Sunday, Sept. 17, is State Missions Day in N. C. On this day a special offering for the various causes of State Missions will be taken. A special filmstrip entitled "An Open Door to Opportunity" was shown during the evening worship service on Sept. 10.

The R.A.'s will meet at the church on Monday night, the 18, at 7:00. All boys between the ages of 9 and 11 are expected to be present.

Mr. Dover Works Toward High School Equivalency bigger job and more responsibility, he found he needed more knowledge. To get this needed knowledge where else would he go but back to school.

In January he enrolled in the Adult Basic Education classes at Burnsville Elementary School. Although he only went to the 5th grade in school he had, through the years, become a self-educated man. Therefore, instead of beginning at 6th grade level, Mr. Dover was placed in higher level books. Now he is in refresher books and working toward his high school equivalency.

His teacher says, "Mr. Dover is an eager student and it is very meaningful to me to teach him."

Mr. Dover says, "I wouldn't take anything for the time I've spent in school. I'm going all the way."

According to Mr. Neal Dover a person never gets too old to learn. He knows this is true. How? Let's go back a few years in Mr. Dover's life. Several years ago he began work on the railroad as a track man. Now approximately 37 years later he is an engineer. However, with a

Mr. Dover is a native of Mitchell County but has lived in Yancey County for many years, has helped raise five children and to many people is no stranger.
