What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Barbed wire used by Uncle Sam's fighting forces is vastly different from that used on American farms. Army and Marine barbed wire is much heavier and the barbs, about three inches in length, are more vicious than ordinary barbed wire.

The Marine Corps pays fifty cents for each twelve yards, or 36 feet of this specially manufactured barbed wire. The Army and Marine Corps needs thousands upon thousands of feet for defensive warfare. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps will insure sufficient quantity for their needs. Invest at least ten percent of your wages in War Bonds every pay day. U. S. Treasury Department

Winter flying jackets for both the Army and Navy Air Corps are regular equipment for our aviators. They cost from $12 to $18 and are made of horsehide leather lined with sheep shearing.

Purchase of one $18.75 War Bond, for which you receive $25 in 10 years, will pay for one of these jackets so necessary for our airmen flying at high altitudes and in northern climes. So you and your neighbors can do your bit by investing at least 10 percent of your salary every pay day in War Bonds to help pay the cost of this equipment for intrepid American flyers. Join the parade, and help top the War Bond Quota in your county. U. S. Treasury Department

THE RED-WING BLACK-BIRD

The Red-Wing Blackbird is one of a list of seven suggested by the North Carolina Bird Club as candidates for selection as our State bird emblem. The others are the Wild Turkey, the Dove, the Red-Headed Woodpecker, the Wood Duck, the Catbird, and the Scarlet Tanager. It is thought to be desirable that we select some bird other than anyone selected by other states. As everybody has a right to a vote, by sending to L. H. Jobe, Raleigh, N. C., his or her choice, there probably will be other choices. It might be well to study the list above.

The Red-Wing is not a bundant in Yancey County. However, it is found in the Concord neighborhood and perhaps in some other localities.

Different individuals of this species vary greatly in size. Generally the length is from seven to nine inches. The male is bluish-black with red shoulder stripes bordered by yellow. The female is finely speckled with dim black; the shoulders are obscurely orange red. This variety is slow to take on mature plumage and color.

Swamps and roadsides are favorite nesting places. The nest is built, as a rule just a few feet above the ground in alders or other shrubbery; occasionally it is placed in a tuft of grass. From three to six is the number of eggs, which are finely marked with lines, dots, and patches of black and lilac. Frequently the same nest is used for two broods. The bird is gregarious. Many nests are often found close together.

A variety of food is consumed, consisting largely of weed seed, weevils, snout beetles, grasshoppers, snails and other crustaceans. Grain forms a very small item of its diet.

The vocal powers of this species are of some note. There are two periods, the first ending July, the second and shorter period coming in October.

The naturalist, Mathews, says that its song, the "Ballad of the Bog", is as follows: "O-ka-lee, Cong-quer ree, You choo-tea, along-tea! Gl-oogl-ee, conk-a-tree, Quang-se-tea, shoo-chong-tea!"

The Red-Wing is a very striking and beneficial bird. —(James Hutchins.)

Quite a number of the people in this community have been attending the revival at Green Mtn. Presbyterian church conducted by Dr. Robert King of Johnson City.
