Roberts Officially Launches Campaign For Congress

Clyde M. Roberts officially launches his campaign for Congress Tuesday at a fund-raising dinner in Marshall High School lunchroom at 5 p. m. A rally on Robert's behalf is to be held at the Madison County Courthouse after the dinner at 7:30.

Roberts a Marshall attorney, has already visited many sections of the 11th Congressional District.

CLYDE M. ROBERTS

On several occasions he was accompanied by Robert Gavin, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, and acted as Gavin's introductory speaker.

Earlier on Tuesday Roberts will appear on the Channel 13 Noon News program for a televised interview.

He will tour western counties in the District later in the week.

The G. O. P. candidate for Congress was born in Madison County and attended Marshall High School. After graduating from the University of North Carolina and before resuming private law practice, Roberts served as Clerk of Superior Court in Madison.

Later political offices included Attorney for Madison County, Representative in the General Assembly of 1949, Mayor for Marshall, and State Senator for the 30th Senatorial District.

Roberts served overseas with the United States Navy in World War II. He is married to the former Lucille Roberts and has four children.

Quality Education In Reducing The Trail of Litter

(From The Raleigh News & Observer, Sept. 4, 1964)

One phase of quality education in which parents, teachers and pupils might all join would be in an effort to reduce the trail of student litter between the home yard and the school grounds.

"Protect our children," say signs on town and city streets. Cops guard their crossings. Special laws protect their buses. Stores urge parents to spruce up the boys and girls for the school year.

All that is splendid. But a real part of their education not only as men and women but as ladies and gentlemen would be their learning that clutter, litter, mess are not parts of civilization or plain civic civility.

Planning Meeting On School Bond Election

A non-partisan statewide planning meeting to provide badly needed classrooms in the public schools of North Carolina will be held at Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium on October 1 at 10 a. m.

The session will initiate the drive for approval of the $100 million school bond election which goes to North Carolina voters on November 3.

Governor Terry Sanford issued the call for the meeting at the request of educational leaders and several statewide organizations among the sponsors for improving the classroom situation in this State.

The organizations which joined in the request to the Governor were the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners, the North Carolina School Boards Association, the United Forces for Education, the North Carolina Education Association, the Division of Superintendents of the North Carolina Education Association. Also joining in the effort are Dr. Charles F. Carroll, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; State Senator Edgar Gurganus of Martin County, and State Representative Allen Barbee of Nash County, representing the General Assembly.

Governor Sanford invited "all North Carolinians who are interested in better education for our sons and daughters" to attend the meeting.

Among those expected at the meeting are members of the county boards of commissioners and county boards of education, county and city superintendents of school and county boards of education.

Said Governor Sanford: "At this meeting we will discuss plans for acquainting all the adult citizens of North Carolina with the classroom needs of our increasing student enrollment.

"We know that these classrooms are going to have to be built, either through a statewide effort such as this or through local bond elections.

"That is, we are going to have to build these classrooms if North Carolinians keep on having children and want those children to have adequate educational opportunities."

A state steering committee will be named to help provide information and printed materials for each of the counties and each of the school districts of North Carolina.

The $100 million school bond issue was overwhelmingly approved by both the State House Representatives and the State Senate during the 1963 session of the General Assembly.

Miss Kate Harris Is Married To Charles Trammel Jr.

Miss Kate Alexander Harris and Charles Trammel Jr. exchanged marriage vows Saturday, Sept. 12, at 8 p. m. in First Methodist Church in Elkin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Freeland Harris of Elkin. She is a graduate of Salem Academy and of Converse College, in Spartanburg, S. C. where she majored in psychology. The bridegroom, son of the Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Trammel of Elkin, formerly of Burnsville is a graduate of Wake Forest College and studied at the School of Savings and Loan at the University of Indiana in Bloomington, Ind. He is president of District 3, N. C. Savings and Loan League and vice president and secretary-treasurer of Elkin-Jonesville Savings and Loan Association.

The Rev. Mr. Trammel who retired in May as pastor of Burnsville First Baptist Church, conducted the ceremony assisted by the Rev. Courtney E. Ross.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was attired in an ivory silk peau de saie gown, a lace mantilla and carried a bouquet of gardenias and ivy.

Miss Mary Wilson Coker of Franklin, Va., was maid of honor and Mrs. Richard Chatham Mayberry of Maitland, Fla., was matron of honor. Mrs. Edwin Freeland Harris Jr., of Raleigh, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmaid.

issue $175,000 of bonds to pay its share of the cost of the sewage plant.

Burnsville has been offered a Federal grant of $205,030, estimated to cover 58 per cent of the cost of the new plant. The town board has accepted this grant, although acceptance is contingent upon the voters authorizing the town to pay its share of the cost through the sale of bonds.

The polls will be open at the town hall from 6:30 A. M. until 6:30 P. M. All Burnsville citizens already registered in the town are eligible to vote.

The Federal grant was made to Burnsville under the Accelerated Public Works Program, which provides aid toward building public works in depressed areas throughout the country. The size of this grant far exceeds what might have been obtained under other Federal programs designed to help municipalities end stream pollution.

According to Mayor Bob Helme the Town Board is convinced that this is an exceptional opportunity for the town—one it cannot afford to miss. Under North Carolina law it is clear that the town must provide sewage treatment in the near future; hence this large grant is in the nature of a "life saver" for the town, and he is confident the voters will vote "yes".

As to the town's ability to carry the financial load of the bond issue—interest payments and repayment of principal—Helme is confident that it will not constitute an oppressive burden. The Town's financial position has improved greatly in the past few years. The Town's debt has been reduced by more than $50,000 in the past three years, and now stands at $142,000. With the sewage bonds added, the total will still remain a bearable amount.

But in any event, as Helme points out, the Town has been ordered by the State authorities to build its sewage plant, and this really leaves no alternative.
