talented senior citizen from Little Creek, has written a poem about "The Hotline":
As I sit here, in the cold, all alone
With nothing for company but my telephone,
My fire ain't burning like it should,
Because I'm about "plumb" out of wood.
Call the Hotline!

I woke up this morning, feeling real sick,
Like I needed to get to the doctor's office quick.
No time to waste on how to get that far.
Won't someone please bring a car?
Call the Hotline!
The mailman brought a bunch of mail today.

Won't someone stop passing my way?
I need these letters read to me
And answers written out for me, you see.
Call the Hotline!

My refrigerator is empty of fresh meat
And most other foods good to eat.
I wonder if someone passing a store would
Pick up some groceries to make meals good?
Call the Hotline!

I ain't able to wash this basket full of clothes,
Or go to the laundromat, goodness knows!!
Would somebody wash one load, spic and span
For a handicapped lonesome old man?
Call the Hotline!

The number ain't never hard to find,
6011 ain't hard to keep in mind.
From Monday through Friday, every single day,
Help is never any farther away
Than the Hotline.
