

In a few days, those dahlias that you left in the ground over winter will send up sprouts. They should be dug up, divided and replanted. If they are not taken up and divided they will send up several stalks which will give you some nice early blooms, but the fall flowers will usually be inferior. In dividing dahlia clumps be sure that each division has at least one root and one good eye or sprout. There is no advantage in having more than that. If you took up the dahlia clumps last fall and put them in storage you will find that they are beginning to show well-developed eyes or sprouts and can be easily divided now. After dividing, keep them covered with slightly dampened peat moss or sawdust so that they will not dry out until it is time to plant. In the central portion of the state a good planting date is May 1 to 15; in eastern areas a few days later would be best and in the mountains early May would be about right.

Dahlias grow well in any type soil as long as it is well drained. If the soil is not well drained you may lose many plants after periods of heavy rainfall. On the other hand, it is necessary to keep dahlias well watered during extended periods of hot, dry weather.

Dahlia roots may be purchased now at seed stores or from certified dahlia nurseries. A few good, well-tried, large-flowered varieties are: Cherokee Brave (red), Edna D. (red), Jersey's Beauty (pink), D-Day (pink), Kirsten Flagstad (orange), California Pageant (orange), Jane Cowl (buff), Edgar Guest (yellow), Allegresse (yellow), Clamour (purple), The Real Glory (white), 5-Star General (cream pink) and Jean Trimbee (purple).

Good small flowered varieties are: Baby Royal, Fairy, Fuchsia Gem, Red Charm, White

AGE-OLD EASTER MESSAGE

Q—Is the so-called Hoover Commission a bi-partisan Commission?
A—Technically it is bi-partisan, the legal entity as set up by Congress including six Democrats and six Republicans with Mr. Hoover as Chairman. However the resolution also calls for a vice chairman who has never been elected, and Solomon Hollister, a Republican, acts as executive director. The first Hoover Commission named by President Truman operated under Mr. Hoover as chairman and Mr. Dean Acheson, a Democrat, as vice-chairman. But there is a private organization, privately financed, known as the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report, which is not considered bi-partisan, and which issues releases concerning the work of the Hoover Commission which are far from bi-partisan.

Q—Can you give me some information about how many Credit Unions there are?

A—According to latest statistics there are about 18,000 credit unions in this country and Canada with about 9 million members with assets of more than $2 1/2 billion dollars. In 1954 they accounted for approximately 11% of consumer borrowing. Essentially a credit union is an organization of people, usually people employed together, who agree to save their money together and to make loans to each other at low interest rates.

Q—Has there been a bill introduced in the 84th congress to regulate bank holding companies?

A—Yes. The number is H. R. 2674.

THE HUSBAND'S CORNER

By R. W. HEMSCH, President, HUSBANDS PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION

Cave Men Had The Right System

Long ago, when men lived in caves, they knew how to handle their women. When the cave- bride was carried or dragged to her new home, she had a pretty good idea who was going to be the boss.

Her caveman had a big club, but he seldom had to use it. Everything was under control and they lived happily ever after.

Certain changes have taken place since then. Men have become civilized. Nowadays, a man goes to a great deal of trouble to acquire a wife. He showers her with kindness and attention. She makes him think she wants to love, honor and obey . . . and so he marries her.

What Happens?

He carries her across the threshold, and as soon as he gets her inside, she puts her foot down.

That's when the trouble starts. Right away, she wants to give orders. She lets him know she expects to be the boss.

The cave woman was afraid of her man, but the modern wife isn't a bit scared of her husband. She knows he won't even so much as flip her with a wet towel.

Spanking Is A Lost Art

Men don't even spank their wives anymore. Husbands today are just big, soft, easy-going, kind-hearted, good-natured, chivalrous dopes.

Are today's women satisfied? No. Do they appreciate their husbands? No. Instead, they insist upon being treated with great consideration, and then . . . dream about being carried off by a caveman.

He Let Her Have It

Most husbands are perfect gentlemen, but at times even man wonders if the cavemen didn't have the best system after all. There are times when a man can stand so much and no more, like the man who was brought into court for hitting his wife.

"Why did you do it?" asked the judge.

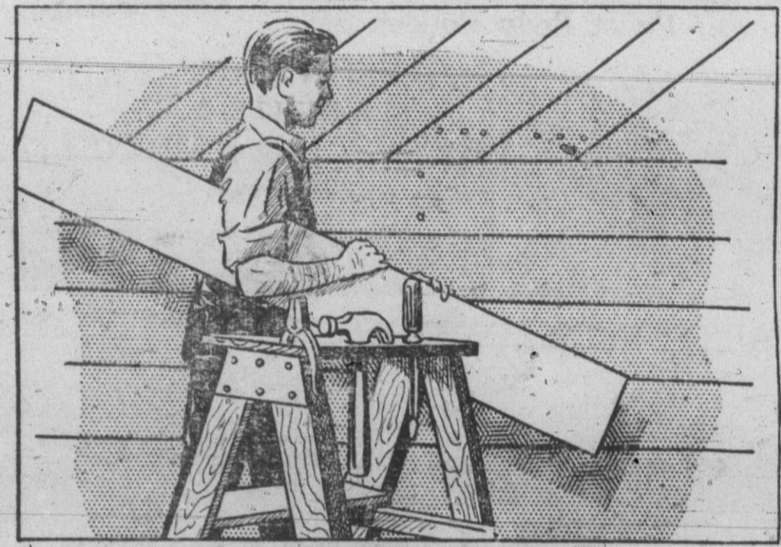

"Well, your honor, it was like this," replied the husband. "The door was open, she happened to bend over, the broom happened to be handy — and I just let her have it."

Married men don't live longer than single men, it just seems longer.

"Watch your step, or I'll learn stenography and become your office wife also!"

FENCE LINES

TOOL HOLDER . . . Dropping tools from the top of a ladder where they are momentarily placed is an inconvenience that can be prevented by boring holes large enough to receive the blades or handles of the tools in the top tread of the ladder.

Why Tire Prices Have Gone Up

PRICES OF ALL TYPES OF TIRES HAVE GONE UP FASTER IN RECENT MONTHS THAN EVER BEFORE WHEN THERE WAS NO WAR.

PRESENT PROSPECTS ARE THAT MORE INCREASES WILL BE MADE BEFORE LONG.

SINCE LAST FALL THE PRICE OF NATURAL RUBBER HAS JUMPED FROM 22 TO 38 CENTS A POUND.

IT LOOKS AS THOUGH THAT TYPE OF RUBBER WILL GO EVEN HIGHER.

WHY? HEAVY DEMAND AND FEAR OF WAR IN ASIA ARE GENERALLY HELD TO BE THE MAIN REASONS.

We Have No Control Over Tire Prices

AS DISTRIBUTORS OF TIRES WE HAVE NO CONTROL OVER PRICES.

TIRE MAKERS ALSO ARE GOVERNED BY THEIR COSTS WHEN THEY FIX PRICES. RUBBER IS ONE OF THEIR MAIN ITEMS OF COST.

We Make No Recommendations To Our Customers On Prices

IN SPITE OF WHAT SEEMS CERTAIN TO BE AHEAD IN THE WAY OF HIGHER TIRE PRICES, WE MAKE NO RECOMMENDATIONS TO OUR CUSTOMERS.

BUT WE DO WANT THEM TO KNOW THAT WHERE PRICES GO IS ENTIRELY BEYOND OUR CONTROL.
