

Library Has Selection Of New Books

By: Ashton Chapman
THE UNTOLD STORY OF QUMRAN by John C. Trevor. The adventure and intrigue which followed the discovery of the most valuable archaeological documents of our time, by the first American to see, examine and photograph the Dead Sea scrolls.

SILVERSMITHING AND ART METAL, by Murray Bovin. Examines with the aid of pictures and diagrams contemporary methods of hand forming silver, copper and related metals into useful and decorative objects.

SWORD OF HONOR. This novel by David Beaty is as modern as today's newspaper, but the romance is the old story of two men and a girl. Most of the action takes place high above the earth as Benson and Miller contend for love and honor.

THEODORE DREISER. Combining biography with critical analysis, Philip L. Gerber portrays the full range of this controversial novelist's career, his humble beginnings to best-sellerdom, to the final desperate attempt to complete his last works.

BRIEF FLOWER. Dorothy Evelyn Smith has taken a single plot and a frankly sentimental one and turned it into a truly meaningful story of a sensitive girl's coming of age. A charming story, rich in Yorkshire atmosphere for which Miss Smith is famous.

READ WITH ME. A personal anthology of memorable reading, selected and introduced by Thomas B. Costain. Some 30 stories by many of the leading and most popular authors of our time.

WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS. This work by Rudolf and Clara Kirk is both a biography and critical appraisal of the writer who, in the golden era before 1914, was considered our outstanding American author.

THE STRODE VENTURER by Hammond Innes is largely set in the Maldives, those little-known coral atolls that stretch south from Caylon 500 miles into Indian Ocean. Here on the Equator a seafaring people, desperate for independence and ready to make the great leap into the 20th Century prepare for an exodus to a new island which has sprung out of the sea and is rich in mineral deposits.

ANY PLACE BUT HERE by Arna Bentemps and Jack

Conroy. A completely revised and expanded version of THEY SEEK A CITY, with new chapters on Marcus Harvey, the Black Muslims, Malcolm X, and Detroit, Chicago, and Watts.

THORNTON WILDER, by Rex Burbank, provides, for the first time, a comprehensive interpretation and assessment of Wilder's accomplishments. He has been one of the most widely acclaimed, as well as the most neglected, American authors of our time.

JAMES A. MICHENER by A. Grove Day. Almost no critical attention has been given Michener, whose words have entertained millions of readers around the world. Dr. Day deals comprehensively with the question: What is the "secret" of Michener's broad, sustained popularity?

THE MULE ON A MINARET. Alex Waugh's first novel in six years is an engrossing tale of wartime passion, intrigue and espionage. Its title is based on the old Arabian proverb: "A man who takes his mule to the top of a minaret must bring it down himself."

NATIONALISM AND IDEOLOGY by Barbara Ward. The nation state has proved to be the master institution of the world, yet it is no longer appropriate as a sole center of loyalty in a global society made one by science and technology. But what can take its place? This book looks to alternative methods of world order.

BYGONES: The Recollections of Louis Untermeyer. At the age of 80, Louis Untermeyer, poet, anthologist, aspiring composer, manufacturing jeweler, part-time journalist, full-time editor, lecturer, teacher, radio commentator, TV panelist, Consultant in Poetry at the Library of Congress, looks back on an eventful history.
