NOTICE TO GASOLINE DEALERS

(Note: We have had so many requests for this information that we are reprinting this notice.)

1. All Gasoline Dealers Must Register!

Before opening for business on July 22, take an actual inventory of gasoline on hand. Write this inventory figure and your tank capacity on a piece of paper. Take this with you to your local Ration Board on July 22 or 23 and fill out application for dealers registration. Upon approval, you will be given a copy of your application, and Inventory Coupons to equal the difference between your gasoline on hand and your storage capacity.

EXAMPLE: Storage capacity 1,000 gallons—amount on hand 200 gallons— you receive Inventory Coupons for 800 gallons.

2. Dealers Must Have Coupons To Buy Gasoline!

Before you can buy any gasoline after 12:01 a.m., July 22, you must have a sufficient quantity of either Inventory Coupons or Consumer Coupons or both to cover the amount of gasoline to be delivered into your storage tank.

3. There Are Eight Different Types of Coupon Books.

"A" books contain 6 pages with 8 coupons to a page—a total of 48 coupons. The gallon value of each coupon will be announced by the Office of Price Administration. The coupons on each page are numbered differently for the reason that coupons on each page are good only for a specified two-month period.

EXAMPLE: All 8 coupons on the first page are marked A-1 and can be used only during the two-month period of July 22 to September 22. Coupons on second page are marked A-2 and are good only for the next two-month period, etc.

"B" books will have two pages of 8 coupons to a page and are issued as an additional ration for business needs.

"C" books contain 12 pages of 8 coupons to a page and are issued to those persons meeting special requirements.

"S-1" books for commercial, government-owned or leased vehicles, and small trucks will contain 96 coupons with a value of 5 gallons for each coupon.

"S-2" books for larger trucks will contain 384 coupons with a value of five gallons for each coupon.

All books except the "A" book will carry an expiration date on the front cover.

4. Before You Sell Gasoline To A Customer.

- Be sure you do this FIRST:
a. Ask for the Gasoline Ration Book.
b. Check description shown on front cover with vehicle for which gasoline is being purchased.
c. Observe the expiration date on front cover of ration book.
d. Be sure there are enough coupons good for current period to cover purchase.
e. Accept no coupons unless you detach them for they are detached in your presence.

NAVY

Asheville, N. C.—July 20 Chief Machinist Mate C.C. Smart will be in this territory next week for the purpose of interviewing additional men for the U. S. Navy. He will be in Burnsville on July 28 and August 4.

The Navy is pushing ahead in new ship construction and many more men are needed to man these ships. The Navy is prepared to train these recruits in trades for which they are qualified in some of the finest schools in the world. Base pay for Apprentice Seaman is now $50 a month, and allowances are made for dependents.

In addition, Chief Smart announces that although men are registered for Selective Service, or if they have received notices for physical examination or induction, they are still eligible to apply for the Navy.

Physical requirements have been modified to a great extent and men formerly rejected for defective teeth and poor vision, may now re-apply for enlistment in the U. S. Navy. Colored men are desired for enlistment in the Navy also. Chief Smart announces that during the past few months many colored men have been enlisted through the Asheville Station, and from those who have returned on leave, that they are unusually well satisfied with the Navy. They state that the food, pay, and environment agree with them.

FIRST TRIP HOME IN 37 YEARS

Thirty seven years ago a young man left his home near Ledger and went to Virginia to work. He stayed there for only a year or two, however, and set out for the west. He stayed there through the years, then a few weeks ago he decided to come home. He is now spending a visit (a more extended visit than he had planned) with his sister, Mrs. Deck Jarrett, here.

The man is J. B. Sparks, and the story of the years since he left this section is an interesting and full one.

In the early part of 1908 Sparks and his oldest sister and her family started for the west. His brother-in-law with one of his sons had gone earlier and settled in Baker, Ore., so the group joined them there in March of 1908.

The years that followed were very busy ones and the Sparks often thought of returning home for a visit he would not find the circumstances convenient to leave. He kept putting off till a future time that visit which he planned to make.

Soon after going west Sparks entered the motion picture theatre business in Portland and has been in the entertainment business most of the time since. He first began operating the projection machines back in the days of the 2-reel silent films. At one time, he recalls, he traveled for some weeks with that super-thriller wild western, "The Covered Wagon."

After working for several theatres, he decided to go into business for himself and after visiting a number of places he went to Heppner, Ore. and opened a theatre there which he operated for a number of years. Later he went to California where he located.

This spring Mr. Sparks decided that he was coming home. He started from San Francisco and drove to Chicago, where he visited, then started south. The trip, all the way from California, was uneventful until he was within 3 or 4 hours from home. Near Knoxville he was in an automobile accident and was seriously injured. He was placed in a cast from his shoulders down, and after remaining in the hospital for several weeks was brought to the home of his sister here.

If all goes well he'll be out of the cast on Sunday week which is his birthday. Then he'll be able soon to visit the scenes of his childhood and see the changes which nearly 40 years have brought.

Mrs. Sparks came from California when her husband was injured and remained with him until this week when she left for a short visit with relatives in Toccoa, Ga.

ten-year average of 42,293,000 bushels.

"SOME TURNIP"

Zeb King brought a turnip to town Monday that you won't believe until you see it. It measures over 24 inches around and weighs six pounds.

Mr. King says that this giant turnip and 10 bushels like it grew in his oat field. When he was planting the oats, Mrs. King brought a handful of Seven Top turnip seed to be planted at the same time. The turnips grew, and he waited till the oats were cut to harvest them.

Although the turnips are very large they are firm and sweet, Mr. King says.
