Kore McWhirter Demonstrates Pottery Making On TV

Girl Scout TV Spot

The Pisgah Girl Scout Council has had a fifteen minute spot between cartoons and such for lessons in handicrafts on the Bill Norwood show on Channel 13 the last two Friday mornings.

Last week the time was given over to learning to use clay. Kore McWhirter of Celu was the guest teacher for this lesson. Besides being a full time potter, she is one of the leaders of Girl Scout Troop 19 of South Toe School and has been a Scout since she was 10 years old.

Kore explained the various processes as she modeled a rabbit and a mouse and showed Mr. Bill the work of some of her girls. Angie Robinson and Juanita and Marquita Harrison's wind chimes, pinch pots and coil pots were proudly shown off on the show.

Mrs. McWhirter reports that the experience, her first on TV, was a pleasant one and Mr. Bill a gracious and relaxing host.

Next Friday's lesson is in yarn crafts.

NC Student Statistics

Are North Carolina High Schools graduating more students than in years before? This and other pertinent questions are answered in a recent publication released by the State Department of Public Instruction and entitled "Follow-up Survey of North Carolina High School Graduates, 1969."

Of the 67,287 students graduating from North Carolina High Schools in 1969 (an increase of 3.9 percent over 1968), the percentage of those entering college increased to 40.98 percent. Only 38.47 percent entered college in 1968. In comparison to the State average, 9.0 percent of the 1969 graduates in Yancey county entered college.

Graduates who don't enter college proceed down a number of paths. Some 28 percent of the graduates enter the job market, a percentage second only to the number who attend college. 68.0 percent of Yancey County's graduates took a job after graduation.

A high percentage of 1969 graduates (16.68 percent) entered a trade school. Many female graduates entered business schools, nursing schools, stewardess schools, programing schools, and such. Male graduates entered trade courses such as those offered in the Community College System: welding, brick laying, telephony, etc. Some 13.0 percent of the 1969 graduates of Yancey enrolled in trade, business, or nursing schools.

The report was compiled by the Data Processing Division of the State Department of Public Instruction.
