Proposal By EY Students

By Robert Howard Gene Metcalf
 As you, the citizens of Burnsville and Yancey County, know, there is only one place of recreation here and that is the Community Building. The Community Building is owned by five or six different groups or organizations. All the schools should take up a collection to buy pool tables, ping pong tables, and other different things to put into the Community Building. Then when the schools have a dance or party, all we would have to do is put them back in a corner, or a designated area where nobody could bother them. So if the students in both high schools chipped in the money, maybe we could rent the Community Building for less than they are asking.

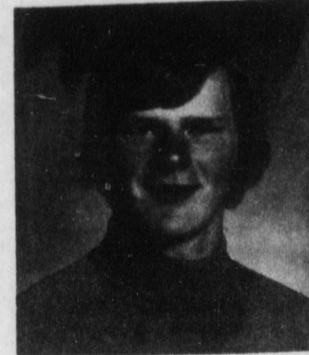

Students Honored For Drama Work

Six students from East Yancey have been chosen to receive national recognition for outstanding work and ability in dramatics. They were selected by the Drama Department to have their achievements recorded in the 1972 edition of "Who's Who In High School Dramatics." Charlie Boone, secretary of the Dramatics Club, was chosen for his work with one of the leading roles in "Quiet Please." Faron Silvers and Bryan Butner will receive recognition for their long hours of work on set construction and the stage lights. Faron is also doing a good job with his character in the play, "Quiet Please." Sherree Banks and Janice Hunter were chosen for their excellent portrayal of the old maid sisters in the second play being done by the Drama Department, "The Hangman's Loose." And, Sylvia Ballew was selected for her work with the difficult role of Catherine in "Quiet Please." We at East Yancey are very proud of these outstanding students and definitely look forward to seeing the results of their work when the plays are performed.

'Homemaker Of Tomorrow'

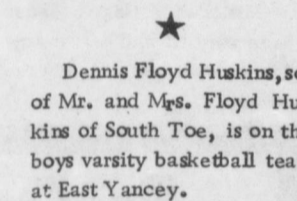

Janice Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hunter of Burnsville, has been named East Yancey's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972. She was chosen on the basis of her score in a written knowledge and attitude examination taken by senior girls on December 7, and will receive a specially designed award charm from General Mills, sponsor of the annual educational program. Additionally, she is now eligible for state and national honors.

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow, to be selected from all school winners in the state in judging which will center on performance in the December 7 test, will be awarded a $1,500 college scholarship. Her school will receive a complete set of Encyclopedia Britannica from Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc. A scholarship of $500 will go to the second-ranking girl in the state.

This April, the 51 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow representing every state and the District of Columbia--each accompanied by a faculty adviser--will be given an expense-paid educational tour of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D.C. Personal observation and interviews during the tour, added to the earlier state-level judging results, will culminate in the announcement of 1972 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow at the conclusion of the tour. Her scholarship will be $5,000 with those of three runners up raised to $4,000, $3,000, and $2,000.

Spotlight

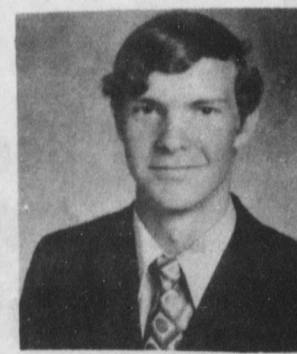

This week in the spotlight is Barry Johnson, son of Ima Jean Westall. His school activities are Pep Club and Christmas Escort, and also his favorite sports are basketball, football and baseball. He played on the J.V. Basketball team and the J.V. football team. His future plans are to go on to college and become a sports broadcaster.

East Yancey Student News

By Vicky Crowder
 Recently students have been spotted roaming around school with mysterious colors all over their bodies and carrying items such as ladders, hammers, and such. Never fear! It's not student rioters or even little people from Mars, it's only E.Y. Drama Club members preparing for the production of the plays "Quiet Please" and "Hangman's Loose." Yes, the plays are still going to be given. The Drama Club has been preparing for the production of these plays for some time now and preparations are now in their final stage. The Drama Club plans to stage their productions of these plays sometime in February, hopefully, though the exact date has not been set. Keep watching for posters announcing the date.

 This Thursday night, the Panthers will play host to the Yellow Jackets of Edneyville, and then travel to Ibbotson Central Friday night for the last ball game.

Clubs Attend Comic Opera

January 31 the Dramatic and Glee Clubs of East Yancey accompanied by their sponsors, Melissa Thomas and Katrina Hunter, traveled to the Owen Building Theater to see the classic 19th Century comic opera, "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

The play was given by the Mars Hill Music Department, Saturday, January 29 through Tuesday, February 1. Approximately 40 East Yancey club members attended the performance. All performances which were open to the public without charge, began at 8:00 p.m. except Sunday's which were 3 p.m. matinees. Otto Nicolai, writer of the opera used the main sections of Shakespeare's comedy of the same title. The forty some students who attended the play, were all set for a fair, not too exciting evening. However, they were surprised when it turned out to be not only interesting, but an immensely humorous play. The play was a sell-out and everyone enjoyed it. All the students definitely recommend that if the chance ever arises for you to see the play, do so. We are sure that you will thoroughly enjoy it.
