Bloodmobile Here March 23

The Bloodmobile is scheduled to visit Yancey County Thursday, March 23. This is the third of four visits to the County during the year and is a part of the Red Cross Program.

Dr. E. R. Ohle, will be the attending physician, Miss Wanda Edwards, RN, will be the nurse and the Gray Lahies will handle the donor.

The conteen will be sponsored by the women of the West Burnsville Baptist Church.

The Agriculture Workers Council is sponsor for this visit. Forest ranger, Helton Carmichael, is chairman.

Blood Program Chairman, E. L. Dillingham said that the yearly quota for Yancey County was 440 units. The August 16 and November 22 visits provided 150 units. This leaves a difference to date of 70 units. The quota for this visit is another 110 pints.

Dillingham quoted Lloyd Biggerstaff, Chairman of the Regional Blood Program, as saying "The Yancey County Chapter is not carrying its fair share if the load."

Everyone of our 14,000 population should make some effort to assist the volunteer in meeting the quota for this County. This is the least we can do to aid our boys in Vietnam and those who need blood but for reasons beyond their control are not able to give.

When Glen Raven began operations in Yancey County in 1948 it had only 224 looms in place. Since 1955, 124 of the original looms have been replaced and others added, so that now there are over 542 modern looms in operation.

The plant turns out a half million yards of cloth per week—cloth for sports, ski clothes, jackets, pants, football uniforms, swimwear, etc., are among the products; also sail cloth for boats; interlinings and interfacings for wash and wear clothes; uniform cloth for nurses, waitresses, and waiters; casement cloth for drapes and curtains; all types of wearing apparel, such as material for men's slacks, women's blouses, children's play clothes, and shoe cloth, as well as many types of industrial fabrics.

Over 200 people are employed in the three shift operation. The plant operates on a six-day basis. A five day week has been operated on rare occasions, usually in recognition of some special event.

Friday, May 20th, 1966 the plant had "Open House", at which time some 2000 people had the privilege of learning "what made the wheels go round", and enjoyed the hospitality of the Glen Raven personnel.

Roger Franklin starred in the role of the King; Judith Hopson starred as the English school teacher who comes to Siam to instruct the King's many wives and children.

In his review of the play, Jim McAllister of the GREENSBORO DAILY NEWS, states, "The best singing voice, I think, belongs to Amelia Penland, who plays the part of Tumtin, a girl who is sent to the King of Siam by the Prince of Burma as a gift. But Tumtin is in love with another and in the end she and her lover die." Mr. McAllister went on to say, a duet of "We Kiss in a Shadow" by Miss Penland and the lover, played by Ken Killbrow is one of the highlights of
