

Entrance to Booneville where the young and old may take a ride on the Booneville steam locomotive, or inspect the beautiful wrought iron work by Daniel Boone, or the many antiques in Boone's Museum.

Williamsburg, as a great deal of the wrought iron there came from his forge. There is a great demand for his work from residents of Burnsville and from tourists visiting Burnsville. In the small museum adjoining his shop may be found beautiful pieces of iron work, such as wrought iron window grills, doors, andirons, miniature anvils, and a complete set of pre-Revolutionary cookware, as well as unique pieces picked up throughout the country, and as far away as Spain and Mexico.

We assure you that a trip to the Daniel Boone Museum, as well as a ride on his miniature train, will be well worth your time, tourists and natives, both young and old.

Boone's time. The engine is capable of pulling 4 cars, with a capacity of 13 passengers. "Railroading" is not Mr. Boone's only talent. He is a master craftsman when it comes to working with metal. Samples of his work may be found in

The eight-driver locomotive pauses on the platform track at the station, its huge pistons waiting for the steam when the throttle is pulled by the engineer. It looks as if it could be on Union Pacific or New York Central lines but it isn't. It is a miniature locomotive built in the shop of Daniel Boone. And it is waiting at the station for a gang of eager children to enter the cars behind.

Booneville Railroad To Begin Run Sunday

The Burnsville Railroad will start running Sunday afternoon, the 23rd, at 1:00 p. m. to 7:00 p. m.

To the unenlightened, let me hasten to inform you that Burnsville has not suddenly acquired a railroad (with apologies to the Yancey Railroad). The railroad we refer to is one made and operated by Daniel Boone. The little train rambles over 700 feet of track through "Mountaineer Village". The engine is an exact model of Union Pacific 484 Baldwin engine.

Daniel Boone, a direct descendant of the family of the famed pioneer and trail blazer, Daniel the First, worked on the model engine for two and one-half years — and the completed train, track and village has taken about ten years of Mr. Boone's time. The engine is capable of pulling 4 cars, with a capacity of 13 passengers.

"Railroading" is not Mr. Boone's only talent. He is a master craftsman when it comes to working with metal. Samples of his work may be found in

French Institute At ASTC Receives Highest Rating

BOONE — An evaluation of the NDEA's French Language Institute held throughout the nation last summer reveals that the Institute held at Appalachian State Teachers College received a higher over-all ranking than any of the other 18 participating institutes.

The intensive six-week foreign language study attracted 52 students to ASTC and was the only one of its kind in the Southeast.

Nora Cauline Howell, 27, a French teacher at Appalachian has been selected as one of 20

French teachers in the U. S. for special study in France this summer.

The study will be part of a New York University NDEA Joint United States-European Institute.

Miss Howell, a native of Norwood in Stanley County, is in her first year of college teaching. She teaches intermediate French, French culture and civilization, conversation, advanced grammar, 20th century literature and foreign language methods.
