Symphony Orchestra Will Give Concert Here March 26

Plans are being completed for the forthcoming appearance of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, which will give a concert at the School auditorium in Burnsville on Tuesday, March 26, it was announced today by Mrs. C. P. Rogers, of Burnsville, chairman of the local campaign committee.

The State Orchestra goes on tour March 11th and plays for ten weeks in almost every corner of the state. More than 50 towns and cities will have their own concerts, some by the Little Symphony, some with the full orchestra, and all will have free Children's Concerts.

The Children's Concert here will be given at approximately 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Instruction material has been sent to the local schools, and the children are being taught something about the music they are to hear. They will also have complete demonstrations of the various instruments of the orchestra, and will hear explanations of the meaning behind the music. All this is part of the educational program of the State Orchestra.

Admittance to the evening concert here is free to those persons who are members of the Symphony Society. Holders of General Membership cards may attend the local concert free. In cases where the local concert is being given by the Little Symphony, these members may also attend the nearest full-orchestra concert free, since the Society provides that all members may hear the full orchestra without charge. An Active Member may attend all the concerts in the state free.

Persons who wish to attend the local concert should contact the campaign chairman. It was announced that tickets will be sold to this single concert, provided there is enough room in the auditorium to accommodate extra listeners after the members have been cared for. Further details may be secured from the local

CANCER CAMPAIGN DRIVE NOW UNDER WAY

With the War over and the scientists turning their attention to the solution of various problems confronting the people we know that one of the major problems is to discover a cure for cancer. This disease is taking a terrific toll of the citizens of the United States.

It is reported that the largest percentage of deaths from this terrible disease is among children up to five years of age. The citizens of Yancey County have always met such obligations in a noble way and we are now called upon to contribute to this cause.

The following constitutes the Committee for Yancey County:

Burnsville Township
Mrs. Lee H. Griffith, Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Martha Westall, Mrs. W. K. Banks.

Cane River Township
Mrs. Harmon Peterson, Rassie Howell.

No Forms For Canning Sugar

Raleigh. — This year's home canners will not have to fill out application forms for canning sugar, OPA State Director Theodore S. Johnson reminded North Carolina housewives today. OPA District Offices, which now handle sugar rationing are not equipped to process the millions of requests that would result if users were required to make formal application for canning sugar, as was formerly the case, he said.

Canning sugar this season will be obtained through use of spare stamps contained either in Ration Book Four or on the sugar ration sheet now being issued in lieu of a complete ration book, according to the OPA announcement.

First spare stamp to be used especially for canning sugar is No. 9, which became valid Monday, March 11, for five pounds and remains good through October 31, Johnson pointed out. This and another stamp to be validated sometime in June or July will provide this year's allocation for home canning sugar, he said.

The use of spare stamps for canning sugar makes no change in the regular consumer sugar rations, which remain at five pounds for each four-month period. The next regular stamp becomes valid on May 1, Johnson pointed out.
