Mrs. William Hess and Mrs. Arney Fox are leaders of Brownie Troop 86.

"Plant Trees--Grow Jobs" Campaign Underway

The first major offensive in the "Plant Trees -- Grow Jobs" campaign to redouble the rate of reforestation in the seven Tennessee Valley states is now under way.

Workmen in the state tree nurseries have begun the winter-long task of lifting, bundling and shipping half a billion infant trees which by the turn of the century can become the basic raw material providing jobs for five thousand persons.

In Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia, this is the beginning of the tree "planting season," the first since the gigantic reforestation drive was announced jointly this fall by the governors of the seven Tennessee Valley states and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The "Plant Trees -- Grow Jobs" slogan is significant. It means that everybody, not just the landowners, has a stake in providing the raw materials for future industries. The landowners get the immediate income from the sale of pulpwood and timber, but our children and grandchildren get the jobs in wood-using industries. Foresters figure that each 1,000 acres of planted pine trees provide the base for 10 new jobs in industry. That is the basis of
