CLEARMONT HIGH SCHOOL NEWS
Student Council

One of the many new organizations this year at Clearmont is the Student Council. It was organized to help the students by helping themselves. Some of the many duties of the council are keeping order on the buses, in the halls, in the lunchroom and also in the classroom. The president is Janet Sue Gornito; vice president, Evelyn Ayers, and secretary, Eloise Tipton. The Council meets each Monday morning under the supervision of Robert Howell.

Yearbook Staff

The yearbook staff of Clearmont is making plans for a bigger and better yearbook this year.

The staff under the direction of Robert Howell is working very hard to make this the best book the school has ever had.

Monogram Club

The Monogram Club has been quite successful. There are thirty members on the club roll. The club officers are Benny Deyton, president; Junior Robinson, vice president, and Jeralyne Wilson, secretary-treasurer.

The club's first project is selling season tickets for our home games. Each person is expected to sell at least two. The aim of the club is to raise money to buy new uniforms for the Clearmont teams this year.

Glee Club

The Clearmont Glee Club is anticipating a big year. The officers are Betty Young, president; vice president, Junior Robinson; secretaries, Barbara Hughes and Gerald Garland; pianist, Janet Sue Gornito. The Club is directed by Bob Howell.

The group, composed of 45 students in cooperation with the Dramatics Club is now working on a difficult, but very beautiful

Christmas cantata.
Clearmont Juniors To Present
"Meet Me In St. Louis"

"MEET ME IN ST. LOUIS", a play based upon the best-selling novel by Sally Benson, will be presented by the Clearmont Junior Class, Wednesday, November 21st.

The cast has been completed and everyone is hard at work getting this delightful family comedy in readiness. The cast of characters and all particulars will be announced later.

The play is under the able direction of Bob Howell, senior sponsor.

Basketball Season To Open Soon At Clearmont

It seems that everyone around Clearmont is beginning to get basketball fever. The girls team, who had two forwards and two guards to graduate last year, have only two of last year's line-up. With the addition of Betty Young and promising juniors and sophomores, the Clearmont Tigeresses are looking forward to a successful season.

The boys team has a complete roster of returning lettermen, and equally expect a highly successful basketball season.

The managers are Gene Tipton and Jim Evans. Clearmont coaches are John Hansil and Reese Wilson.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT NEWS

Dr. Cameron F. McRae, of Burnsville, attended a meeting of the executive committee of the North Carolina Council on Human Relations Oct. 29, in Durham. He also visited the offices of the State Board of Health and the state Army Reserve headquarters, in Raleigh, and the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

F. R. Blaisdell, engineer in the Western District Office of the State Board of Health, worked in Yancey County recently with Jake F. Buckner, district sanitarian, and H. D. Justice, county superintendent of schools, on sewage disposal facilities and water supply for the two new high schools.

Overlook On Life

By WARREN S. BEEVE

Note: The idea of "Overlook" is taken from the "Overlooks" provided for viewing panoramas along the Blue Ridge Parkway.

Now that the election is over, LET US HAVE A FAITH IN GOD regarding it!

As I write this article on Election Day morning, I do not know what tomorrow and next year will bring forth. I can only guess whether President Eisenhower will be re-elected, or whether Adlai E. Stevenson will win the majority vote of our nation. Will Congress be dominantly Republican? or dominantly Democratic? And what candidates for state and local office will be victorious? By the time this appears in print, you will know.

Although the will of the majority will be expected to prevail, the two-party system that, in effect, we may be said to have in this country, implies that usually there is a large minority both in Congress and among the voting constituency of the land. It is inevitable, therefore, that thousands of people will be disappointed at the outcome of the election. Some may feel that prejudice, resentment, hope for selfish advancement, the influence of money interests, or what we in general call "politics" lie behind the political victories of the successful candidates and of the successful party. They may feel that too many of our people voted, not with the best interests of the country as a whole in mind, but because they were duped by party propaganda or influenced in unworthy motives.

Even if all the above be true, let me say that it is right for us, nevertheless, to have a faith in God regarding the outcome of the election. In spite of every political manipulation and in spite of everything that is a betrayal of the noblest ideals of this nation, God's hand has still rested upon us. His control over us has not been entirely withdrawn.

Think of how many prayers have been prayed for our country! Even though there is much in our national life that is very displeasing to Almighty God, there are at the same time vast numbers of good people — people who are thoroughly Christian, people who are earnest and sincere — throughout the length and breadth of America. Only God can count the prayers this great company of people have prayed day by day for their country, for its president, for the Congress, and for others in positions of authority. Only God can measure the influence of prayers regarding this last election that has taken place. Moreover, when you think of the thousands of churches of the various denominations in which from Sunday to Sunday pleas have gone up to the Heavenly Father that He would bless and lead our nation, should we not assure ourselves that the election results were in answer to prayer? Should we not bow ourselves in humility and thankfulness for GOD'S PART in the pre-election activity. Who can say to what extent He was a determining force in the formulation of the public opinion which had its expression at the polls on Tuesday?

Now let us go on praying for our country and for those who fill its public offices. Perhaps we should not drop the defeated candidates from mind right away either, but pray for them too. In their acceptance of defeat, they still are servants of their country; and whether in victory or defeat, all are always servants of God — or they ought to be. And should we not pray for each political party, wishing that their leaders might give a thought now and then to the honor their party owes to God.

In the last line of the last verse of "America", our former national anthem, we acclaim as "King" Him who is the Sovereign over all countries and even over the entire universe: Let us still be a nation "under God", as Lincoln said, and let our national life, both in our thoughts and plans; in the formulations of policies and in all that is enacted and done be for the glory of the "Great God" who is "our King".

You don't have to be a PENNY PINCHER

Getting ahead financially is not a matter of "pinching pennies." Quite to the contrary! Actually you can spend money more happily (because free from worries and misgivings) once you have embarked on a program of systematic saving. First step is to establish the amount that you reasonably can and most certainly will save each payday. Then see to it that these dollars go promptly into your savings account every week . . . before they have a chance to go elsewhere. You'll have more fun spending what's left . . . when you do your saving FIRST!
