WAMY Helps In Energy Crisis

W.A.M.Y. Community Action, Inc., has recently programmed funds into a special project designed to aid low-income families in coping with the energy crisis.

The Community Action Agency, serving Watauga, Yancey, Avery, and Mitchell Counties, did not receive special funding but felt the project was worthy of diverting funds from other program areas.

Many of the homes of the low-income are not constructed for adequately withstanding severe winter weather. The agency staff felt that a shortage of fuel, plus sub-standard housing could create tremendous problems for many people during periods of severely cold weather.

With limited funds, the agency cannot hope to meet all the needs. To date, Yancey County staff has assisted 29 families in the Energy Crisis Project.

Insulation, weather-stripping, plastic sheeting for windows, caulking, linoleum, doors, etc., have been purchased to help winterize homes. Volunteer and staff labor have been utilized in installation of the materials.

W.A.M.Y. staff urges everyone to be aware of and use the measures for conserving energy. Lowered thermostats, reduced driving speeds, and similar techniques will, if practiced by everyone, result in a tremendous aggregate saving of energy.

Persons interested in further information concerning this project should call the W.A.M.Y. Office at 682-2610.
