BURNSVILLE—
"So They Say"

Tuesday's outdoor activity: Looking for, not at, those Victory gardens we are all raising. Never before was there a rain in Burnsville like the one that fell on Tuesday afternoon. Torrents rushed down every bank, streets were flooded in all directions and gardens simply washed away. There was extensive damage to crops too, especially tobacco that had been set within the past week or two.

We've never seen such an election day as Saturday was, either—No excitement, no rushing around, no hauling in, no "sudden prosperity" that we could note, no crowds, no speculating on outcome, no alterations—and not much voting either!

About town: John Robinson off to join radio service with War Dept.—Bill Clevenger visiting here and very handsome in air cadet uniform — Charles Allison also of air corps here, and Bill Allison out again after illness—Charlie Wright employed at Reece's, Bill Covey working with W.H. Hollemon. "Cuss Head" Rathbun back in town. Says he expects to hear Uncle Sam call soon, and we have an idea he can paint things up for the army!—A well guarded secret: the number of fish that fishermen Wilson, Hubbard, Glenn, Fox and King brought back from the Dan Boone refuge — Merritt Robertson here for visit from U. of Maryland — other school folks arriving too, for vacations — B. B. Penland driving again and about recovered from severe burns New members of fire department: Hershel Holcombe, Vernie Wilson and Harold Higgins.

Bertha M. Palmer came up Monday, and other camp folks will soon be arriving—Note from Stell Honeycutt who joined Alden in Sanford as soon as school was out—announcement of Lucille Wilson's engagement, and Connie Nichol's marriage — Isom Hensley now in Australia. Both Bubber Goodin and Arthur Pleasant wrote about the volcano in Hawaii Only three miles from Arthur's camp to a ring-side seat and said it was a wonderful sight — Down at Camp Claiborne, La. Henry Butner was very happy Sunday when he had guests for dinner from Camp Bureaugard, 18 miles away. The two guests were Cecil Byrd and Charles Northe—And from the boys in the 82nd Division at Camp Claiborne: "Well we sure are getting tough so we can get those Japs!" The boys in the 82nd are Conner Ogle, Biss Byrd, Lloyd Rathbun, Holsten McMahan, Arthur Tipton, and Woodrow Peterson. And we have an idea they are getting plenty tough.

FOOD FOR FREEDOM

ances, poor teeth, shifting aches and pains and emotional instability. Individuals on the border line of health cannot get or keep jobs, are inefficient and break down easily. An eminent authority of the Public Health Service says "Nutritional Diseases, in all probability, constitute our greatest medical problem, not from a standpoint of deaths, but from the point of view of disability and economic loss."

Naturally, feeding an army is somewhat beyond our comprehension but somebody will have to do that and the smaller things we do will help that effort indirectly. We do not lack the means to produce and provide food in abundance. This is one thing we are dependent on no other nation for. As a Nation, we surpass all others in rich and varied resources and it will be the duty of nutritional and marketing experts to devise plans whereby these products may be distributed and used throughout the land for the common health and happiness.

It will be our duty, as individuals to cooperate with any and all plans that are worked out to this end. To be sure, the most of us in this section can provide ourselves with enough protective foods such as milk, meat, eggs, cereals, fresh fruits and vegetables — milk and milk products for vitamin A—iron, phosphorus and protein. Fruits and vegetables for vitamins A, B. C. and G and many necessary minerals. Meats for proteins, which builds strong muscle and supplies vitamin B.

It is going to be necessary to plan and buy more wisely. The stretching of the household dollar will take on an added significance. Every time the housewife buys her household supplies, she draws on the nation, its limited supplies of raw materials, its labor forces, its factories and its transportation system of ships, trains and trucks. If she buys these goods wisely and conserves them carefully—if, in other words, she manages efficiently so as to get 100 cents worth in value as a return for every dollar spent, then she is making a direct contribution to the defense effort.

In this connection it may also be said that containers for food, tins and packaging materials are going to be scarce—so you may expect to be buying your food and household supplies packaged quite differently in the future.

It is false economy to buy short or to buy food that does not contain all essential qualities. Cost alone does not measure the desirability of the diet. A low cost assortment of foods chosen on the basis of food value, may give better returns in nutrition and health than a more expensive list chosen thoughtlessly. Some food groups are outstanding for only one nutritive value, while others have a combination to offer.

The food situation is such an extensive subject, that I am only trying to touch a few points generally. To me it means food for ourselves, 130 million strong, for 10 million British and for how many years to come we do not know. To be concise, we want meals that taste good, are ample, well balanced and that provide an abundance of proper necessities. Otherwise we will have a people with bodies that tire too easily, with minds too slow and bodies too weak to fight disease.

A large number of families not accustomed to growing vegetable gardens must begin now. An acceptable garden contains at least ten different vegetables with one-tenth acre per person for fresh supply and canning purposes. The surplus of the small garden must be taken care of to provide winter food supply.

We of the Extension service assure you of our interest in this particular field of defense and pledge our untiring efforts to put the program over the top—"Vegetables for Vigor and Victory"—We join you and all those of the earth in a united effort to keep a democracy that we may enjoy in comfort, tolerance and freedom.—(Dorothy P. Turner, Home Agent).

sufficient number of ration periods have expired during which the consumer —if he had ration stamps —might have purchased an amount of sugar equal to his excess.

This rule applies to those who did not receive War Ration Books last week because they possessed sugar in excess of six pounds each, as well as to those who were issued War Ration Books.

The OPA also issued a warning concerning lost War Ration Books. In the event a book is lost, a person may make application to his local rationing board for a new one but it cannot be issued to him until two months after the date of his application.

Consumers are asked to exercise the utmost care of their War Ration Books inasmuch as no exceptions will be made to the lost book rule. Persons claiming special hardship because of illness or other conditions beyond their control may take their cases up with their local rationing boards.
