INTERIOR PAINTING
Give your home a new personality--easily, quickly and inexpensively--with the aid of eye-catching and mood-making colors available in paints today. Giving almost any room this color treatment from top to bottom--can be accomplished with a small expenditure of money. An even more important reason for painting is for protection of the wood or other surfaces.

--Repaint only when necessary. Too frequent repainting builds up an excessively thick film that is more sensitive to the deteriorating effects of moisture and use. Delay, when repainting is needed, can mean extra work and expense when you finally do paint. Old paint that blisters, cracks and peels will have to be removed before the new paint can be applied.

--Take time to do a good job when you paint. First, use good quality paint. It will give longer and better protection. Second, prepare the surface properly for painting. Even the best paint won't last on a poorly prepared surface. Third, apply the paint correctly. Improper application can be as damaging as a poorly prepared surface.

--Types of paints Paint is a solid pigment in a liquid vehicle. There are two types--oil and water emulsion. These terms also give us some information about what to use as a thinner and what to use for cleaning brushes.

Oil base paints: The vehicle of oil-base paint consists usually of linseed oil plus turpentine or mineral spirits as the thinner. Oil-base paints are used less today for inside painting. They may be used on most all surfaces except masonry. Oil base paints are made for both a primer coat and a finishing coat.

Water-emulsion paints: Water emulsion paints are new and easier to use. One type consists of fine particles of resin emulsified or held in suspension in water. Another type of water base paint has a vehicle consisting of a soluble linseed oil dissolved in water. This paint has the properties of both oil-base and water-base paints. The advantage of water emulsion paints include easier application and resistance to alkali and blistering. Also, they can be applied in humid weather and to damp surfaces. Brush and tool clean-up is simpler because it can be done with water.

Increased Twentyfold!
In the past hundred years, overall demand for energy of all kinds in the United States has increased twentyfold.

The Chicken Or The Egg?
The egg came before the chicken. Birds evolved from reptile stock that was laying eggs millions of years before the first prehistoric bird flew.

Just A Second Ago?
If Earth's total age, now estimated by geophysicists at about 4.5 billion years, is taken as a single 24-hour day, today's ocean basins are scarcely an hour old. By the same measure, the cave dwellers were hunting their prey less than a second ago; the past 500 years is but a hundredth of a second, and a 50-year working life is only one thousandth of a second.
