VIOLET RAYS ON OUR WAYS
 BY H. M. ALLEY

Note: This column is written with malice toward none, but with the common good of all in mind

More welcome news: the prospect of more paved streets in the town of Burnsville, according to announcement from Mayor Reece McIntosh, appearing in last week's Record. This news will be especially appreciated by those living along the routes to be thus improved, as well as by all drivers of automobiles within the town limits.

There is another class of people in Burnsville who would just as warmly welcome some news or promise of new sidewalks, and improvement to some already built which are in sad need of repair. There are still quite a few people here as elsewhere who for one or more reasons do not jump into a car every time they need a loaf of bread from the corner grocery. And yet these are just as deserving citizens as those who ride in installment-bought automobiles, fueled with gas often bought on credit. Accordingly, they should have sidewalks where they can walk in a little safety from heavy traffic on the streets.

Sidewalks should certainly be extended to the town limits along the main street and highway. Costly? Doubtless it would take a considerable bit of money. But funerals are also costly. And it is a matter of common knowledge that beyond the present limits of sidewalks on either end of town, are 35 mile speed zones, where the lives of innocent people who have to walk are daily endangered by reckless and careless drivers, who seem to take a fiendish delight in crowding pedestrians off the road. There are numerous instances where these ickety-split drivers have splattered the clothing of pedestrians with muddy water in rainy weather. And still more serious, there have been several near accidents, which would most surely have been fatal to one or more innocent and helpless people walking to or from town.

By all means pave every street possible. But please give a thought to the many adults and children who still must walk, and provide a dry smooth surface for them alongside the streets just as rapidly as means will allow.

Uncle Josh says: "Clar t, goodness hit's a-gittin plumb dangerous to be ketch'd alive on most roads an streets now-a-days. Down to Cedar Crick, U. S. A., whar at

I lives, same as in Burnsville, an other places, they's 'bout two thirds of the autyble travel what ain't necessary a-tall. Bust my galluses, gentlemen, as I allus says, autybles hev nigh bank-ripp'd the kentry. Many a family e'd a-owned a nice home with what they've spent fer cyars. An some as did hev their own homes losted 'em a tryin to out-do ther naybors in the fancy autybles they rid in.

"Me, I were like everbody else, a-thinkin they weren't no livin 'thout a cyar. So, I ups an buyed one, an fast ye knowed, I were a-doin like most folks, a-go'in bout twice as much as necessary. Wal, when Salley, my wife seed how I were n'glectin the corn an taters she took an hid the cyar keys. Then come time to git a new tail tag, she wouldn't loan no butter an sig money to buy hit with. So, the old cyar's a standin out thar kivered with dust an rust. But as Salley says, we'uns own the shed what shelters hit, which I reckon is mor'n most can boast of." Nuff Sed.

GI LOANS AVAILABLE TO VETERANS

Veterans having GI loans on their homes, farms or businesses can make extra payments to the lenders at any time, or can pay off the entire loan without a penalty charge, Veterans Administration announced in response to numerous inquiries.

The minimum extra payment a veteran may make on his loan, VA said, is at least the amount of one month's payment, or a flat $100.

If a veteran who makes payments in accordance with this proviso wishes to, he may have the extra principal re-applied later to regular payments, provided the lender agrees. The purpose of this arrangement would be to prevent the loan from going into default at some future time, should the veteran later become hard pressed for money to meet future regular payments.

About 1,076,000 loans have already been repaid in full since the beginning of the VA loan program in 1946. This represents about one out of every four loans guaranteed or insured by VA.

Q—I applied to VA for disability compensation by a letter. VA sent me a formal application form to be filled out. Is there any time limit on mailing this form back to VA?

A—The form should be returned to VA within one year from the date it was sent to you, in order for VA to consider your original letter as the effective date of your application.

Q—If a veteran is going to school full-time under the Korean GI Bill, would he also be eligible to draw GI unemployment allowances, since he was not employed?

A—No. The law prohibits full-

The angels held a conclave
 (They have a common mind)
 to look the cosmos over
 God's loveliest gift to find—
 Oh, the fragrance of the roses,
 The fields of daffodils,
 Scenes the dawn discloses,
 The glory of green hills,
 Gems from the deepest oceans,
 The starlit heaven above—
 The greatest gift is Calvary,
 The tenderest of all love.

time Korean GI Bill trainees from receiving unemployment allowances at the same time.

Q—I am covered by a $10,000 Korean GI term insurance policy. I have just gone to work as a test pilot for an aircraft manufacturing company. Since this job is considered hazardous, will it have any bearing on the extent of my insurance coverage?

A—None whatsoever. GI insurance has no restrictions as to type of occupation. Neither the terms of the contract nor the amount of the premium will be affected by the type of job you hold, no matter how hazardous it might be.

Q—I am drawing VA disability compensation payments. If I move, is it possible for my checks to be forwarded to my new address?

A—No. Under the law, VA benefit checks may not be forwarded from one address to another. So if you are planning to move, be sure to notify VA—and give both new and old address, full name and "C" number.
