Program To Train Urban Planners Needed

RALEIGH — The third program to train urban planners urgently needed in North Carolina has been announced by the Division of Community Planning. The six month program, which will extend from July 1 to December 31, 1968, has been prepared for those with no previous training in urban planning. Purpose of the program is to train staff personnel for the Division.

The course consists of classroom instruction, supervised research and project work, with emphasis throughout on the practical aspects of planning. Classes will be conducted by members of the Training and Research Section of the Division and by approximately fifty guest instructors obtained from state agencies, the Institute of Government, consultants, and from North Carolina cities and counties.

According to George Monaghan, Director of the Division, the need for this type of training has been created by the increasing shift from a rural to a more urban way of life in North Carolina. This trend has in turn created a demand for planners which is not being met. For this reason, training of planners is a definite need in North Carolina for both the metropolitan centers and the smaller cities.

Participants of the program will be offered a beginning salary of $6,408. Regular six-month increments thereafter will be as follows:

After 6 months	$6,798
After 12 months	$7,044
After 18 months	$7,380
After 24 months	$8,520

The program is open to North Carolinians who have bachelor's degrees in a wide range of fields which contribute to an understanding of urban problems. For additional information about the program, write to Emil S. Breckling, Division of Community Planning, N. C. Department of Conservation and Development, P. O. Box 2719, Raleigh, North Carolina.

March 27 marked the final day of another successful upholstery class. This class was held at Peterson Branch with 17 participants. But what made the class successful? Well, people enjoying themselves and covering 30 pieces of furniture. Yes, with lots of work and cooperation much can be done. Class sponsored by W. A. M. Y. and Marion McDowell Technical Institute.
