Local Breeders Announce Unique Stock Sale

Yancey Cooperative Breeding Association announced today the American Breeders Service from whom they purchase proved sire semen is holding one of the most unique sales known in livestock selling.

Yancey Cooperative Breeding Association has been informed that on May 5th at 12:30 p. m. at the Rock County 4-H Fairgrounds in Janesville, Wisconsin, the American Breeders Service will sponsor the first Proved Sire Breeders' Sale. The unique feature of this sale is that it will consist of entirely grade cows and heifers that are the artificial daughters of the Proved Sires of the Wisconsin Scientific Breeding Institute and the Northwestern Artificial Breeding Association, both American Breeders Service organizations. These 75 cows and heifers have been consigned by dairymen in southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois where artificial insemination with the use of registered high index proved sires of the American Breeders Service studs has been used.

Recognizing the fact that the breeder of registered cattle has adequate outlets for his surplus animals, and that the breeder of unregistered animals has no such suitable outlet, American Breeders Service (in consultation with the representative of the Proved Sire Artificial Breeding Associations serving the area) decided to make this a sale for grade animals.

The cows are required to be fresh or close up with at least 400 pounds of butterfat Dairy Herd Improvement Association records. Bred heifers, due before December 1st, 1951, and open heifers, must be out of dams with 400 pound Dairy Herd Improvement Association records, or sired by the American Breeders Service bulls.

Besides being the first such livestock auction sale, this sale will provide a high class market for such top quality females. It will in-

Parkway Official Defines Use Of Trucks on Parkway

"When used as a passenger car, light pickups up to a rated capacity of 3-4 ton are permitted to travel the Blue Ridge Parkway. Such vehicles are not allowed on the Parkway when they are used for trucking operations." This information was received today by District Ranger Gustaf P. Hultman from Superintendent Sam P. Weems in clarification of the rules and regulations governing the use of the Parkway. The district ranger has received a number of inquiries concerning the use of vehicles other than conventional passenger cars and this information is being made available in answer to them.

Motor Vehicle Bureau "Tightens Up" On Truckers

Raleigh, N. C.—The Department of Motor Vehicles reported today that enforcement of the new law imposing higher criminal and license penalties for overloading trucks has begun.

Instructions for enforcement of the new law, which was passed at the recent session of the General Assembly, have been issued to license inspectors and highway patrolmen.

Penalties for exceeding gross license limits and maximum gross weight limits on primary highways and posted limits for secondary roads are as follows:

For the first 2,000 pounds or any part thereof, one cent per pound.

For the next 3,000 pounds or any part thereof, two cents per pound.

For each pound in excess of 5,000 pounds, five cents per pound.

Limits include the weight of the truck and the load. Penalties will be assessed against resident and non-resident vehicles alike.

The law also authorizes peace officers to hold trucks for purpose of unloading excess weights. They may store vehicles until penalties are paid. The owner is responsible for storage charges. He or the operator must also care for excess loads removed from trucks without liability on the part of the officers, the State or municipalities because of damage or loss of such removed load.

The law further provides that any operator who refuses to permit a vehicle to be weighed or who refuses to drive a vehicle upon scales provided for weighing shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Under the law, the criminal penalty was increased to a maximum of $100 or 60 days imprisonment or both, fixing the penalty so that a justice of the peace does not have final jurisdiction in a case involving overloading.

notices and news, church programs, club news, farm news, home demonstration news, with all local and community news.

You do not expect so much service from any other source for so little pay. A progressive paper is the greatest medium for building a progressive town and community.

The subscription can only pay a fractional part of the cost of publishing a paper. Maybe no more than enough to pay for the blank paper and the ink used.

You owe it to your community to support your local paper in every way reasonable. No other advertising equals that placed in your local paper.

New Foundation Forms Link Between Education and Industry

NEW YORK—To promote understanding of the principles of democracy and freedom of opportunity in our free enterprise system, the Samuel Bronfman Foundation, established by the affiliated Seagram American companies with an initial contribution of one million dollars, entered into an agreement with the Graduate School of Business at Columbia University to provide funds annually for the following:

Samuel Bronfman

1. Establishment of the Samuel Bronfman Professorship in Democratic Business Enterprise; and an assistant professorship.
2. Establishment of the Bronfman Fellowships.
3. Research in the essential characteristics of democratic business enterprise.
4. Research which will create a better understanding of democratic business enterprise on the part of students, teachers and business executives.
5. A reference center, publications and other means of disseminating information about democratic business enterprise.

The Samuel Bronfman Foundation was established as a tribute to Mr. Bronfman who is president of the parent company, Distillers Corporation—Seagram Limited.

The program at Columbia University was accepted by Dr. Grayson L. Kirk, vice president and provost, who said that the agreement between the University and the Foundation was a new milestone in industry-education cooperation. He also expressed his pleasure in "this further evidence of the common goals of the United States and Canada." Mr. Bronfman is a Canadian.

"Time will, I am confident, confirm our conviction that the foundation of the Samuel Bronfman Foundation, by embarking on this project with Columbia University, have created a means of furthering democratic ideals," he said. "Never in our history was there a greater need for an understanding of democracy."

Mr. Bronfman, in his response, asserted:

"I am particularly pleased that one of the first dispositions of this foundation is to be for the establishment at Columbia University of a department devoted to the study of the system of democratic opportunity under which we live; its advantages, its humane philosophy and its creative purpose, its superiority over all other systems of government or economic organization.

"For here at this great center of learning, students will be trained to participate in the march of progress which our system fosters. Here research will be undertaken so that whatever is improvable, whether in our policies or our technique, may be improved. Here leaders of industry and men eminent in their fields will be heard, giving of their experience and their knowledge. Here the people of this country and this continent will be shown in striking detail what they already know and feel in general outline—the blessings that stem from our system; and hence will issue to all corners of the globe the truth, the magnetic and compelling truth about our way of life."

The Bronfman Foundation's objectives in establishing the program are as follows:

1. To study and teach the essential characteristics and techniques of democratic business activity and to promote and disseminate such knowledge to the maximum number of present and future students, teachers, and business executives.
2. To study the problems of overall management of business and of the administrative processes which facilitate innovation and growth.
3. To make a significant contribution to the progress of industry; to advance the thinking of the community as a whole; and to make it clear to an enlarged section of the free world that individual enterprise plays a vital role in the modern economy.

Dean Philip Young said the Bronfman Professor of Democratic Business Enterprise would be named shortly and would assume his post on July 1. The program as a whole will be instituted next fall.

The details of the Bronfman Fellowships have not yet been determined.
