BUBBLES.

A friend at our elbow suggests that there has been, so far, three important epochs in American history since President Hoover was inducted into office. First came the yo-yo cycle when all America yo-yoed. Then came the miniature golf epoch which is still going good, it seems. Following this came the tree-sitting craze, and our friend suggests that this was important due to the fact that so many laboring men were out of employment, there was not room for them on the ground and they had to take to the trees.

Dead As Result of Truck Accident. Last Saturday afternoon, two miles west of town, George King met with an accident which resulted in his death. He was driving a truck when one of the tires came off, causing the truck to run up a steep bank and rolled back into the road, injuring the driver, but at first it was not thought seriously. He came to town and was looked over by Dr. J. B. Gibbs. He returned to his home on Possun Trot creek and that night he died about 11 o'clock as a result of his injuries.

Blindfolded and Robbed.

Robbers adopted a peculiar plan last Tuesday to rob Mr. John Edge on Seven Mile Ridge, in the Eastern part of the county. Two men concealed near Mr. Edge's home, and when he stepped from his house into the yard, they silently crept up behind him, threw a gunny sack over his head, throwing him to the ground and robbed him of $40.00. However, Mr. Edge got the sack off his head in time. It is said, to recognize the robbers before they made their get-away. It is also said the two men were apprehended by some neighbors, but they got away before officers got to the place. Mr. Edge is 73 years of age and was slightly hurt by the attack made on him by the two men. Inasmuch as the robbers are known it is thought they will be apprehended, although they seem to have left for parts unknown.

We will send the Eagle to that boy or girl away in school for the nine month's school term for the small sum of one dollar. How about it?

Notice.

Owing to the fact that we do not send the Eagle to subscribers who have not paid in advance, if you find a blue pencil mark under a notice you will understand that your subscription has expired, and that you will not receive another copy of the paper until you have arranged with us to have it continued. This does not mean that we do not appreciate your patronage and support for we do. It is a policy that has been adopted by practically all country papers, and one which we find to be very satisfactory.

Why waste time trying to find out the cause of the present business depression; what difference does it make? These periods of depression come along, they last a certain time, and go. They are about due to go now. When things are at their worst, it generally is about two months from that time that the change comes. The way to meet hard times is to prepare for the better times that are sure to follow. Paul Shoup, President of the Southern Pacific.

LIME AND SOIL IS CON-FERENCE SUBJECT

The need to use more lime on all soils where such liming is profitable was emphasized at a conference of agronomists representing fifteen states held at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville and attended by C. B. Williams and L. G. Willis, agronomy workers at State College.

Reporting on this conference, Mr. Williams, as head of the department of agronomy at State College, said there was a general agreement among the scientists present that the heavier types of upland soils should be limed to full neutrality for growing red clover, alfalfa, and sweet clover with the provision that the lime should be added well in advance of planting and given time to react with the soil.

Applications of lime six months to a year before sowing have been found to give the best results. The lime should be broadcast into the soil and not mixed to the full depth of plowing.

Many dark bottom-land soils and sandy soils of the Coastal Plain will respond to light liming.

There is no direct increase in the availability of soil potash, magnesium or phosphoric acid expected as a result of liming. Some loss of nitrogen may occur where a good crop rotation is not followed.

Sometimes combinations of super-phosphate and lime will give better results than lime used alone. Moderate amounts of ground dolomitic limestone can be mixed with well-graded superphosphate without making the phosphoric acid available to crops.

The magnesium of dolomitic limestone neutralizes soil acidity at least as well as does lime and has the additional advantage of supplying magnesium to soils deficient in this element of plant food. There will be no injurious concentrations of magnesium in the soil where the dolomitic limestone is used properly, reports Mr. Williams.

Cland Moore of Clay county has had an abundance of fresh vegetables for sale and for table use from a piece of poor land that he limed heavily last spring.
