Susan Hensley

Voice Recital

Susan Hensley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Flay Hensley of Burnsville, gave a senior voice recital last Friday at Mars Hill College as part of her requirements for a music degree.

Her program included selections by Donizetti, Virgil Thompson, Duparc and Leonard Bernstein. She was accompanied by Michael Rickman of Asheville on the piano and organ.

Miss Hensley, a dean's list honor student, is a charter member of the campus chapter of Delta Omicron, an international honor fraternity for professional women musicians, which was formed here last spring.

4-H Clover Club News

The February meeting of the 4-H Clover Club featured a program by Miss Wanda Edwards, Yancey County Public Health Nurse, on teeth and dental health. Miss Edwards explained how various foods help make healthy teeth and explained how to brush properly to aid in tooth care.

Then on February 16, Miss Carole Pyle helped the members in a sewing workshop. The girls began the project, "The ABC's of Sewing" by covering sewing boxes with contact paper and starting on wrist pincushions. At the next workshop which followed the regular meeting March 9, the girls finished their pincushions and began making potholders.

An important objective was achieved when the club became officially chartered in January.

The club members all went skating on Friday, February 26. Some of the girls could already skate, three of them learned to skate, and some enjoyed watching, but all had a good time.
