In-Service Schools Increase Efficiency

T. A. Buchanan of Burnsville attended a 2-day course at the Buncombe County School Maintenance Shop in Asheville last week, which featured instructions on maintenance of all phases of the modern industrial type oil burners being used in the public schools of the state.

The course was planned and conducted by Cassie Denning, Director of the Division of Plant Operation, and D. T. O'Kelley, consulting engineer for the N. C. State Board of Education.

Mr. Fred H. Martin, Superintendent of Buncombe County Schools, Mr. C. D. Franklin, Maintenance Supervisor, and their staff hosted the conference. Approximately 100 people attended.

This is just one of many in-service schools being held by all divisions of the Department of Public Instruction and State Board of Education in order to continue an efficient and economical operation of the public schools, said Dr. Craig Phillips, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Note Of Thanks

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere and heartfelt appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their many acts of sympathy, kindness, and beautiful floral tributes in the recent bereavement and death of our beloved husband, father and brother, Sam Lee Proffitt.
