

In Christ Jesus

By: Father Robert Valenza

Sometime ago Broadway audiences have been treated to a sumptuous serving of human anguish and tortured self-analysis in the form of Arthur Miller's latest play, AFTER THE FALL.

One after another, fantasies of the past pop into the spotlight of the toment-ed hero's mind, as he struggles to discover the real meaning of life, love, and truth.

In AFTER THE FALL, playwright Miller shows penetrating insight into the everyday anguish of humanity as each of hero Quentin's loves fades to boredom and grows into hatred. The pattern throughout the play is evident; it is only the significance of the pattern that remains a mystery, both in the play and in the society which inspired it.

Divorce statistics in our country provide adequate testimony to the fact that Miller's AFTER THE FALL pattern is all too much a part of real life. And yet, we can't help feeling that the pattern is all wrong, that somehow the enthusiastic young lovers who pledged themselves to each other and failed, could have stayed enthusiastically together if they had REALLY understood the meaning of life, love, and truth.

BUT THE COMPLEX, AND ANGUISH-FILLED TRUTH ABOUT REAL LIFE IS THAT THE LOVE WHICH EVERY HUMAN BEING DESPERATELY NEEDS BOTH TO GIVE AND TO RECEIVE, IS ARRIVED AT ONLY BY A WILLINGNESS TO SUFFER. TO SUFFER FIRST OF ALL THE HUMILIATION OF TEARING AWAY THE MASK OF PRETENSE WHICH MOST OF US FASHION IN ORDER TO WARD OFF THE INSENSIBILITY AND LACK OF LOVE IN OTHERS; AND SECONDLY, TO SUFFER THE EXHAUSTION WHICH NECESSARILY RESULTS FROM THE CONTINUOUS EFFORT TO GIVE LOVE, SYMPATHY, AND UNDERSTANDING, NOT ONLY WHEN WE FEEL THESE SENTIMENTS, BUT WHENEVER THEY ARE NEEDED BY ANOTHER.

Life, as it's Creator intended it, is a school in which we are to learn to love selflessly, and marriage is the usual method of learning.

Marriages fail, as a rule, not because one of the parties is an inhuman monster, but because neither has been willing to submit to the suffering demanded by love. Each has retained his mask of individualism which forms a barrier between himself and the other, and in a hellish determination to retain their "dignity," both remain isolated, empty shells—caricatures of human persons.

Many years ago, in a society vastly different from our own, Infinite wisdom emptied Himself and became man because of His love for men. He gave us His formula for successful living, and loving, when He said, "Love one another as I have loved you." In spite of the centuries that have passed and the so-called sophistication of our society, these words still contain the solution to the anguish of man. God grant that both as individuals and as a society, we may learn the meaning of these words and live it.
