Travel Bureau Will Up-Date Informational Bulletin on N. C. Industrial Tours

The Travel Information Bureau is getting ready to up-date their informational bulletin on N. C. INDUSTRIAL TOURS.

These are proving of great interest to tourists, particularly those from out of state. A Winston-Salem tobacco firm had its million-and-first visitor through its newest plant last week. Companies are finding that there is no better way to advertise their products than by letting the consumer see them being manufactured. Since the first plant prepared for regular guided tours, several years ago, sixty-four other firms have begun allowing visitors to see their operations.

Many industries are represented among the group. Leading off the list are: all major tobacco companies, textile plants, electronic manufacturers, missiles, light and heavy machinery, chemicals, research units, glass, furniture, foods, papers, leather, cosmetics, boxes, handicrafts, clay products, hosiery, and wearing apparel.

"We still need many more industrial tours to help us tell the North Carolina story," said C&D Director Robert Stallings, Jr. "Interested companies should write to our Travel Information Division, C&D, Raleigh."

Letter To Editor

The Yancey Record City

In leaving Mitchell-Yancey Health District, I wish to say good-bye to all my new found friends and acquaintances. What better way than to quote from Shakespeare's Julius Caesar.

"And whether we shall meet again

I know not

Therefore our everlasting fare well take:

Forever, and forever, farewell

Cassius!

If we do meet again, why, we shall smile;

If not, why then this parting was well made."

Sincerely,

T. F. Hahn, Jr., M. D.
