SCENES FROM CANE RIVER HIGH SCHOOL SCIENCE FAIR

One of the most visited exhibits of the Cane River Science Fair was the one with the batteries, wheels and lights, and by students.

Discussion for a probable future A-frame mountain cabin with a green valley falling off somewhere by a tinkling stream, below. This A-frame, built in the Cane River H. S. shop, was only for display.

YANCEY YOUTH TO COMPETE IN MTN. YOUTH JAMBOREE

The 20th. annual Hubert Hayes Mountain Youth Jamboree got underway at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, April 24 in the City Auditorium in Asheville. The event will run through Saturday night, April 27.

Sponsored by the Asheville Jaycees, the Jamboree brings together the best mountain folk singing and picking talent that can be found in the mountains of Appalachia. Mrs. Hubert Hayes, the Jamboree's producer-director, personally auditions each entrant.

The event, founded in 1948 by Hubert Hayes, has been directed by Mrs. Hayes since his death in 1964.

This year's participants from Yancey County include Philip Deyton of Green Mountain who will play a century-old Jew's harp once owned by David Gortney, a pioneer settler of this county. Ten-year-old Phillip, who is a fifth grader at Micaville Elementary School, is also a member of the Micaville Cloggers Square Dance Team, which will also perform at the Jamboree.

The Western Square Dance Team of the South Toe Elementary School composed of Carolyn Miller, Kathy Griffin, Sylvia Ballew, Debbie Hoover, Kim Westall, Carol Ray, Marsha Gurley, Emile Huskins, Dennis Huskins, Mike Loftis, Rocky Huskins, Landon Burgan, Ronnie Mace, Jerry Westall, Charles Robinson and Dennis Grndstaff will perform on Friday night.

Also from the South Toe Elementary School will be several singing groups. Lyndon Burgin and Mike Loftis, Lyndon playing the guitar, performed Wednesday night. Jane Robinson, Burl Huskins, Daryle Huskins and Mack Vess will sing on Friday night. Barbara and Jeannie Deyton will sing on Friday night; Donna Kates will also sing on Friday night; Wanda and Linda Hollifield will sing on Friday night and Kathy Griffin sang on Wednesday night. All these boys and girls are students at South Toe Elementary School with the exception of Linda Hollifield who

Producers Market Bldg. To Be Completed By Mid-July

Directors and officers of Yancey County Producers Association, along with other interested citizens, met last Wednesday night to discuss plans for building.

The group heard Ray Ritchie, engineering consultant for the association, discuss building plans. The engineer at one time was engineer with the N. C. Agriculture Department.

Building plans are complete and bids will be taken soon for the prefabricated building according to reports. Grading on the site will begin soon, and plans are for the building to be completed by mid-July.

Although plans by the Association are for marketing different farm products, only tomatoes will be handled through the market this season.

Association president John Powers and local manager for the plant, Yates Deyton, are on a trip to Florida to look for grading and other equipment for the plant.
