"One of the best ways for North Carolina farm families to make up for income lost through acreage cuts and other causes, is to grow most of the food they eat," so say Governor Hodges and his Advisory Committee.

"North Carolina farmers spend approximately $275 million a year for food and could save an estimated $183 million by producing two-thirds if their food on the farms. Figures for 1954 indicate that 14 per cent of North Carolina farms grew no vegetables, 24 per cent had no chickens, 31 per cent had no swine, 50 per cent had no milk cows and 42 per cent had no cattle for beef."

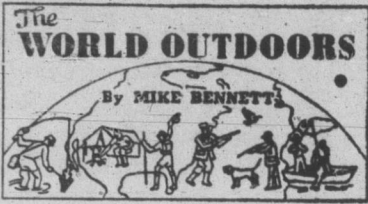

"To buy all of the food necessary to eat well for one year would cost about $366 per person. This amounts to $1,831.25 per year for a family of five, which is equivalent to the gross income from about two acres of tobacco, 12 acres of cotton, 12 acres of peanuts or six milk cows. Statistics show that at least one person out of every five in North Carolina does not eat daily the food needed for best health. Foods most lacking are milk, fruits and vegetables."

In connection with foods that can be produced on the farm, our Extension Specialists have records to show that, for a family of five, the net income from a one-half acre vegetable garden is $406.40. If you grow tree fruits, pecans, small fruits, grapes and figs, the figure would be considerably larger. Is this a challenge?"

I have departed a little from the usual today but here are other interesting statistics. Some 40 per cent of the foods we eat come from fruits and vegetables, either fresh, canned or frozen. In 1956, the baby food industry processed 106,600,000 dozens of packages of baby foods. In that year 4 million babies were born. In 1970, 8 million are expected. This is a small but healthy and well-fed per cent of our population.

These are challenging times and will test the mettle of every responsible citizen in North Carolina. Don't be afraid of changes because they are coming whether we like it or not. We will solve our problems only to the extent that each of us is willing to make our contribution in the home, on the farm and in industry and business.

A HIKE in the cost of duck stamps to acquire needed money for refuge acquisition has been proposed by Daniel H. Janzen, director of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. The proposal, which has the approval of the Bureau of Budget, would add one dollar to the cost of the stamps, bringing them to $3. Nearly all of the proceeds from the sale of the stamps would be earmarked for an accelerated waterfowl refuge purchase program. Only deduction that would be made is the Post Office charges for printing and distributing the stamps, estimated at $144,000 annually. The new fee would make about $6,606,000 available for land purchase, four times the amount budgeted for the coming fiscal year.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service believes an additional 4 million acres of wetlands is needed to round out the Federal waterfowl holdings at 7 1/2 million acres, the minimum necessary to assure the preservation of ducks and geese. Under the proposed new program, it would still take an estimated 25 years to achieve the 7 million acre goal.

The game warden, like the Mountie, usually gets his man. In California, Warden Floyd Loots found parts of a 20-year old newspaper stuck to a discarded deer hide. Stamped on the bloodstained scrap was a post office box address.

Warden Loots traced down the subscriber, who was not the man. Loots then checked on the occupants of the house where the subscriber had lived in 1937. One of them admitted illegally taking two female deer . . . was fined $900 and jailed in lieu of payment

Attention Fishermen

Since fishing season is almost here, it would be well to note that there is an exception to the rule allowing night fishing. The lakes and streams on the Blue Ridge Parkway are open to fishing only from sunrise to sunset. Two other Park Service rules which fishermen are often not aware of are as follows: (1) Only one fishing pole to a fisherman, and (2) no fish alive or dead may be used as bait while fishing in the lakes.

For those of you who would rather fish in a lake, the Trout Lake in the Moses H. Cone Memorial Park has been well stocked again this year with 2500 - 6" to 14" Rainbows. This lake, which is on the Blue Ridge Parkway, is located near Blowing Rock and is maintained by the Park Service for your pleasure. Good fishing!

Easter Seal Sales Support Camps For Crippled Children

Every effort is being made by the North Carolina Society for Crippled Children and Adults to give every citizen of the state an opportunity to aid the physically handicapped. Easter Seals have been sent to the people as a reminder that by contributing to the fund drive, the true meaning of Easter can better be known. Let the handicapped live again.

The Easter Seal Society maintains two summer camps for crippled children, one for white and one for Negro crippled children. A camping experience will again be provided for crippled adults. The camp for white crippled children and the adult camp is held at Camp South Toe River near Burnsville. The Negro camp is held at Swansboro at the sea. About 200 children attended the camps last year.

SIGNAL TURNS IN ADVANCE

PROTECT YOURSELF

GIVE OTHERS A CHANCE

Last year 1700 traffic accidents were caused by improper signaling, according to the State Department of Motor Vehicles. Whatever your opinion of hand versus electric signaling, safe motorists must agree on two such points:

First, hand signals are required by law and it is our duty to obey the law.

Second, it is highly important to give hand signals correctly. Otherwise they become more of a nuisance than a help.

To obey the law, and to avoid turning or stopping accidents, get in the proper lane, give the correct signal and maintain control of your car at all times.
