City police Friday that someone threw a bottle through his car windshield while he was traveling east on Arendell street near 33rd street.

Capt. Joe Smith, investigating officer, said that the incident, which occurred at 9:15 p.m. Friday, caused an estimated $90 damage to the car. No one was injured, police said.

Cottage Entered

Morehead City police investigated Friday a break-in at the Stroud cottage, 1712 Shackleford. The summer home had not been visited by its owners since Labor Day. Whether anything was missing could not be determined. Sgt. Edfred Gaskill said windows were broken and other damage was noted.

'Mr. Tobacco' Remembers The Friendly Pup, Sheriff

The State Ports Authority's Mr. Tobacco, James R. (Jim) Edmondson is a man blessed with a keen appreciation of life's drolleries. He even sees the funny side of a hoghead of tobacco and in the course of a year thousands and thousands of them pass through his realm, the dockside warehouses at Morehead City port.

He calmly smokes his pipe and chuckles. The other day some of his friends asked him just what it was he was smiling about at the moment.

He said he had just got to remembering about the "Sheriff." Some years ago the Edmondsons, who now live in Beaufort, resided in a small town in another state and in the close vicinity of the home occupied by the county sheriff who had a friendly, part-collie dog.

The collie took a liking to the Edmondsons and became a part time boarder. It frequently spent the night with the Edmondson family. Jim and Mrs. Edmondson didn't know his name so Jim called him "Sheriff."

One day the sheriff's spouse called on the Edmondsons and in the course of social chit-chat Jim inquired about "Sheriff."

Two County Residents Receive College Degrees

William M. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sammie M. Davis, Smyrna, and Elois D. Weinhold, PO Box 134, Morehead City, were among county graduates who recently received college degrees.

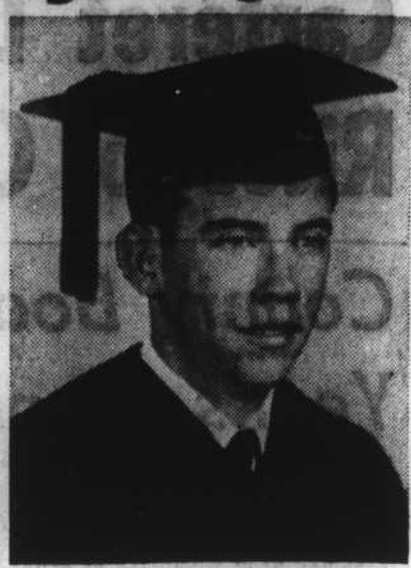

Davis received a bachelor of science degree at Atlantic Christian college, where he majored in elementary education and minored in history. He will be a member of the faculty at West Havelock elementary school next year.

While in college he was a member of the Student National Education association, the membership committee, the science club and was a library assistant for two years.

Elois D. Weinhold was among 991 students at American university, Washington, D. C., who heard an address by President Kennedy at the recent commencement exercises.

She received an associate of arts degree in the college of arts and sciences.

Geoffrey Chaucer, the first to bear the title Poet Laureate of England, drew his pay in wine in 1389.
