SELECTIVE SERVICE NEWS

MARRIED MEN FOR MILITARY SERVICE

The question is asked several times daily at Local Board Offices: When will your board begin sending married men with children? We might say that there is no set rule against that now. State and National Headquarters prefer sending to the army single men and married men who do not have children.

Each week several single men are deferred from military service because they are working in mines but replacements by the employers must be made as quickly as possible. If it is found that a married man who is physically able to do work and is not working for his family and in the interest of his country he will be placed in Class 1-A and sent to the Army as early as possible.

There are probably some men in this county who are married and have a wife and children who are not putting forth as much effort as they should to the support of the family. In many instances such men could apply for work at the mines or in some other industry and replace a single man who could go on and serve his country in a military way.

On the farm, in the mines, at the saw mill or where ever you are working your Government expects you to work at least 40 hours each week and even more if your employer or you, your self can arrange for more hours. If you are not working the 40 hours each week you may find your self called to Uncle Sam's Army.

You can contact the U. S. Employment Agent any Friday from 10:00 A. M. until 12:00 o'clock and he can tell you about the different jobs at which you may work.

Yancey County Local Board No. 1

On February 1-56 men left Burnsville for Camp Croft, S. C. for physical examination and induction into the Army. Of the above number almost 50 were of the teen-age. This Local Board is having examined weekly 30 to 35 young men for the military service.

Soon all the teen-agers are going to be examined, and then we will have to go right back to the men who are married but have no children. Not so many of this kind are left in the county. Then where do we go. We still have a number of single men and married men with no children in Shipyards, Bomber plants, etc. and we are taking them out by degrees. We can take them out only as fast as U. S. Employment Service can replace them.

All young men must register on the day they become eighteen years of age unless the birth date falls on Sunday or a Holiday, and if this is the case they must register the following day.

Classification cards have been mailed to most registrants. A few are yet to be mailed and are going into the mails daily. If you have received a card to report for the Army, for physical examination or a Questionnaire and have not complied you should do so before February 15. State Headquarters say all cases will be prosecuted after that date. If you are over 45 years of age you will not receive a classification card.

FARMERS FEDERATION STOCKHOLDERS WILL MEET

A serious shortage of repair parts for farm machinery is threatened, and farmers are urged to repair all old machines possible, while parts can still be obtained.

To assist in this movement, the Farmers Federation will send its machinery expert, Mr. Sam Nave, to Burnsville Saturday, to spend the day advising and assisting farmers about getting their parts. There will be no charge for his services.

Mr. Nave will be at the Farmers Federation warehouse. Stockholders will hold a meeting there at 10:30 A. M., complete with music and refreshments. The stockholders meeting and Mr. Nave's visit have been planned together to save transportation costs to both Federation officials and farmers.

Each farmer should bring in the old or broken part if he wants a replacement, Mr. Nave said. This will eliminate errors in ordering. Also, each farmer should know the make of the machine to which the part belongs, and if the part is not numbered, he should know all other details possible about the machine, such as capacity, size, model, etc.

Stockholders' meetings are held annually, and are called for the election of the county governing committee and the nomination of a director for the Federation. James G. K. McClure, Federation president, will preside.

This is the first time the stockholders' meeting has been combined with a visit by the Federation's machinery expert, and this is made necessary because of the grave shortage of repair parts in a time when increased production is required to win the war.

RATIONING BOARD NEWS

PLEASURE DRIVING VIOLATIONS

A hearing for the following persons has been held in the local rationing board office. They were charged with violating the pleasure driving regulations.

Earl Butner, reported by O. D. T., truck; Mrs. Arta Lee Higgins, Lee Yelton, William I. Parnell, Mack Thompson, Ben Gardner, Charles Allen, Jr.

Ben Gardner had sold car so no penalty; Charles Allen, Jr., lost one A coupon; the others were found not actually to have violated the regulations so no penalty attached.

The board warned that the rules governing pleasure driving would be enforced and that violators were liable for punishment.

Fred Proffitt has been confined to his home for several days because of flu.

Kerosene users must exchange old coupon books for new books anytime until Feb. 15 at the rationing board office. This should be done as quickly as possible as registration for permanent food rationing will probably begin the last of the month.

Persons who wait to register for kerosene till after Feb. 15 will be penalized 1 gallon per week.

Mrs. Genevieve Dennis of Pittsburgh will visit relatives here and in Asheville this week.
