Number Three

CASH AWARDS TO BE PRESENTED IN HORTICULTURAL CROPS CONTEST

Cash awards totaling $175.00 will be presented this year to the winners of the Western North Carolina Horticultural Crops Contest, according to William A. V. Cecil, Chairman of the Horticultural Crops Commission of the Asheville Agricultural Development Council.

Participation in the contest is open to all 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America members in the 18 western counties composing the Agricultural Council. Purpose is to encourage interest among the youth of the area in growing horticultural crops and to recognize those with the most outstanding projects during 1965.

The contest is being sponsored by the Horticultural Crops Commission in cooperation with the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service and Vocational Agriculture teachers. First prize is $65; second, $35; third, $25 and five honorable mention awards of $10 each. These are being provided by Asheville Floral Company; Gerber Products Company; Biltmore Estate and 3-D Farms of Fletcher.

Eligible projects are vegetable crops, fruits, small fruits and ornamentals, including Christmas trees and shrubbery. There is no limit on the number of entries per county. However, the first place winner of the previous year's contest is not eligible to win first place for one year.

Entries from each county must be nominated by the 4-H Club agent or vocational agriculture teacher. Report books are to be submitted to the Asheville Agricultural Development Council, City Building, Asheville by November 15.

Judging of the contest will be based on six factors. These include records, production practices, marketing practices, project efficiency, practicality of project and narrative report.

E. Y. DEFEATS CANE RIVER IN THIRD STRAIGHT WIN

By: Gary Blankenship

Fullback Bob Anderson lead East Yancey to their third straight win Friday night as East Yancey defeated Cane River 22-6. Left halfback Ronnie Robinson started the scoring for E. Y. when he caught a 22 yard pass, thrown by quarter back Mike Young, and went into the end zone for a touchdown. Robinson then kicked the extra point for E. Y. to give them a 7-0 lead.

Cane River scored minutes later when fullback Jerry Byrd ran across from the 8 to make the score 7-6, still in favor of E. Y.

In the 2nd quarter Anderson scored his first by charging across from the 8 yard line. He repeated in the 3rd by fighting his way from the 10 to score, and then Robinson kicked the extra point.

The score was 20-6 in the 4th when East Yancey downed Cane River behind the Cane River goal line for a touchback and the final two points.

Unmentioned heroes who were outstanding in setting up touchdowns and in defensive play were Ed Bennett, Bill Thacker, Ronnie Webb, and Charles Hamby.

new fall creations and there will be a hat to fit every ladies taste and to go with every ladies fall wardrobe, according to members of the Club. All hats will be sold at $3.98 plus tax.

The Club held a spring hat sale this year and the hats were lovely and all the ladies in town and vicinity were well pleased with their purchases, according to reports.

Members of the club will be in charge of the sale.

DANIEL BOONE

INJURED IN SHOP HERE

Daniel Boone was seriously injured in his iron working shop here last Wednesday about 2:30 p. m. when a piece of metal was pulled out of his hand by a buff wheel. The metal struck him on the right side of the face causing lacerations and broken bones from the forehead to the chin.

Mr. Boone, well known throughout the country for his artistic iron work, was taken to Yancey Hospital and then moved to Memorial Mission Hospital in Asheville on the same day of the accident. His condition is reported to be improved at this time.

Ernst & Brigitta Schwintzer Named Peace Corps Volunteers

Ernst P. Schwintzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Schwintzer, Rt. 5, Burnsville, N. C., has been named a Peace Corps Volunteer, having completed 10 weeks of training at San Jose State College, San Jose, Calif., and is now on leave at home prior to a September 6 departure for the Philippines.

This group of Volunteers will both expand Peace Corps teaching efforts in the Philippines, and replace Volunteers who have completed their two years service. With their arrival, some 550 Peace Corps teachers will be working in elementary, secondary and normal schools throughout the islands. As "co-teachers," the Volunteers will work along side Philipino teachers, refining teaching methods and math, science and English curriculums. The co-teacher system enables the Volunteer and his Philipino counterpart to make improvements by continually evaluating each other's work.

During training, the Volunteers studied Philipino, the official dialect of the Philippines. They also were trained in new math, inductive science, and English teaching. They practiced their teaching in schools near the training site.

Brigitta Schwintzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schwintzer, has been named a Peace Corps Volunteer, having completed eight weeks of training at the University of Missouri, and is now on leave at home prior to a mid-September departure for Bolivia.

The new Volunteers will participate in a rural community development program, supplementing Peace Corps community development efforts in the South American country. The job of a community development worker evolves from the needs of his community. He helps the people collectively define their problems and work together toward a solution.

There are presently more than 275 Peace Corps Volunteers in Bolivia, working in university education, public health, agriculture and rural community development.

During training the Volunteers learned Spanish and studied the principles and practices of community development. They also studied the culture and history of Bolivia and reviewed United States history and world affairs. An additional month of training will be provided for the new Volunteers upon arrival in Bolivia.

The departing Volunteers join the 10,000 other Peace Corps Volunteers now working in 46 nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America. Despite these numbers, many Volunteers are needed. Persons interested in starting a two-year Peace Corps assignment this fall should complete and submit a Peace Corps application as soon as possible and take the Peace Corps Placement Test, which is given throughout the country the second Saturday of each month. All pertinent information can be obtained at post offices or by writing the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. 20525.

FIRE AT LOCAL SERVICE STATION

Fire broke out with an explosion early Tuesday morning at an Independent gas station in East Burnsville. The station, located next to L'l Smoky Drive-in, is operated by Hubert Freeman.

The explosion and fire occurred, according to Freeman, while a tank truck unloaded gas into the station tanks. Fumes from a vent pipe in the rear of the building became ignited when a compressor came on. A spark from the electric motor ignited the gas fumes from the vent.

The fire was stopped by the tank truck driver who had an extinguisher on the truck.

Damage was light. A crack was made all around the masonry building and bottles on the inside were broken, however no windows were damaged from the explosion. The drive-in adjoining the station property, and only a few yards away, lost some light tubes from the explosion jar.
