Food Handlers To Hold Meeting

A school for food handlers in this county will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week according to Jake F. Buckner, State Department of Health sanitarian for Yancey, Mitchell and Avery Counties. This will be the first school for persons handling food to be held by the State Department in this county; however, it is hoped that such a school may be held annually hereafter, he said.

The program will be changed each day, with a class beginning at 9 a. m. and ending at 10:30, and the same information being repeated at a class beginning at 2:30 p. m. and ending at 4:00. To receive full benefit from the school, it will be necessary to attend either of the classes for the three day period, Buckner said.

The school will be held under the direction of the State Health Department and the North Carolina Restaurant Association, with persons from Buncombe, McDowell and Burke counties participating in the program. A certificate will be issued to each person who completes the school, and for food handling establishments whose personnel completes the course, a plaque will be presented.

Wholesale suppliers will have on display all types of equipment used in food handling. Proper methods of serving and waiting on tables, and care of equipment and utensils will be taught.

The sanitarian expressed a desire for persons not employed as public food handlers, such as housewives and domestic workers, to attend the meetings.

Establishments in this county that are classified as public foodhandlers are:

- Bald Creek School Lunch
- Burnsville School Lunch
- Bee Log School Lunch, Bus Station Cafe, Carolina Cafe, Clearmont School Lunch, Mt. Mitchell Motel, Micaville School Lunch, Nu-Wray Inn, Oscar's Grill, Pete's Snack Bar, Sunrise Cafe, Young's Cafe, Edge's Meat Market, Economy Center, Johnson & Company, Proffitt & Company, Ray's Grocery, Super Market, Young's Market, Newdale.

MINING MEETING WILL BE HELD

A meeting to promote and expand mining in Western North Carolina will be held in Puncobbe County Courthouse, Monday, April 16, at 10 a. m. with several members of the U. S. House of Representatives Subcommittee on Mines and Mining attending.

Representative Monroe M. Redden of Hendersonville, a member of this Subcommittee, has indicated that representatives of the U. S. Defense Minerals Administration, Bureau of Mines, General Services Administration, Emergency Procurement Service and Defense Minerals Administration field office of Knoxville, Tenn. will attend.

Director George Ross and representatives of the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development will be in Asheville for the meeting.

J. Richard Queen of Waynesville, N. C., former secretary to Senator Broughton and Senator Graham and presently Staff Director for the Mines and Mining Subcommittee, is coming to Western North Carolina this week. He will hold a series of preliminary meetings with various operators and miners and will be available to help them draft the type of programs which they feel would be the most feasible for them to operate under during this present emergency.

Up to the present time the Defense Minerals Administration has not recommended any programs applicable for the minerals found in Western North Carolina. For this reason the Asheville meeting takes on added significance. No doubt the recommendations of the operators and miners will carry much weight with the Subcommittee and Government

SPY GETS 15 YEARS

New York, N. Y.—David Greenglass, spy, was sentenced to 15 years in prison for the part he played in stealing America's World War II atomic bomb secrets for Russia. This relatively light sentence was recommended by U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol because of

13 MEN NOTIFIED FOR MAY DRAFT

Induction notices have been mailed from the local Selective Board to thirteen men who will report for induction on May 2.

Those notified for the May quota are Kenneth Peterson, Kermit Blankenship, William R. Young, Robert Hall, Perry Pate, Vestel Edwards, Ramus Autrey, Ward Phillips, Hershel Phillips, Alvis McMahan, Richard D. Kates Lester McKinney, and Arnold Peterson.

The clerk to the local board said application cards and copies of a Bulletin of Information are available in the office here for those college students who wish to make application to take the College Qualification Test. Deferment of college students is controlled by grades made on these tests. The Bulletin of Information specifies places where such tests may be taken, the clerk stated.

RAY COMPLETES BASIC TRAINING

Pvt. William B. Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ray of Burnsville, is one of three Western North Carolina men who have just completed 14 weeks training with Service Company, 61st Infantry, of the famed 8th (Golden Arrow) Infantry Division, at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Pvt. Ray attended Bald Creek High School and was an employee of the Crown Corkseal Company of Baltimore, Md. prior to his induction in December, 1950.

Pfc. Junior C. Griffith from Camp Rucker, Ala., is at home here on emergency leave due to the illness of his grandmother.

Pvt. William M. Gardner, who is stationed at Fort Ord, Cal., is home on emergency leave due to the illness of his mother, Mrs. Lela Gardner of Riverside.

Former Burnsville Youth Home From Korea

Pfc. Garrett H. Riddle, son of Mrs. Herman Banks of Charlotte, who formerly resided in Burnsville, and the late Hobart Riddle, is a happy Marine. Garrett recently returned to the U. S. from the fighting in Korea on the rotation system.

He enlisted in the Marines in August of 1949 from Burnsville, and since that time, has seen some pretty heavy fighting, according to news releases. When the fighting broke out in Korea, Riddle was on duty with the Navy's Sixth fleet in the Mediterranean area. After the invasion of South Korea, he was placed on another ship which was headed in the direction of the fighting. He arrived in the fighting zone in time to help in the Inchon landing and aided the Marines in the recapture of Seoul.

Through the thick of some of the hottest battles, Pfc. Riddle escaped injury; however, one day while on patrol duty, his luck eased up some. The patrol had stopped to rest and Riddle removed his helmet to wipe the sweat from his brow when a sniper took a crack shot at him. The bullet grazed his head and put him in the hospital for five days. Following the few days in the hospital, he returned to duty and more fighting.

Riddle is home visiting his mother in Charlotte while on a relocations furlough. He will have 30 more days coming sometime this year.

He is the brother of Mrs. Henry Butner of Burnsville.

RISKS LIFE FOR FELLOW OFFICER

Washington, D. C.—The Navy has announced that Navy Pilot Lt. (JG) Thomas J. Hudner, USN, Fall River, Mass., above is the Navy's first winner of the medal of Honor for action in Korea. Lt. Hudner risked his life in an attempt to rescue a fellow airman Ensign Jesse Leroy Brown, first negro Naval Officer to lose his life in any U. S. war.

Many Attend Fellowship Meeting

More than sixty young people and their adult advisors attended the Yancey County Subdistrict Methodist Youth Fellowship meeting Monday night at the Burnsville Methodist Church. Burnsville won the banner for the highest attendance with Bald Creek and Martin's Chapel running close seconds.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Betty Ann Yelton, Bald Creek; Vice president, Thelma Ann Styles, Windom; Secretary, Sabra Sparks, Gelo; Treasurer, Christine Barber, Burnsville; Publicity Chairman, Ralph Boone Windom. Other officers will be appointed by this executive committee at its first meeting on Sunday, April 22 at 3 p. m. at the home of Margaret Wilson, retiring president. Installation of officers will take place at the next Subdistrict meeting, Monday, May 7, at Martin's Chapel.

Plans were made for representatives to attend a District Rally in Asheville on Sunday, April 29. The group will leave immediately after church services and will have a picnic dinner together at Lake Louise before going on to the Rally.

Announcements were made concerning a retreat for high school and older youth to be held May 25-27 at The Coyo, E. T. Erickson's place near Kalmia. Tentative dates for an Intermediate Camp were set for June 18-22. The camp site will be announced later.

After the business meeting, a program concerning the camps sponsored by the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church was presented. L. G. Deyton told of his experiences at Camp Tekoa last summer, and Miss Wilson described the Assembly at Lake Junaluska. Colored slides of both events were shown with a narrative by Rev. Manuel Holland. Rev. James Allred led the group in prayer. Following the program there was a social hour with games led by Mr. Phillip Nordstrom of the Celo MYF. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the Burnsville church.

FINAL RITES HELD FOR DIXON INFANT

Funeral services for Barbara Ann Diron, ten-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dixon of Asheville, were held in the West Burnsville Baptist Church Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Dixon was formerly Miss Edna Styles of Burnsville. Mr. Dixon was originally from Marion.

Burnsville Hosiery Mill Being Remodeled

Work is being carried on toward expansion of Burnsville Hosiery Mill. A new brick addition is being constructed on the south side of the building where the office will be located in the future.

Mr. C. O. Ellis, manager of the mill, said placement of new knitting machines in the mill made the expansion per week. But with the use of the new machines, production has been stepped up around twenty-five per cent, raising finished units to 5000 dozen pairs per week, the manager said.

The hosiery mill, which was the first of Burnsville's textile plants, to begin operation, started production about five years ago under Mr. Ellis' man-

Communities Invited To Enter Contest

The WNC Rural Community Contest is open to Yancey County communities again this year.

According to officials of the Asheville Agricultural Development Council, the contest is held each year between communities and is based on the theme: "There is no limit to what a community can do—if it wants to." It is purely a community project and was started a few years ago to aid in the improvement of rural communities in this section.

Any community in this county may enter the contest, but the closing date for entry in the community project is May 15. The contest will close on November 15 and judging will be made following that date.

As prizes for the winning communities, $1150. will be given. The Asheville Citizen-Times is giving $500. for first prize, $300. by Parkland Chevrolet as second prize and $200. by the same company as third prize, $100. and $50. will be the fourth and fifth prizes offered.

A score board will be kept in each community. Points will be given for such activities as painting mail boxes, roadside beautification, improvement of churches and grounds, community picnic, recreation programs, etc. Scores will also be made for farm and home improvement such as putting in electricity, running water, painting homes, seeding pastures and improving farm buildings.

Morris L. McGaugh, manager of the Asheville Agricultural Council, and Burwell Smith, Agricultural Agent for the Carolina Power and Light Co. have been active visiting communities in this county during the week. Visits were made to Celo Community, Bolens Creek, Jacks Creek, Brush Creek and Bald Creek where they talked with various community and church leaders concerning the contest.

Farm agent Dillingham reported that great interest has been shown by several Yancey communities and he hopes the county will be represented in the contest.

A meeting will be held in the Bolens Creek community at the church Wednesday night, April 18 to discuss their entry into the contest. Rev. A. Z. Jamerison will preside at the meeting.

VISIT HAS TRAGIC ENDING

Mrs. Claude Hunter of Cane River experienced a tragic visit to the home of her son, C. L. Hunter, in Morganton last week end.

She arrived at the home of her son Sunday. Early Monday morning she and her daughter-in-law left the house to do some grocery shopping before breakfast. The son was left asleep. When the women returned about fifteen minutes later, they saw the house enveloped in flames, with two fire engines and neighbors trying to get the fire under control. Mrs. Hunter said she almost died when she saw the flames for she thought her son was still in the house. She was told by spectators that her son was in a neighbor's house, badly burned.

An oil stove, which was between the sleeping man and the door, exploded. He awoke with flames all around him and ran for the door. Unable to open the door, he kicked a window out and jumped through. He was seriously burned about the face and hands, according to Mrs. Hunter.

Nothing in the house was saved and she left her son in the hospital undergoing treatment for his burns; but when Mrs. Hun-
