WE MUST HAVE JUNK

Production in ever increasing volume is our hope of victory. For this we MUST have scrap materials. The shortage of materials again emphasizes the need for saving materials and for salvage.

WPA workers, beating the back roads of the farm country and digging old rails from city streets have turned up 100,000 tons of scrap metal—44,900 tons of it in the form of steel rails. Scrap rubber, 454,155 tons of it, is moving to reclaiming plants at the rate of 4,000 tons a day.

WPB's Conservation Division announced plans for a "Junior Salvage Corps" of school children—more than 30,000,000 of them—to conduct a nation-wide, house-to-house scrap canvass for two weeks beginning October 5. And the American Legion is discussing with local governments a proposal so that old cannon balls and cannon and the howitzers of 1918 may be scrapped to make the guns and tanks and planes of 1943.

Legion veterans have offered to give their own war relics—relics which, melted in the furnaces and refabricated in the arsenals, will help arm their sons who fight today.

All these enterprises will help but they are not enough. Only if each one of us does his part will we have enough—barely enough—for our needs.

FOR THE USO

YOU HELP SOMEONE
YOU KNOW WHEN YOU
GIVE TO THE U. S. O.

The following telegram was received Wednesday by G. L. Hensley, county chairman of the U. S. O. campaign for funds:

"Every county must produce its quota for North Carolina to do its part in national support of U.S.O. activities for our fighting men. Please make every effort to send completed report to Charlotte headquarters office by September 5 or soon thereafter. The men in our armed forces are depending on us.

Governor J. Melville Broughton, Honorary U. S. O. State Chairman. George M. Ivey, U. S. O. State Chairman.

THE YELLOW-BREASTED CHAT

The Chat is the largest of our big family of Warblers. It is seven or seven and one half inches in length. The upper parts are olive green, the sides gray, the breast and throat are bright yellow, the eye ring is white and there is a white stripe leading from the eye to the bill.

This bird, when abundant, is unlike the motto for children, frequently heard but not seen. It is very shy,

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The mess kit is one of the most important items in the Soldier's equipment. It consists generally of a pan, a plastic canteen and cup, a fork, knife and spoon, all in a canvas pack covers. The total cost runs up to about $2.00.

Canteens and other items such as handles on knives and forks, formerly made of aluminum, are now plastic. Alloy has replaced stainless steel. You can buy many of these mess kits for our boys with your purchases of War Bonds and Stamps. Invest at least 10 percent of your income in War Bonds or Stamps every pay day and top the quota in your county. U. S. Treasury Department

AMPLE GRAZING SPEEDS NATION'S FOOD EFFORT

Providing ample fall, winter and spring grazing for livestock and poultry is one of the principal steps inspeeding up the Nation's wartime drive for more food products, says F. H. Smith, agronomist of the Agricultural Experiment Station at N. C. State College.

Young tender forage plants, he explained, make an ideal supplement for the regular dry feeding of this time of year. The forage provides an appetizing succulent feed, rich in high quality proteins, vitamins, and minerals.

The exercise afforded and the exposure to sunshine while grazing further helps the values of the green feed and aids in keeping the animals and birds in thrifty condition. Milk and eggs are improved in quality and increased in quantity when cows and hens have good grazing.

Smith explained that it is economical to provide grazing for livestock and poultry because they harvest this rich quality feed themselves. This means a saving in labor to the farmer. Other savings are secured by more efficient use of the regular ration.

For example, the agronomist stated, swine require less grain and high quality protein when on pasture, and hens produce eggs five to ten percent cheaper when they have ample grazing.

Crops suitable for fall, winter and spring grazing are oats, barley, Abruzzi rye, Italia rye grass, crimson clover, hairy vetch and rape. The crop chosen should be one known to do well under local conditions.

County agents will aid in selecting such crops and advise them as to proper cultivation and fertilization practices.

pending most of the time in dense shrubbery and vines, uttering most of its notes in concealment.

The nest of this variety is large an usually is built in a bush from three to five feet from the ground. The eggs, three or four in number, are white spotted with red or lilac.

The menu consists of insects, the boll-weevil and the alfalfa beetle constituting a considerable part of the diet in places. It preys on many other insects.

Like the Jay, it is a humorist or jester. It utters a great variety of sounds. John Burroughs, the naturalist, says that when it is conscious of your presence it darts into the bushes and tunes up, no Frenchman rolling his r's so fluently.

However, it has a flight song thrillingly beautiful. Flying to a great height, it remains almost motionless for a moment, then it descends making many gyrations and assuming many ludicrous and grotesque poses before lighting at the original perch.

The Yellow - Breasted Chat is rare but present in Yancey County. Its great and most unusual qualities make it one of our quaintest birds.—(James Hutchins.)
