

Contestants For Classroom Kwiz Urged To Make Booking

Charles Lineberger, Program Director for WCYB-TV, Bristol urges all prospective summer contestants for Channel 5's Classroom Kwiz and Kiddie Kollege to contact the station now for booking. He particularly urges those viewers from the Burnsville, North Carolina area, who might be faced with transportation problems to Bristol during inclement weather, to make arrangements as soon as possible for appearance during the 1967 summer season.

"One of the biggest problems in local participation shows," he said, "is booking. Because the programs must be booked months ahead of schedule, many groups with transportation difficulty are left out, simply because they have not made application early enough to schedule an appearance at a convenient date for their group."

Kiddie Kollege television Wednesday evenings, is made up of third-graders, while Monday evenings Classroom Kwiz consists of high school students. Each week a new three-member team of challengers appears against the previous week's winners to compete for top honors during three rounds of questions and answers. High-scoring team receives the $25 top prize and an invitation to repeat performance the following week. A $10 check goes to the losing team.

Requests for appearance should be mailed to the proper show at the WCYB-TV Studios, P. O. Box 1009, Bristol, Virginia.

Raleigh Report

By: Ernest Messer

The report of the Courts Commission to the 1967 General Assembly recommends that the power to select jurors be taken from the County Commissioners and given to a three man jury commission.

One member of the commission will be selected by the County Commissioners, one by the Clerk of Court, and the third by the resident Superior Court Judge.

The Jury Commission is to be paid according to a pay schedule set up by the County Commissioners.

(It is interesting that this recommended system is in many respects similar to the one now in operation in Madison County.)

If the recommendations of the Courts Commission are adopted, many persons now exempt from jury duty will be required to serve. In fact, the report recommends that persons not be exempted by occupational classifications — such as doctors, firemen, millers and etc., but that only individuals be considered as they are required to report to duty.

It is possible that the General Assembly may still retain some of these exempt classifications.

The legalization of "Brown Baggie" is not proceeding as rapidly as some people had prophesied prior to the convening of the General Assembly. There is much talk, however, of impending drives for either "Brown Baggie" or liquor by the drink, or both.

The time is not far off when there will be a flurry of liquor bills introduced. When this happens, the activity here in Raleigh will be considerably intensified.

It seems now that the move to require school boards to be elected by popular vote is not going to get off the ground.

The Appropriations Committee is now conducting hearings on the budget requests that were not approved by the Advisory Budget Commission. Approximately one-half billion dollars would be necessary to grant all the additional requests.

A group of legislators is working to "up" the Governor's request for teacher's salaries. It is difficult to determine at this time whether this effort will be successful. There is still considerable sentiment here in the General Assembly to let the Governor's recommendations stand — or, at least, not to make any major changes in them.

Our bill to exempt children from having to buy a trout stamp — it appears now — will pass without opposition. The Wildlife Commission has agreed to close some areas to doe hunting this year. These are items about which Western Wildlife Clubs have been concerned for some time.

Taylor Will Vote To Expel Powell

WASHINGTON — "I will not vote to seat Adam Clayton Powell. If he is seated, I will vote to expel him," Eleventh District Rep. Roy A. Taylor declared Friday.

The Congressman made the promise following release of a committee report recommending that Powell be seated, but censured, stripped of all seniority and docked enough pay to cover misused government funds.

Congressman Taylor also said: "It is my opinion that sterner disciplinary measures are needed than those recommended by the House investigating committee."

"I have joined with some 50 other House members in introducing a bill to create an ethics committee designed to establish and enforce reasonable ethical standards of conduct for all congressmen. Such action should not be necessary, but unfortunately, it appears that it is."

"Others of us in the House should be subject to the same discipline imposed on Congressman Powell."

"I am glad to report that no member of my family or relative has ever been on my office payroll or, to my knowledge, on any federal payroll since I came to Congress. In order to prevent any conflict of interest and to devote my full time to congressional duties, I ceased all law practice upon being elected to Congress."

"Most congressmen have nothing to hide, but the image of Congress is being damaged by the few who cheat and misuse governmental funds. It is important and imperative that public officials justify the people's confidence and that the integrity of Congress be reestablished."
