Good Health Association

Much interest is being aroused throughout the state in the recently inaugurated North Carolina Good Health Association.

The Good Health Association was organized 18 months ago at a meeting in Thomasville of more than 200 of the State's leading medical men and laymen. Its purpose is to permanently promote good health.

Its first objective, to this end, is the enlightenment of the people as to the need for more hospitals and health centers, more hospital insurance, more doctors and nurses, and more medical services in general. There will be no campaign to raise money, and citizens will not be asked to vote on an issue. The sole purpose of the organization will be to acquaint the masses with the shocking facts and to make them enthusiastic about good health.

Statistics clearly reveal the need for a program of better health in North Carolina. More than a third of the counties in the state have no hospital beds. North Carolina stands 42nd among the states in the number of hospital beds per thousand population. Forty four states rank ahead of North Carolina in the number of physicians per thousand population.

In the death-rate of infants, 38 states have a lower percentage than North Carolina. In 40 other states statistically speaking, a mother has a better chance of surviving childbirth than in North Carolina. And North Carolina led the nation in the percentage of its young men rejected by the draft for physical deficiencies.

North Carolina, in the opinion of medical experts can lick this health problem and take its place with other states that have overcome similar problems. It will take a prodigious amount of work.

Due to the greatly reduced number of troops overseas, the gift mailing period has been set from October 15 to November 15. With the change, officials expect that gifts will be delivered to the soldier in the days immediately before Christmas Day.
