

Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding Day

The Christmas season just past was a double celebration for Mr. and Mrs. Quillen Miller of Erwin, Tennessee, and for their children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren too. December 22 was their Golden Wedding Day.

Christmas at the Miller house was not only white but golden, in honor of the day in 1919 when Ethel Leora Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Elliott of Jacks Creek, North Carolina, married Lee Quillen Miller, the son of Joseph Miller of Ramseytown, N.C.

While the Christmas snow fell outside, the Miller house was aglow with gifts of silver and golden ware and Christmas poinsettias. The scene was dominated by a majestic 4-tier Golden Wedding cake topped by an arch of golden wedding bells--baked and decorated by their daughter-in-law, Mae. Most important of all, the far flung Miller family had made the pilgrimage to Erwin from all over America.

Starting out their married life on a mountain farm in North Carolina, the Millers had reared seven children: Madge (Mrs. Bruce Phillips) of Erwin; Ford Miller, a civil service employee at the Naval Shipyard in Chesapeake, Va.; Lee Miller, manager of the Big Star Food Market in Hickory, N.C.; Sherril Miller of the Elmira, N.Y., Detective Bureau; Dan Miller, who monitors the teletypesetting machines at the New York Times; and Shirley (Mrs. Franklin Wilson) of Erwin.

Son-in-law Bruce Phillips works at the Casket Plant. Son-in-law Sgt. Franklin Wilson serves in the Air Force as a radio operator in the Phillipine Islands and shuttles to Vietnam when on duty. Ford and Sherril were unable to attend but all of their children were there, as were Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Ray of Erwin.

The Miller grandchildren are Ford's daughter, Mrs. Lee Copeland of Portsmouth, Va.; Lee's children Linda, Myra and Danny; Shirley's children Mark and Brian, and Sherril's children David and Jeff.

There are two great-grandchildren, Wayne and Cindi Copeland.

76-year old Quillen Miller insists that he has retired from fruit and vegetable farming. . . But as almost everybody knows he still tends his garden on 3 1/2 acres, and his pick-up truck parked near the Court House still offers some of the best apples in the state. Mrs. Miller, who is 2 years younger than her husband, still enjoys taking care of Quillen and the house, and does not even claim to be retired. The Quillens are members of the Free Will Baptist Church.
