BURNSVILLE "So They Say"

The weather! All the rain didn't fall before court week, as showers have continued. That hasn't kept the crowds away, however!

About town: We have long admired that magnificent oak tree in Dr. Robertson's yard, but now have learned that it is also famous! James Hutchins became interested in the tree and has learned these facts: Not only does it belong to the rare scarlet oak family but it is also the largest tree of that kind that has ever been found, anywhere! We'll try to get all details later but this is what Dr. R. told us this morning. . . . Note: Dorothy Ray is in Mission hospital and not Biltmore, and Mack who came back this morning said that she had her thyroid operation yesterday and is getting along nicely. . . . Sorry to learn that Mr. Burgin McIntosh is very low at his home. He has been ill for sometime. . . .

It isn't necessary to tell the children that the quarantine has been lifted to some degree—word like that gets around and the town has seemed to come to life again. Children may now visit in other homes, and go about except to public gatherings and meetings. . . . Lovely shower Tuesday night for Mary Blake at May Youngs home. . . . and tonight the Woman's Club is having the annual courtesy reception for all visitors in town. Please come, even if you have not had a personal invitation although the committee tried to invite every guest in the town. The affair will be held on the Square if it isn't raining, and in the high school library if it is. . . . Then everyone is invited to attend the concert of the choral group on Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the Playhouse.

The chorus will sing a number of selections, then there'll be solos by W. C. DeVeny, Clara Plonk, Doris Hunter and John English. Be sure to come. . . . Rehearsals under way for next play, under Rush Wray's expert direction. Number of local people in the cast. Plan to attend one or the performances next week end. (Can't promise that the next governor will be there again, though.)
